JFK Weighs Tax Cut Pleas

60 Reported Slain As Europeans, Moslems Fight In Heart Of Oran

Rooftop Gunfire On Celebrants Sets Off Battle

ORAN, Algeria (AP)—Moslems and Europeans fought with knives and guns in a bloody four-hour battle through the heart of Oran Thursday, casting a grim shadow over Algeria's new independence.

Sixty or more persons, mostly Moslems, were killed, unofficial reports said.

The battle developed without warning along lines familiar before the Moslem takeover of power from France this week. The expectation—still looming over independent Algeria—was that even bloodier battles will be fought between rival Moslems contending for power.

Almost 100 Wounded

Hospital workers said many Europeans brought in for treatment had knife wounds. The city's main hospital was reported abandoned by most of its European doctors and the remaining staff were ministering to the wounded, about 100, according to some reports.

There has been no official announcement. Since Algeria became independent two days ago, no known centralized authority has manifested itself in the city.

Moslems blamed the battle—the worst in Oran's recent history of bloodshed and violence—on hold-out terrorists of the secret army whose leaders had given up their campaign of murder and destruction to keep Algeria French.

Gunfire Panics Celebrants

The battle began at noon when gunfire started from rooftops and balconies of European apartment houses on thousands of screaming Moslems -dancing with joy in Place Foch, one of the city's main squares.

Within minutes, the square became empty, except for those killed or wounded.

Tough Moslem guerrillas of the Algerian liberation army moved in, firing volley after volley at anything that moved.

Late in the afternoon, armor-backed French troops left their barracks and joined the Moslem soldiers in efforts to bring about order.

Foy D. Kohler Named Soviet Ambassador

JFK Says U.S. Aim Is Avoid War With Russ, Stay Strong

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy picked a new ambassador to Moscow Thursday and said American policy is aimed at avoiding war with the Soviets while maintaining the strength of the non Communist world.

Kennedy named Foy D. Kohler, 54, a career diplomat and expert on Russia who currently is assistant secretary of state for European affairs, to succeed the veteran Llewellyn E. Thompson at the important Moscow post.

Voicing "my complete confidence" in Kohler at a news conference, Kennedy said the Russian-speaking diplomat "goes to the Soviet Union with a complete knowledge of government policy." He outlined U.S. policy this way:

"We continue to attempt to work for an adjustment of those major tensions which disturb the relationship between the United States and the Sovie Union and between the free world and the Communist world.

"In a whole variety of ways we are attempting to lessen the chance of conflict with the Soviet Union and maintain our own security and the peace of the free world."

Thompson is slated to return to Washington around the end of this month. He has been at Moscow for five years, longer than any envoy since U.S.-U.S.S.R. relations were established in 1933. He had sought reassignment from his arduous and confining duties.

The White House announcement Thursday that Kohler would replace Thompson did not specify what assignment lay in store for Thompson at the State Department. Nor did it say who would succeed Kohler in the assistant secretaryship.

A current round of speculation is that Thompson will serve as a senior adviser on East-West affairs, similar to the role now played by another former U.S. ambassador to Moscow, Charles E. Bohlen.

Kohler has been in charge of European affairs for the State Department since December 1959, and has been a leading strategist for the Western powers in the Berlin crisis.

Watch Kept On Business Barometers

Kennedy, At Least For Present, Plans To Defer Reduction

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy gave assurances Thursday that the rising clamor for quick tax reduction from both industry and labor is being "seriously considered" by the White House.

But the President made it clear he will not be rushed into altering his announced plan to send Congress a major tax reform and reduction bill which would be effective next Jan. 1.

Kennedy announced that business next week will get the eagerly awaited $1.25-billion liberalization of tax allowances for depreciation of machinery and factory, store and office equipment, and added:

"We are continuing, however, to watch the basic indicators of the economy. If we feel that the situation warrants a tax cut, then of course we will recommend it."

The tax issue was the first question popped at Kennedy when he finished reading a statement aimed at jogging Congress into favorable action on two high-priority administration measures — the $4.7 billion foreign aid bill, and health care for the aged.

Factors In Possible Decision

Newsmen came back to taxes again as the half-hour of questions and answers drew to a close. On what, Kennedy was asked, will the decision be based?

The President said the administration will keep close watch on the basic barometers of business health, none of which has been issued yet for June. Other factors will have a bearing, he said — whether Congress passes the tax credit for investment, the public works bill, and the standby anti-recession measures he has proposed.

The administration would prefer to stick to its present timetable, Kennedy emphasized, but he went on:

"I think the recommendations of the (United States) Chamber of Commerce—which is of course intimately in touch with the business community—and also the recommendations of the AFL-CIO should be very seriously considered by the executive, as it is by me."

C Of C Wants Broad Slash

The chamber last week proposed immediate across-the-board cuts in personal and corporate income tax rates, giving greatest relief to business firms and upper-income families. The AFL-CIO has been calling, with growing intensity, for tax relief concentrated in the low and middle income brackets to spur consumer demand.

The President's statements on his legislative program dealt with:

FOREIGN AID—The President said the foreign aid authorization measure, due for debate next week in the House, is "vital to our security" and essential to "the peace and security of the free world."

"This is a bipartisan bill, supported by my predecessors since 1945, and I hope we can get favorable action this year."

HEALTH CARE — Kennedy made an appeal for the compromise measure, worked out by Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., with help from five liberal Republicans to provide health care for the aged in the Social Security system.

As now framed, Kennedy said, it meets the objection that many older citizens are not covered by Social Security by providing help for them as well. It also provides for participation by private insurance companies like the Blue Cross organizations, he said.

Legislature's Recall Possible In Doctor Strike

REGINA, Sask. (AP) — Deputy Premier J. H. Brockelbank said Thursday the Saskatchewan Legislature might be called into special session to seek a solution to a five-day-old doctors' strike against the government's compulsory medical care plan. Emergency care meanwhile decreased.

Brockelbank told a news conference that if there "was satisfactory evidence that it—a special session—would do some positive good, it would receive favorable consideration" by the Provincial Cabinet. He indicated the government might propose amendments to the law which would allow doctors to practice outside the act.

However, Brockelbank said there has been no change in the government's determination to continue its health plan.

His announcement came as Dr. Sam Landa of the Canadian Medical Association said in Saskatoon that 36 of the 240 doctors who volunteered to provide medical service when the boycott began have quit. Dr. Landa, emergency coordinator of the Canadian Medical Association, said remaining personnel are spread "very thinly."

He said Regina is bracing itself for trouble, with an increase expected in the number of emergency surgery cases.

Big High Altitude A-Blast Set Today

HONOLULU (UPI) — United States ships and planes kept a close watch for unannounced visitors Thursday night as launchtime neared for another attempt to set off the biggest high altitude explosion of the current nuclear test series in the Pacific.

The explosion was scheduled for the Johnston Island area between 11 p.m. and 2:30 a.m. HST (5 a.m. to 8:30 a.m. EDT Friday.) It had been postponed for 24 hours by weather conditions which were reported improving Thursday. However possibilities of observation from Hawaii, 700 miles away, were dimmed by forecasts of clouds and rain along the island chain.

U.S. Bid To Lure Japan Industry Seen As Futile

TOKYO (AP) — The Kennedy administration has invited Japanese industry to expand onto American soil, but the prospect of any takers appears slim.

A ranking U.S. Embassy official confirmed Thursday that a suggestion that Japanese invest in building factories in the United States was forwarded several months ago to the Japanese Foreign Ministry. He said no response has yet been made.

The American official said the suggestion was contained in a "communication which called attention to the possibilities of attractive investment in the States."

The move is part of a broad campaign to lure investment capital from all the industrialized countries to the United States.

Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges last year set up an office devoted exclusively to attempting to attract foreign capital.

In the background was a persistent deficit in the U.S. balance of payments, which sees more money leave the United States each year than goes in.

If Europeans and the Japanese send over funds to build factories those investments would reduce the payments deficit.

Brochures made up by Wichita, Kan., and Wilmington, N.C., communities actively seeking new industry, were included because they were available here. The U.S. official mentioned Maine, New Jersey and West Coast areas as other potential sites for development.

The Foreign Ministry said the matter had to be studied by various ministries as well as business circles before a position is taken.

In Washington, an official said the idea was first broached to the Japanese during joint meetings in Tokyo last fall of members of the American and Japanese cabinets. The plan envisions the construction of plants that would manufacture Japanese products for sale in the Western Hemisphere.

Soblen Seeks British Haven

LONDON (AP)—Fugitive American spy Robert A. Soblen appealed to the British government Thursday to let him stay here, at least temporarily.

Prime Minister Harold Macmillan was asked in a telegram from Soblen's lawyer in Israel to hold up the injured spy's return to the United States.

The telegram, signed by S. Stein, said new legal moves are being made in Israel to permit Soblen's return to that country. Macmillan was asked to hold Soblen in London pending the outcome of these moves.

Soblen, 62, a psychiatrist under life sentence upon conviction in the United States of spying for the Soviet Union, is in West London's Hillingdon Hospital recovering from a suicide attempt. He stabbed himself in the stomach and slashed his wrists Sunday while being flown back to the United States from Israel.

Unemployment Edges Upward

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The national unemployment rate inched up slightly in June even after allowances for the annual influx of school age youngsters seeking summer jobs, the Labor Department reported Thursday.

It said employment increased by 1,336,000 to a record-high 69,539,000 last month while joblessness increased by 744,000 to 4,463,000.

The significant seasonally adjusted rate of unemployment, however, rose from 5.4 to 5.5 per cent of the labor force. The department said this was "virtually unchanged" from the May figure. But the increase dimmed Kennedy administration hopes for signs of a strengthened recovery.

The persistent high rate of joblessness — down only three tenths of one per cent since January — was sure to be cited by administration advisers who favor an immediate tax cut to spur the economy.

15 Reported Killed In Brazil Strike Riot

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—Fighting erupted near Rio de Janeiro on Thursday as a general strike over selection of a new government brought Brazil's business and commercial life to a standstill.

Fifteen persons were reported killed in the town of Duque de Caxias, 20 miles from Rio, when townspeople sacked stores for food and clashed with police.

The number killed was given by Mayor Adolfo Daci of Duque de Caxias. His figure could not be confirmed elsewhere immediately.

First army troops, stationed outside Rio de Janeiro, were sent to the town in an attempt to bring the disturbances to an end.

Freeman And Mundt In Angry Exchange

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate's week-old Billie Sol Estes investigation erupted into a political wrangle Thursday with Agriculture Secretary Orville L. Freeman and Republican Sen. Karl E. Mundt trading blunt remarks.

Mundt challenged Freeman to "put up or shut up" in regard to any "innuendo" of impropriety by the South Dakota senator in dealings with Estes or anyone else.

That was a reference to the Agriculture Department's recent survey of all correspondence with Mundt and the subcommittee's other GOP member, Sen. Carl Curtis of Nebraska.

Freeman promptly declared that Mundt had "made inflammatory statements" about the investigation.

He said the senator "prejudged it, read politics into it, before these hearings ever started." The Republican's statements, Freeman said, cast a reflection on the Agriculture Department itself.

The exchange took place as the Senate investigations subcommittee completed its three days of questioning of Freeman and began to push ahead with testimony from other witnesses.

Freeman set up the outburst when he testified that the department would do its best to recoup any losses incurred under Eisenhower administration's cotton programs, which recently were criticized by the comptroller general.

Mundt said Freeman had made a "gratuitous implication" that the law under which the cotton operations were carried on was approved by a GOP Congress. Freeman agreed that a Democratic Congress passed the law, but added "a Republican president signed it."

The real scrap began when Mundt advised Freeman of what he called a "chain reaction" by Democrats in South Dakota from the department's study of his correspondence and that of Curtis.

Earlier, Freeman testified that the FBI had spent $236,200 and used 452 special agents in investigating the tangled transactions of Estes, now bankrupt and under indictment of fraud charges.

In testifying about the FBI inquiry, Freeman declared — as he did during an earlier subcommittee appearance — that neither the FBI nor his department had revealed any wrongdoing by anyone in the deaprtment who had not already been fired.

French, Bonn Chiefs To Push Europe Union

PARIS (AP) — Three days of private talks by Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of West Germany and President Charles de Gaulle of France ended Thursday with agreement to work for early creation of a European political union.

Informed sources said the two leaders agreed to work for a summit meeting of leaders of European Common Market countries—France, West Germany, Luxembourg, Belgium, Holland and Italy. The meeting might be held in Rome in late September or early October, the informants said.

Adenauer and De Gaulle—for the first time meeting with their foreign ministers and other advisors—talked for almost three hours.

After the final session Adenauer and De Gaulle issued a communique reading in part: "President de Gaulle and Chancellor Adenauer think it desirable to have as soon as possible a meeting with their partners (in the Common Market) to conclude discussions on creation of a political union which would consolidate achievements in the economic field."

The communique added that it is hoped the current Common Market meeting in Brussels "would permit a solution to problems raised by the request for membership of Britain in the European communities with a view of reinforcing the construction of a united Europe."

Anslinger Quits; Aide Moves Up

WASHINGTON (AP)—Harry J. Anslinger, 70, U.S. commissioner of narcotics for 30 years, has resigned, saying he wished to retire.

Henry L. Giordano, 48, deputy commissioner of the Narcotics Bureau for almost four years, was picked by President Kennedy as the new chief.

The White House announced the changes Thursday and said no date had been fixed for Anslinger's leaving.

Anslinger, a native of Altoona, Pa., has headed the Narcotics Bureau since it was created by Congress in 1932.

He has survived change after change in presidential administrations and critic after critic. His insistence on stiffer penalties for narcotics violators has clashed with the theory of others that addiction should be treated as a disease.

Funds For Atom Weapon Locks Asked By Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy asked Congress on Thursday for $23.3 million to install remote-controlled electronic locks on nuclear weapons as added insurance against accidental firings and trigger-nervous commanders.

The White House gave no details, but the new, secret device is described authoritatively as an electromechanical system controlled by a radio signal to be sent from a command headquarters far from the actual missile site.

Present plans, it was understood, call for the device to be used first in the forward missile deployment area of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The official announcement said merely that Kennedy had requested the additional funds to procedure devices to prevent the possibility of unauthorized use.

Only the President can authorize the explosion of a nuclear device under U.S. control, either in combat or in tests. Kennedy's associates say that he, like his predecessors, is particularly concerned with the need for various safeguards to prevent any unauthorized use of nuclear weapons.

Similar concern has been expressed by many governments, not only the United States and its Allies but the Soviet bloc and neutralist nations as well. Officials here believe installation of the new device will help reassure these governments.

Churchill Apparently Suffers Mild Setback

LONDON (AP) —Sir Winston Churchill experienced some pulse irregularity Thursday and spent more time sleeping. But hospital authorities said they were not unduly concerned.

A medical bulletin issued at Middlesex Hospital left the impression the 87-year-old former prime minister suffered his first mild setback since he fractured his leg in Monte Carlo a week ago.

"Sir Winston is comfortable and has had a good night. There has been some irregularity of the pulse," it said.

Two Suspended In Probe Of Texas Rice Allotments

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department disclosed Thursday a month-old investigation of alleged illegal transfers of rice-planting allotments has brought the suspension of two department officials in Texas.

A team of department investigators and FBI agents now is checking books in Matagorda, Waller and Brazoria counties to determine whether there have been criminal violations, a department spokesman said.

The inquiry was touched off June 7, four days after the death of Carl E. Lively, Matagorda County manager for the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

As a result of findings so far, the spokesman said, David C. Stephens, manager of the ASCS committee for Brazoria County, and T. C. Thornhill, ASCS manager for Waller County, have been suspended from duty. No charges have been filed thus far.

The department said it called the FBI into the case June 8 after a woman clerk in the Matagorda County office told Lively's successor she had been offered money by Stephens to continue rice-allotment arrangements he had had with Lively.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman told newsmen: "Apparently there is some evidence of malfeasance by certain individuals in some Texas counties who improperly granted allotments on rice and were shown, in a preliminary investigation, to have received compensation for doing so."

Pope Urges World's Catholics Do Penance

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII, in an encyclical published Thursday, asked the Roman Catholic world to do penance to insure the success of the Vatican Ecumenical Council.

The 3,000-word letter carried last Sunday's date, the Feast of the Most Precious Blood. Pope John stressed throughout the encyclical the importance of an Ecumenical Council.

The council starting here Oct. 11 will bring together the Church's hierarchy, in the first such meeting in 92 years, to seek renewal of Catholicism in the modern world as a prelude for possible Christian unity.

Rooftop Gunfire On Celebrants Sets Off Battle

ORAN, Algeria (AP)—Moslems and Europeans fought with knives and guns in a bloody four-hour battle through the heart of Oran Thursday, casting a grim shadow over Algeria's new independence.

Sixty or more persons, mostly Moslems, were killed, unofficial reports said.

The battle developed without warning along lines familiar before the Moslem takeover of power from France this week. The expectation—still looming over independent Algeria—was that even bloodier battles will be fought between rival Moslems contending for power.

Almost 100 Wounded

Hospital workers said many Europeans brought in for treatment had knife wounds. The city's main hospital was reported abandoned by most of its European doctors and the remaining staff were ministering to the wounded, about 100, according to some reports.

There has been no official announcement. Since Algeria became independent two days ago, no known centralized authority has manifested itself in the city.

Moslems blamed the battle—the worst in Oran's recent history of bloodshed and violence—on hold-out terrorists of the secret army whose leaders had given up their campaign of murder and destruction to keep Algeria French.

Gunfire Panics Celebrants

The battle began at noon when gunfire started from rooftops and balconies of European apartment houses on thousands of screaming Moslems -dancing with joy in Place Foch, one of the city's main squares.

Within minutes, the square became empty, except for those killed or wounded.

Tough Moslem guerrillas of the Algerian liberation army moved in, firing volley after volley at anything that moved.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy picked a new ambassador to Moscow Thursday and said American policy is aimed at avoiding war with the Soviets while maintaining the strength of the non Communist world.

Kennedy named Foy D. Kohler, 54, a career diplomat and expert on Russia who currently is assistant secretary of state for European affairs, to succeed the veteran Llewellyn E. Thompson at the important Moscow post.

Voicing "my complete confidence" in Kohler at a news conference, Kennedy said the Russian-speaking diplomat "goes to the Soviet Union with a complete knowledge of government policy." He outlined U.S. policy this way:

"We continue to attempt to work for an adjustment of those major tensions which disturb the relationship between the United States and the Sovie Union and between the free world and the Communist world.

"In a whole variety of ways we are attempting to lessen the chance of conflict with the Soviet Union and maintain our own security and the peace of the free world."

Thompson is slated to return to Washington around the end of this month. He has been at Moscow for five years, longer than any envoy since U.S.-U.S.S.R. relations were established in 1933. He had sought reassignment from his arduous and confining duties.

The White House announcement Thursday that Kohler would replace Thompson did not specify what assignment lay in store for Thompson at the State Department. Nor did it say who would succeed Kohler in the assistant secretaryship.

A current round of speculation is that Thompson will serve as a senior adviser on East-West affairs, similar to the role now played by another former U.S. ambassador to Moscow, Charles E. Bohlen.

Kohler has been in charge of European affairs for the State Department since December 1959, and has been a leading strategist for the Western powers in the Berlin crisis.

Watch Kept On Business Barometers

Kennedy, At Least For Present, Plans To Defer Reduction

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy gave assurances Thursday that the rising clamor for quick tax reduction from both industry and labor is being "seriously considered" by the White House.

But the President made it clear he will not be rushed into altering his announced plan to send Congress a major tax reform and reduction bill which would be effective next Jan. 1.

Kennedy announced that business next week will get the eagerly awaited $1.25-billion liberalization of tax allowances for depreciation of machinery and factory, store and office equipment, and added:

"We are continuing, however, to watch the basic indicators of the economy. If we feel that the situation warrants a tax cut, then of course we will recommend it."

The tax issue was the first question popped at Kennedy when he finished reading a statement aimed at jogging Congress into favorable action on two high-priority administration measures — the $4.7 billion foreign aid bill, and health care for the aged.

Factors In Possible Decision

Newsmen came back to taxes again as the half-hour of questions and answers drew to a close. On what, Kennedy was asked, will the decision be based?

The President said the administration will keep close watch on the basic barometers of business health, none of which has been issued yet for June. Other factors will have a bearing, he said — whether Congress passes the tax credit for investment, the public works bill, and the standby anti-recession measures he has proposed.

The administration would prefer to stick to its present timetable, Kennedy emphasized, but he went on:

"I think the recommendations of the (United States) Chamber of Commerce—which is of course intimately in touch with the business community—and also the recommendations of the AFL-CIO should be very seriously considered by the executive, as it is by me."

C Of C Wants Broad Slash

The chamber last week proposed immediate across-the-board cuts in personal and corporate income tax rates, giving greatest relief to business firms and upper-income families. The AFL-CIO has been calling, with growing intensity, for tax relief concentrated in the low and middle income brackets to spur consumer demand.

The President's statements on his legislative program dealt with:

FOREIGN AID—The President said the foreign aid authorization measure, due for debate next week in the House, is "vital to our security" and essential to "the peace and security of the free world."

"This is a bipartisan bill, supported by my predecessors since 1945, and I hope we can get favorable action this year."

HEALTH CARE — Kennedy made an appeal for the compromise measure, worked out by Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., with help from five liberal Republicans to provide health care for the aged in the Social Security system.

As now framed, Kennedy said, it meets the objection that many older citizens are not covered by Social Security by providing help for them as well. It also provides for participation by private insurance companies like the Blue Cross organizations, he said.

A ranking U.S. Embassy official confirmed Thursday that a suggestion that Japanese invest in building factories in the United States was forwarded several months ago to the Japanese Foreign Ministry. He said no response has yet been made.

The American official said the suggestion was contained in a "communication which called attention to the possibilities of attractive investment in the States."

The move is part of a broad campaign to lure investment capital from all the industrialized countries to the United States.

Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges last year set up an office devoted exclusively to attempting to attract foreign capital.

In the background was a persistent deficit in the U.S. balance of payments, which sees more money leave the United States each year than goes in.

If Europeans and the Japanese send over funds to build factories those investments would reduce the payments deficit.

Brochures made up by Wichita, Kan., and Wilmington, N.C., communities actively seeking new industry, were included because they were available here. The U.S. official mentioned Maine, New Jersey and West Coast areas as other potential sites for development.

The Foreign Ministry said the matter had to be studied by various ministries as well as business circles before a position is taken.

In Washington, an official said the idea was first broached to the Japanese during joint meetings in Tokyo last fall of members of the American and Japanese cabinets. The plan envisions the construction of plants that would manufacture Japanese products for sale in the Western Hemisphere.

Unemployment Edges Upward

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The national unemployment rate inched up slightly in June even after allowances for the annual influx of school age youngsters seeking summer jobs, the Labor Department reported Thursday.

It said employment increased by 1,336,000 to a record-high 69,539,000 last month while joblessness increased by 744,000 to 4,463,000.

The significant seasonally adjusted rate of unemployment, however, rose from 5.4 to 5.5 per cent of the labor force. The department said this was "virtually unchanged" from the May figure. But the increase dimmed Kennedy administration hopes for signs of a strengthened recovery.

The persistent high rate of joblessness — down only three tenths of one per cent since January — was sure to be cited by administration advisers who favor an immediate tax cut to spur the economy.

Soblen Seeks British Haven

LONDON (AP)—Fugitive American spy Robert A. Soblen appealed to the British government Thursday to let him stay here, at least temporarily.

Prime Minister Harold Macmillan was asked in a telegram from Soblen's lawyer in Israel to hold up the injured spy's return to the United States.

The telegram, signed by S. Stein, said new legal moves are being made in Israel to permit Soblen's return to that country. Macmillan was asked to hold Soblen in London pending the outcome of these moves.

Soblen, 62, a psychiatrist under life sentence upon conviction in the United States of spying for the Soviet Union, is in West London's Hillingdon Hospital recovering from a suicide attempt. He stabbed himself in the stomach and slashed his wrists Sunday while being flown back to the United States from Israel.

Anslinger Quits; Aide Moves Up

WASHINGTON (AP)—Harry J. Anslinger, 70, U.S. commissioner of narcotics for 30 years, has resigned, saying he wished to retire.

Henry L. Giordano, 48, deputy commissioner of the Narcotics Bureau for almost four years, was picked by President Kennedy as the new chief.

The White House announced the changes Thursday and said no date had been fixed for Anslinger's leaving.

Anslinger, a native of Altoona, Pa., has headed the Narcotics Bureau since it was created by Congress in 1932.

He has survived change after change in presidential administrations and critic after critic. His insistence on stiffer penalties for narcotics violators has clashed with the theory of others that addiction should be treated as a disease.

Amnesty For 794

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—President Ngo Dinh Diem has signed an amnesty decree to release 794 well-behaved prisoners Saturday, the eighth anniversary of Diem's coming to power.

Funds For Atom Weapon Locks Asked By Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy asked Congress on Thursday for $23.3 million to install remote-controlled electronic locks on nuclear weapons as added insurance against accidental firings and trigger-nervous commanders.

The White House gave no details, but the new, secret device is described authoritatively as an electromechanical system controlled by a radio signal to be sent from a command headquarters far from the actual missile site.

Present plans, it was understood, call for the device to be used first in the forward missile deployment area of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The official announcement said merely that Kennedy had requested the additional funds to procedure devices to prevent the possibility of unauthorized use.

Only the President can authorize the explosion of a nuclear device under U.S. control, either in combat or in tests. Kennedy's associates say that he, like his predecessors, is particularly concerned with the need for various safeguards to prevent any unauthorized use of nuclear weapons.

Similar concern has been expressed by many governments, not only the United States and its Allies but the Soviet bloc and neutralist nations as well. Officials here believe installation of the new device will help reassure these governments.

Churchill Apparently Suffers Mild Setback

LONDON (AP) —Sir Winston Churchill experienced some pulse irregularity Thursday and spent more time sleeping. But hospital authorities said they were not unduly concerned.

A medical bulletin issued at Middlesex Hospital left the impression the 87-year-old former prime minister suffered his first mild setback since he fractured his leg in Monte Carlo a week ago.

"Sir Winston is comfortable and has had a good night. There has been some irregularity of the pulse," it said.

15 Reported Killed In Brazil Strike Riot

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—Fighting erupted near Rio de Janeiro on Thursday as a general strike over selection of a new government brought Brazil's business and commercial life to a standstill.

Fifteen persons were reported killed in the town of Duque de Caxias, 20 miles from Rio, when townspeople sacked stores for food and clashed with police.

The number killed was given by Mayor Adolfo Daci of Duque de Caxias. His figure could not be confirmed elsewhere immediately.

First army troops, stationed outside Rio de Janeiro, were sent to the town in an attempt to bring the disturbances to an end.

Two Suspended In Probe Of Texas Rice Allotments

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department disclosed Thursday a month-old investigation of alleged illegal transfers of rice-planting allotments has brought the suspension of two department officials in Texas.

A team of department investigators and FBI agents now is checking books in Matagorda, Waller and Brazoria counties to determine whether there have been criminal violations, a department spokesman said.

The inquiry was touched off June 7, four days after the death of Carl E. Lively, Matagorda County manager for the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

As a result of findings so far, the spokesman said, David C. Stephens, manager of the ASCS committee for Brazoria County, and T. C. Thornhill, ASCS manager for Waller County, have been suspended from duty. No charges have been filed thus far.

The department said it called the FBI into the case June 8 after a woman clerk in the Matagorda County office told Lively's successor she had been offered money by Stephens to continue rice-allotment arrangements he had had with Lively.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman told newsmen: "Apparently there is some evidence of malfeasance by certain individuals in some Texas counties who improperly granted allotments on rice and were shown, in a preliminary investigation, to have received compensation for doing so."

Pope Urges World's Catholics Do Penance

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII, in an encyclical published Thursday, asked the Roman Catholic world to do penance to insure the success of the Vatican Ecumenical Council.

The 3,000-word letter carried last Sunday's date, the Feast of the Most Precious Blood. Pope John stressed throughout the encyclical the importance of an Ecumenical Council.

The council starting here Oct. 11 will bring together the Church's hierarchy, in the first such meeting in 92 years, to seek renewal of Catholicism in the modern world as a prelude for possible Christian unity.

Pope John emphasized in the encyclical that he considered prayer, penance and good works an indispensible preparation for the council.

Sears Says Hike In Auto Insurance Cost Justified

BALTIMORE (AP) —The state insurance commissioner said Thursday there was complete justification for the increase in automobile insurance rates he approved last week.

F. Douglass Sears, the commissioner, was asked to appear before the Motor Vehicle Committee of the Legislative Council to explain the higher premiums on collision and comprehensive insurance.

The increases affect more than 200 companies affiliated with the National Automobile Underwriters Association, and are expected to amount to about $725,000 in higher premiums per year for Maryland motorists.

The new rates would not affect existing policies until they are renewed, nor policies written by the large independent firms.

Some motorists would pay up to 11 per cent more, depending on where they live and other factors.

Sears contended the rates for member companies of the association had been reduced more than 8 per cent during the past three years, or twice as much as the current average increase.

The commissioner said his department "did not make insurance rates — all we do is approve or disapprove rates on the facts submitted.

"We're public servants, looking after the interests of the public," Sears said. "even when there's an increase, it's in the public interest because we want to keep these companies solvent. There would be more criticism if the companies became insolvent."

Representatives of the insurance industry attending the meeting said the requested increases were a result of higher repair costs for automobiles and the increased number of claims filed by Maryland motorists. The state ranked fourth in such claims last year.

Sen. Joseph Bertorelli, D-Balto 1st, argued that the public should have a chance to make its views known at a public hearing before any changes in rates are made. The present method, whereby the commissioner approves a change dand then makes a public announcement, was described by Bertorelli as antiquated.

"Nothing should be hush-hush," the senator said. "Business concerning the public should be decided in the open."

Bertorelli suggested insurance companies be treated as public utilities, with their rates submitted to the Public Service Commission, or a similar agency.

Attorney Hyman Pressman of Baltimore charged the rates were excessive because the companies involved showed increased profits the past couple years.

"They ought to be applying for decreased rates," he said.

Joya's 'Katusha' Indecent, Soviet Newspaper Says

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet government paper Izvestia has termed indecent the rendition of the Russian wartime partisan song "Katusha" by Benny Goodman's singing star, Joya Sherrill.

It said her performance, the most controversial number during the six-week Goodman tour, was "tactless, tasteless and disrespectful."

The paper printed a letter Thursday, from "indignant readers" who caught Joya's performance July 3. They were explaining why the audience that night broke into hoots and catcalls after the song.

Joya first had trouble when she sang the number in Georgia a month ago and was howled down. Members of the audience explained that, as Georgians, they did not like to hear an American sing in Russian. Audience members in Moscow were quoted as saying the song was too old-fashioned for their tastes.

Izvestia charged she performed the song about the "purity of love for the fatherland" in a "night club manner."

Record 145 Killed In Holiday Traffic

By The Associated Press

Traffic accidents killed a record 145 persons during this year's midweek Fourth of July holiday.

The motoring toll was not entirely unanticipated. Before the holiday, the National Safety Council estimated that it would reach a figure between 110 and 150 for the 30-hour period.

But Howard Pyle, council president termed it "tragically high," and added: "We can only draw one conclusion from this needless waste of human life—that drivers are failing to observe basic rules of common sense and courtesy."

The earlier record for a one-day Fourth, since World War II, was 137 set in 1956.

Americans are eating more turkey — 7.5 pounds per person in 1961, compared to five pounds per person in 1955. Big reason is lower prices and higher consumer incomes.

New Trial Won By Book Dealer

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—The Court of Appeals ruled Thursday that expert witnesses should be allowed to testify on the literary merits of the novel "Tropic of Cancer."

The state's high court also said other literary works sold in Montgomery County should be compared with the controversial Henry Miller book as a test of its obscenity.

It ordered a new trial for Samuel Yudkin, a Chevy Chase book dealer who was sentenced to six months in December of 1961 on obscenity charges for selling the "Tropic of Cancer."

Yudkin, who appealed a Montgomery County Circuit Court decision, had argued that the court would not permit him to have three University of Maryland English professors, a psychiatrist, an agent of the Post Office Department, who deals with obscene mail, and literary critics testify.

He also said the Circuit Court jury was unable to accurately judge the standards of the community because other novels, which can be purchased in the area, were not permitted to be entered into the record.

"We think it is implicit . . . that all relevant evidence (if its otherwise competent) concerning community standards and prurient interest, as well as evidence bearing on literary merit, is admissible to show either obscenity or the lack of it," the high court said.

Frantic Phone Number Search Ends Too Late

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP) — It took four hours for a housewife and young girl to find the telephone number of Mr. and Mrs. Donald C. Cooley to tell them of a report they were to be slain.

But nobody answered the telephone at the Cooley home.

So, Mrs. John L. Wharton said she called the police about the report only to be told: "You are just a few minutes too late, Mrs. Wharton. It just happened."

The Evening Star said Thursday Mrs. Wharton told it of the desperate search which ended moments too late to prevent what happened last Monday night.

Cooley, a high school teacher, died soon after he was shot and stabbed at his home. Mrs. Cooley, a high school teacher also, was stabbed with an ice pick, but is recovering.

William B. Bodmer, 16, Cooley's stepson, and Malcolm Leon Ward, 19, are charged with murder.

The 15-year-old girl who had been dating Ward told Mrs. Wharton, a friend, that Ward had told her Bodmer planned to kill his parents.

"Did you ever hear of anything so ridiculous?" the girl, whose name was withheld, was quoted by Mrs. Wharton. "You know a person couldn't do anything to their parents like that."

Mrs. Wharton and the girl looked for the telephone number under the name Bodmer but could not find it. They called the operator. They called the Ward home. Then the girl remembered the parents taught at Mount Vernon High School, and Mrs. Wharton called the principal and got the Cooley number.

Bodmer, who was arrested in Baltimore, has told police he resented his stepfather's discipline on him—particularly over use of the family car.

Sugar Lobbying Probe Planned

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Judiciary Committee plans an investigation of lobbying by foreign interests on behalf of sugar legislation, Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., said Thursday.

Eastland disclosed this shortly after President Kennedy said at his news conference that he understood appropriate committees of Congress might look into the situation. He said hearings may start in a day or two.

The committee has jurisdiction over legislation dealing with the registration of foreign agents.

At his Thursday news conference, Kennedy said some lobbyists were paid large fees and, in some instances, stood to collect more if they could produce results in the form of higher quotas allowing larger imports from the countries they represent. He took the position this was deplorable.

Production expenses of U. S. farmers in 1960 were nearly four times as much as in 1940—26.4 billion dollars.

State Highways Free Of Death Over Holiday

By The Associated Press

Maryland was one of 14 states to get through the 30-hour Fourth of July holiday without a traffic fatality.

The National Safety Council considered the holiday period to be from 6 p.m. Tuesday to midnight Wednesday.

Thursday, however, a State Roads Commission employe was struck by a truck and killed on U.S. 301 in Charles County, three miles south of La Plata. George Allan Hancock, 41, of Port Tobacco, was pronounced dead at the scene by Dr. Edward J. Edelan, deputy medical examiner.

Deputy Sheriff Francis W. Canter said Hancock was driving a small tractor-power mower when struck by the truck driven by Charles E. Blake, 24, of Norman, N.C. Blake was not injured.

Three members of a family who formerly lived in Cresaptown, Md., were killed in Michigan while en route to a fireworks display near Detroit, and two boys drowned during the holiday in an irrigation pond near Goldsborough.

Killed near Belleville, Mich., were Gilbert Phillips, 30; his wife Carol, 26, and daughter Janet, 6. Son Brian, 1½ months, was critically injured and three other children also were hurt.

The Phillips car collided head-on with another auto two miles east of Belleville.

The drowning victims were Tyrome Gary Douglas, 9, and Alonzo James Miller, 6, children of migrant workers in Caroline County.

Resort Lacks Storm Barrier

BALTIMORE (AP) — Federal officials said Thursday that Ocean City, Md., will be at the mercy of possible fall hurricanes if residents don't move quickly to permit construction of a protective sand duneline.

The Army Corps of Engineers said the warning was given state officials at a meeting in Baltimore Tuesday by William D. Patton, director of Region 2 of the Office of Emergency Planning, and Col. Edward T. Podufaly, acting division engineer of the North Atlantic Division, Corps of Engineers.

"The lack of real estate clearances," said Podufaly, "has resulted in Maryland being the only coastal state between Montauk Point, Long Island, N.Y., and North Carolina that has not yet received federal assistance for repairs for the shore line damaged by the March storm . . ."

Easements are required to permit the engineers to construct the protective duneline. The division engineer said the protective barrier now being placed along the Delaware coast will end at the Maryland border unless the easements are received in the next week or two.

An acre of land can be made to yield as much sugar as an acre of land planted to sugar beets.

Maryland News In Brief

SALISBURY (AP) — An official of the Salisbury Chamber of Commerce wants to attract more tourists to the Eastern Shore, and to induce them to stay longer than one day or night.

Donald A. Hall, chairman of the chamber's tourist committee, has come up with a program in which counties will be asked to post signs marking points of interest and to plan tours of these areas.

Hall already has outlined his plan to Wicomico County commissioners and plans to do so for commissioners of Worcester and Somerset.

OCEAN CITY, Md. (AP) — Two Baltimore teen-agers charged with illegal possession of barbiturates are being held in $2,000 bond each pending a preliminary hearing Saturday before Magistrate James B. Robins.

Police Chief V. Jack Phillips said the youths, Edward Dominick Crocetti, 19, and Leon Joseph Peone, 17, were arrested Wednesday night. They were charged with possession of "pep pills" which have the pharmaceutical names of amphetamine and secobarbitol.

Two other Baltimoreans were sentenced to a year in the House of Correction last week on charges of dispensing the same drugs in Ocean City.

CAMDEN, Del. (AP) — A Delaware woman and an airman from Texas were killed Thursday in the collision of a car and a truck at the intersection of U.S. 13 and Delaware 10 near Camden.

Dead were Mrs. Betty Ann Brooks, 28, of Wyoming, Del., and Airman 1.C. Lindsay S. Owens, 29, of Grand Prairie, Tex., stationed at Dover Air Force Base.

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Maryland Department of Education has asked the Federal Communications Commission not to issue any more permits for commercial television in Maryland, until plans for educational TV are clarified.

A commercial user, identified by the FCC as William H. Porter of Syracuse, N.Y., has asked FCC permission to use UHF Channel 22, now alloted to Cambridridge, and transfer it to Salisbury.

State School Supt. Thomas G. Pullen Jr. said his department has developed a plan for a statewide network of six UHF TV stations to be used for educational purposes.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Fairchild Stratos Corp. of Hagerstown, Md., has been awarded a $1.5 million Air Force contract which will require about 200 employes for three or four months.

The contract is for restoring 21 twin-engine C47 transports to full operational condition.

A Fairchild spokesman said a branch of its Aircraft Service Division at St. Augustine, Fla., would be set up at Hagerstown to restore the plans, and the work would require re-employment of a number of workers previously laid off.

Woodrow Wilson was the first president since John Adams to deliver his message to Congress in person.

Gen. Truman Inspects Md. Guard Exercise

CAMP A.P. HILL, Va. (AP) — Maj. Gen. Louis W. Truman, deputy director of the Continental Army Command, inspected the Maryland National Guard infantry maneuvers Thursday.

Members of the 29th Division, on their annual two-weeks summer training, took part in platoon attack problems as Gen. Truman watched.

Guard officers said the division's training curriculum now also includes a course in anti-guerrilla warfare, including indoctrination in methods of fighting Communist-inspired insurgents n such places as Laos and Vietnam.

Meanwhile, at nearby Camp Pickett, members of the division artillery zeroed in their weapons on the artillery range.

Marylanders Traveling More

BALTIMORE (AP) — Maryland residents are taking more vacation trips, and traveling farther, than ever before.

Russell E. Singer, executive vice president of the American Automobile Club, said members of the AAA in Maryland applied for 25 per cent more trip routings during June than during June, 1961.

Singer also said 32 per cent more Maryland residents had applied for passports last month than for June of 1961.

Addressing a meeting of the Automobile Club of Maryland, Singer said Marylanders are not alone in their traveling. "There's never been a time in history," he said, "when so many people have been traveling."

Ocean City, Md., Plans To Construct $850,000 Convention Hall

OCEAN CITY, Md. (AP)—Hoping to win business away from Atlantic City and Virginia Beach, sponsors announced Thursday plans to build an $850,000 convention hall in Ocean City.

Attorney Leonard Lockhart of Elkton, spokesman for the backers of the project, said they hope to start construction in September and have the hall ready for use by next June.

Businessmen of Ocean City have complained that their season, lasting from about Memorial Day to Labor Day, was too short. Construction of a convention hall was regarded as one way to attract meetings of larger Maryland organizations now going to other oceanside resorts.

Lockhart said the hall would accommodate 2,500 people. It is planned to build it on pilings, both to provide parking space and to protect the building from high seas. It is to be built on the beach overlooking the Ocean City inlet east of the boardwalk.

Lockhart said the assembly room would be suitable for dances and banquets. The building will be air conditioned, he said, and also will include a restaurant and cocktail lounge.

State Highways Free Of Death Over Holiday

By The Associated Press

Maryland was one of 14 states to get through the 30-hour Fourth of July holiday without a traffic fatality.

The National Safety Council considered the holiday period to be from 6 p.m. Tuesday to midnight Wednesday.

Thursday, however, a State Roads Commission employe was struck by a truck and killed on U.S. 301 in Charles County, three miles south of La Plata. George Allan Hancock, 41, of Port Tobacco, was pronounced dead at the scene by Dr. Edward J. Edelan, deputy medical examiner.

Deputy Sheriff Francis W. Canter said Hancock was driving a small tractor-power mower when struck by the truck driven by Charles E. Blake, 24, of Norman, N.C. Blake was not injured.

Three members of a family who formerly lived in Cresaptown, Md., were killed in Michigan while en route to a fireworks display near Detroit, and two boys drowned during the holiday in an irrigation pond near Goldsborough.

Killed near Belleville, Mich., were Gilbert Phillips, 30; his wife Carol, 26, and daughter Janet, 6. Son Brian, 1½ months, was critically injured and three other children also were hurt.

The Phillips car collided head-on with another auto two miles east of Belleville.

The drowning victims were Tyrome Gary Douglas, 9, and Alonzo James Miller, 6, children of migrant workers in Caroline County.

Saddle Club To Sponsor Horse Show September 16

Committee Chairmen Meet Tonight

The chairman for the horse show to be held September 16 was appointed by Jones A. Smoak at the outdoor meeting of the Allegany Saddle Club, held Monday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Robey, Hinkle Road.

John R. Earsom was appointed chairman for the show, which will be held at the Cumberland Fair Grounds, beginning at 12:30 p.m. His committee consists of Mrs. Mounsey Smoak, secretary and publicity chairman; Mrs. Ann Matlick, chairman of ribbons and trophies; Stanley Chidester, programs and tickets; Mr. Robey, grounds; Mrs. Robey, refreshments.

The ringmaster will be Larry Davis; judge, Stanley Hanna; farrier, Harry Cole; showcards, chairman, Hyder Reed, and announcer, Jerry Matlick.

Chairmen of all committees are to meet tonight at 7:30 at the home of Mr. Smoak, Baltimore Pike, to make further plans for the show.

Members of the club were reminded that the Allegany Saddle Club held a show at the fair grounds in the fall of 1960, which was the first held in Cumberland for several years, and "was successful." Many local people received ribbons and trophies.

Mr. Smoak welcomed members and visitors and reports were given by the standing committees. Mrs. Ann Matlick extended her appreciation to members for their cooperation and support of the horse show held June 10. Robert Wilson and Gary Marsh were accepted as new members. It was decided to hold the August meeting at the home of Miss Peggy Paddleford, Winchester Road. Thirty-six members attended. Mr. and Mrs. Owen Banes and daughter Rebecca of Greenwood, S.C., were guests. Refreshments preceded the meeting.

East Side Club Plans Project

Members of the East Side Homemakers Club discussed making lampshades at the meeting, held in the form of an outing, Monday in Grove 4 of Constitution Park. It was preceded by a covered dish supper.

It was decided to set the date at the August meeting, which will be another picnic in Grove 4 on the seventh. It is to begin at 6 p. m. and will be a corn and wiener roast, instead of a covered dish.

Mrs. Thomas Buser conducted the brief business session. Mrs. Lawrence Miller offered prayer. Following the club collect and flag salute the group sang, "America." The history of the hymn, "O God of Bethel" was given by Mrs. Roy Hinkle. The words of the hymn were read by Mrs. Buser.

Routine reports were given by Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Carl Smith. Mrs. Earl Smith gave the sunshine report. Mrs. Carl Smith, club delegate to Rural Women's Short Course, also reported on her trip to College Park.

Visitors attending the outing were Mrs. Ruth Simons, Mrs. Dorotha Ruckman, Karen Ruckman, Diane Ruckman, Lawrence Miller, Thomas Buser and Carl Smith. Other members attending were Mrs. Ella Simons, Mrs. Nettie Dicken and Mrs. Herman Curry.

The Woman's Society of Christian Service and the Methodist Men of Zion Church will hold a covered dish supper tonight at 6 o'clock at the church, Bedford Road, for members and friends. Each member is to bring a covered dish and place setting.

MAKING THE CARROUSEL — Sponsored by the Woman's Golf Association of the Cumberland Country Club, a summer carnival will be held July 21 for members and their guests. Rainbow choir rehearsal will be held tomorrow from 11:30 until 2 o'clock. All members are welcome and are to bring a lunch. Margaret also reported that Donna Bittner is in Memorial Hospital and that Sharon Shanholtz is ill at her home.

Representing the Cumberland Assembly, Margaret Ellen Filler, worthy advisor; Sue Wagner, Grand Hope; Mrs. Rebecca Wagner mother advisor; and Mrs. Ruth Taschenberger, Mrs. Mary Settle, Mrs. Beulah Barnes and Mrs. Jessie McElifsh, members of the advisory board, were named to attend the Supreme Assembly Order of Rainbow, in Chicago. They left Monday. It is being held this week for girls and their advisors from all over the United States and European countries.

After tomorrow, memory books may be purchased from Mrs. Virginia Montgomery Chaney, general chairman for the program, by calling PA 4-6942.

Protect Your Flowers From Summer 'Sniffles'

Like humans in the hot summertime, indoor flowers and potted plants can get overheated, and contract "the sniffles and colds" when exposed to chilly draughts, says the Society of American Florists.

To prolong the life of summer cut flowers and plants, keep them as cool as possible — but away from draughts of air from room air conditioners and window fans, advises SAF. Placing flower arrangements in a cool basement at night will refresh their beauty, it adds.

Because hot dry weather speeds evaporation of water, be sure to check frequently the water level in flower containers, and potted plants to make sure they're getting adequate moisture, SAF suggests.

A free dance will be held for members and guests of the Cumberland Country Club July 14 from 10 until 1 o'clock.

Anniversary Dinner Will Be July 9

The Clarysville Ladies Auxiliary will hold its July meeting in the form of an anniversary dinner July 9. It will be at the Porter's Dining Room in Eckhart, beginning at 6:30.

Mrs. Rosetta Adams will conduct the business session, following the dinner. Those needing transportation are to call her.

A social will be held by the auxiliary on July 12. It will begin at 6 p. m. There will be refreshments and games will be played. A twist contest will be the feature of the event, which will be held at the fire hall.

Supreme Forest Woodman Circle, Queen City Grove 11, will hold a rummage sale tomorrow at the Woodmen of the World hall, 144 Union Street, beginning at 9 a. m.

Mr., Mrs. A. M. Robinette Mark 58th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Robinette celebrated their 58th wedding anniversary quietly with a family dinner Wednesday at their home, 448 McMullen Highway.

The former Miss Ann Pearl Zembower, daughter of the late Emmanuel and Alice Zembower, Centerville, Pa., became the bride of Mr. Robinette, son of the late Eli and Martha Robinette of Cumberland, July 3, 1904.

The wedding ceremony was solemnized in Cumberland with the late Rev. Melvin, a Methodist minister, officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinette are the parents of five sons, William Robinette, Washington; Raymond Robinette and James Robinette, Texas; Ernest Robinette, Vista, Calif., and Robert Robinette, Cumberland. They have nine grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

A retired employe of the Celanese Corporation of America, Mr. Robinette enjoys his flowers and doing odd jobs around the house. He is a member of the Bowling Green Volunteer Firemen and St. Matthew's Reformed Church.

Mrs. Robinette's hobbies are crocheting and needlework. In the past five years, she has made seven afghans, with some of them and her sewing being winners at the Cumberland Fair. A member of St. Matthew's Reformed Church, she also is a member of the Ladies Guild and Cresap Homemakers Club.

CDA Picnic July 10

Court Cardinal Gibbons, Catholic Daughters of America, will hold a family picnic July 10.

It is to be at Constitution Park in Grove 1, beginning at 6 p.m. Each member is to bring a covered dish of food and place setting.

Mrs. Catherine Kilroy and Mrs. Alma Margherita are co-chairmen of arrangements.

Personals

Mrs. Godfrey Seiver, 112 South Centre Street, has returned from Spokane, Wash., where she spent five weeks with her sister, Mrs. Edna Walsh, whose husband is hospitalized.

Mrs. Martha Rhind, 30 North Liberty Street, is a patient in Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. George B. McLaughlin, 453 Baltimore Avenue, has returned home from Sacred Heart Hospital, where she was a surgical patient.

Colorful Kitchens

Floor coverings for your kitchen can now be harmonized with the color of your walls and appliances. This is because many kitchen floors now are being surfaced with ceramic tile, which also is a favorite material for use on kitchen counters and backsplashes. The more than 250 colors of real tile provide a wide selection to choose from.

To Plan Convention

An organizational meeting to plan for the 21st convention of the Chesapeake district of the Lutheran Women's Missionary League will be held Monday by the registration committee of Trinity Church. It will be at the home of Mrs. C. E. George, McMullen Highway.

Trinity Church will be host for the convention to be held October 13 and 14 at Clarysville Inn.

SUN/STOP
blocks out burning and tanning rays for 4 full hours in mid-day sun!
Now go into the sun, have fun, without fear of burning or tanning! Last year at Miami Beach and Plymouth, Massachusetts, Bronztan Sun/Stop was used by a group of leading skin specialists on hundreds of volunteers in an extensive suntest, to filter out the sun's burning and tanning rays.
In the opinion of the doctors, Sun/Stop was highly effective in preventing burning and tanning—even on tender skins of young children. For proven protection against the sun, use Bronztan Sun/Stop. By Shulton.

Committee Chairmen Meet Tonight

The chairman for the horse show to be held September 16 was appointed by Jones A. Smoak at the outdoor meeting of the Allegany Saddle Club, held Monday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Robey, Hinkle Road.

John R. Earsom was appointed chairman for the show, which will be held at the Cumberland Fair Grounds, beginning at 12:30 p.m. His committee consists of Mrs. Mounsey Smoak, secretary and publicity chairman; Mrs. Ann Matlick, chairman of ribbons and trophies; Stanley Chidester, programs and tickets; Mr. Robey, grounds; Mrs. Robey, refreshments.

The ringmaster will be Larry Davis; judge, Stanley Hanna; farrier, Harry Cole; showcards, chairman, Hyder Reed, and announcer, Jerry Matlick.

Chairmen of all committees are to meet tonight at 7:30 at the home of Mr. Smoak, Baltimore Pike, to make further plans for the show.

Members of the club were reminded that the Allegany Saddle Club held a show at the fair grounds in the fall of 1960, which was the first held in Cumberland for several years, and "was successful." Many local people received ribbons and trophies.

Mr. Smoak welcomed members and visitors and reports were given by the standing committees. Mrs. Ann Matlick extended her appreciation to members for their cooperation and support of the horse show held June 10. Robert Wilson and Gary Marsh were accepted as new members. It was decided to hold the August meeting at the home of Miss Peggy Paddleford, Winchester Road. Thirty-six members attended. Mr. and Mrs. Owen Banes and daughter Rebecca of Greenwood, S.C., were guests. Refreshments preceded the meeting.

East Side Club Plans Project

Members of the East Side Homemakers Club discussed making lampshades at the meeting, held in the form of an outing, Monday in Grove 4 of Constitution Park. It was preceded by a covered dish supper.

It was decided to set the date at the August meeting, which will be another picnic in Grove 4 on the seventh. It is to begin at 6 p. m. and will be a corn and wiener roast, instead of a covered dish.

Mrs. Thomas Buser conducted the brief business session. Mrs. Lawrence Miller offered prayer. Following the club collect and flag salute the group sang, "America." The history of the hymn, "O God of Bethel" was given by Mrs. Roy Hinkle. The words of the hymn were read by Mrs. Buser.

Routine reports were given by Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Carl Smith. Mrs. Earl Smith gave the sunshine report. Mrs. Carl Smith, club delegate to Rural Women's Short Course, also reported on her trip to College Park.

Visitors attending the outing were Mrs. Ruth Simons, Mrs. Dorotha Ruckman, Karen Ruckman, Diane Ruckman, Lawrence Miller, Thomas Buser and Carl Smith. Other members attending were Mrs. Ella Simons, Mrs. Nettie Dicken and Mrs. Herman Curry.

Protect Your Flowers From Summer 'Sniffles'

Like humans in the hot summertime, indoor flowers and potted plants can get overheated, and contract "the sniffles and colds" when exposed to chilly draughts, says the Society of American Florists.

To prolong the life of summer cut flowers and plants, keep them as cool as possible — but away from draughts of air from room air conditioners and window fans, advises SAF. Placing flower arrangements in a cool basement at night will refresh their beauty, it adds.

Because hot dry weather speeds evaporation of water, be sure to check frequently the water level in flower containers, and potted plants to make sure they're getting adequate moisture, SAF suggests.

A free dance will be held for members and guests of the Cumberland Country Club July 14 from 10 until 1 o'clock.

Woman To Woman

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — Money flies through your house so fast it makes you airsick?

It's off to grocer, dentist, car repairman, doctor, insurance company, utility firms?

But most distressing—you can't save? Are you SURE?

"Everyone can save," Mrs. Emily Terrall says, "and that includes the families with the heaviest financial responsibilities during the child-raising years."

Mrs. Terrall—alias Mrs. United States Savings Bonds of 1962—noted that most families without savings wait in vain for the time when they will be rich enough to salt some away.

"In many families," she said, "that day never comes. The only rule is to pay yourself by putting something away every pay day."

Mrs. Terrall, of St. Helena, Ore., practices what she preaches.

An essay on thrift and an extemporaneous speech on the subject during the Mrs. America competition—she was Mrs. Oregon—won her the "Mrs. Savings Bonds" title.

Married for 14 years, she and her husband—parents of three sons—have saved 15 per cent of every pay.

"Managing on what's left," she said, "isn't always easy. But it can be done if you're iron willed."

She recommended the following ideas for stretching dollars:

—Cutting the children's and husband's hair at home. Estimated saving: $180 a year in the Terrall family. Mom's the barber.

—Saving a heap by making that necessary second car a junker that runs. The Terrall second car cost $100.

—Stretching the food dollar by buying fresh fruits and vegetables by the bushel when they're a glut on the market. The Terrals have found prices best then. They can and freeze the victuals for consumption year 'round. Powdered milk, in 100-pound quantities, dropped their milk expenses to four cents a quart!

—Making the vacation money go far by camping. The Terralls have saved "thousands" by doing this.

Mrs. Terrall also saves by making most of her own clothes, doing her own housework and buying used furniture.

"Refinishing the furniture, far from being a task, is a fine art and very satisfying," she said.

Other Terrall rules for saving:

—Don't try to keep up with the Jones family.

Weather Info Service Grows

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Aviation Agency will change its pilot-to-forecaster weather information service next Oct. 1 to a new radio frequency adaptable to nationwide use.

On that date a third test unit, at Los Angeles, will be added to those now operating at Kansas City, Mo., and Washington, D.C., the FAA said Tuesday.

The 122.6 MC. frequency now used has a range of about 150 miles. The Washington station extends this to several hundred miles through use of transmitter-receiver stations at Front Royal, Roanoke and Richmond, Va., Rocky Mount, N.C., and Elkins, W.Va.

The FAA started the experimental service a year ago. Provided on a 24-hour basis as a supplement to the standard aviation weather services, it enables a pilot to speak directly to a qualified meteorologist about on-the-spot weather conditions aloft, and to obtain information meeting his specific current need.

Spaniards learned the Egyptian art of making mud bricks from the ancient Moors and brought it to America. There it is still used for building structures in the southwestern part of the United States.

Socialists Balk At Burmese Strong Man's One-Party Plan

RANGOON, Burma (AP)—Military strong man Gen. Ne Win faces stiff opposition in trying to mold Burma into a one-party Socialist state, and most of the opponents are Socialists.

The Socialist camp, the anti-Fascist People's Freedom League, claims his plan [illegible]ad to permanent dictator

The league as [illegible] it will not work with the Communist-allied National United Front party, which is strongly supporting the Ne Win plan. The third majority party, the Pyidaungsu, has half-heartedly supported the one-party proposal.

Ne Win took over the government in Burma four months ago, the second time since 1958, claiming that parliamentary democracy was leading the country toward disintegration.

He put Premier U Nu and his Cabinet under heavy guard and became chairman of the Revolutionary Council, which combines the offices of premier and president.

One of his first decisions was to scrap the constitution. Then he announced his one-party plan in a 28-point manifesto entitled "The Burmese Way to Socialism."

He said present parties would lose their identity under the system and work as a coalition.

The administration of Burma would be turned over to the new party as soon as it proved it was capable of governing the country, Ne Win said.

The Socialists immediately disassociated themselves from the plan. They said this could lead to one of two extremes—a dictatorship or totalitarianism.

The league said it wants Burma to become a Socialist state but not under Ne Win's plan. But it indicated it might be willing to strike a bargain with Ne Win. It suggests that the army go ahead with the one-party system without league participation. If it is a success after a year or two, then the league will join.

But if it flops, then it should be scrapped and some form of parliamentary system established, the Socialists said.

The National United Front bitterly opposes this idea. It says the league is maneuvering to brand the one-party idea as naked dictatorship and create discord which if hopes will bring the Socialists back into power.

Firm Proposes Stock Split

At a meeting this week, the board of directors of G. C. Murphy Company proposed a two-for-one split of the company's common stock listed on the New York Stock Exchange, in the form of a 100 per cent stock distribution.

The proposed split will be subject to approval by shareholders at a meeting called for September 10 and approval by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania of the proposed amendment of the company's articles to increase its authorized common stock, par value $1 per share, from 3,000,000 to 8,000,000 shares. There are 2,129,500 shares issued and listed, 34,500 of which are held as treasury stock, leaving 2,095,000 shares outstanding. The company has only common stock authorized and outstanding.

Shareholders of record August 13, will vote on the amendment at the special shareholders' meeting September 10.

The board also declared the regular quarterly cash dividend on the present common stock of 55 cents per share payable September 1, to shareholders of record August 13.

Weather Info Service Grows

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Aviation Agency will change its pilot-to-forecaster weather information service next Oct. 1 to a new radio frequency adaptable to nationwide use.

On that date a third test unit, at Los Angeles, will be added to those now operating at Kansas City, Mo., and Washington, D.C., the FAA said Tuesday.

The 122.6 MC. frequency now used has a range of about 150 miles. The Washington station extends this to several hundred miles through use of transmitter-receiver stations at Front Royal, Roanoke and Richmond, Va., Rocky Mount, N.C., and Elkins, W.Va.

The FAA started the experimental service a year ago. Provided on a 24-hour basis as a supplement to the standard aviation weather services, it enables a pilot to speak directly to a qualified meteorologist about on-the-spot weather conditions aloft, and to obtain information meeting his specific current need.

Spaniards learned the Egyptian art of making mud bricks from the ancient Moors and brought it to America. There it is still used for building structures in the southwestern part of the United States.

Socialists Balk At Burmese Strong Man's One-Party Plan

RANGOON, Burma (AP)—Military strong man Gen. Ne Win faces stiff opposition in trying to mold Burma into a one-party Socialist state, and most of the opponents are Socialists.

The Socialist camp, the anti-Fascist People's Freedom League, claims his plan will lead to permanent dictator

The league as it will not work with the Communist-allied National United Front party, which is strongly supporting the Ne Win plan. The third majority party, the Pyidaungsu, has half-heartedly supported the one-party proposal.

Ne Win took over the government in Burma four months ago, the second time since 1958, claiming that parliamentary democracy was leading the country toward disintegration.

He put Premier U Nu and his Cabinet under heavy guard and became chairman of the Revolutionary Council, which combines the offices of premier and president.

One of his first decisions was to scrap the constitution. Then he announced his one-party plan in a 28-point manifesto entitled "The Burmese Way to Socialism."

He said present parties would lose their identity under the system and work as a coalition.

The administration of Burma would be turned over to the new party as soon as it proved it was capable of governing the country, Ne Win said.

The Socialists immediately disassociated themselves from the plan. They said this could lead to one of two extremes—a dictatorship or totalitarianism.

The league said it wants Burma to become a Socialist state but not under Ne Win's plan. But it indicated it might be willing to strike a bargain with Ne Win. It suggests that the army go ahead with the one-party system without league participation. If it is a success after a year or two, then the league will join.

But if it flops, then it should be scrapped and some form of parliamentary system established, the Socialists said.

The National United Front bitterly opposes this idea. It says the league is maneuvering to brand the one-party idea as naked dictatorship and create discord which if hopes will bring the Socialists back into power.

Firm Proposes Stock Split

At a meeting this week, the board of directors of G. C. Murphy Company proposed a two-for-one split of the company's common stock listed on the New York Stock Exchange, in the form of a 100 per cent stock distribution.

The proposed split will be subject to approval by shareholders at a meeting called for September 10 and approval by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania of the proposed amendment of the company's articles to increase its authorized common stock, par value $1 per share, from 3,000,000 to 8,000,000 shares. There are 2,129,500 shares issued and listed, 34,500 of which are held as treasury stock, leaving 2,095,000 shares outstanding. The company has only common stock authorized and outstanding.

Shareholders of record August 13, will vote on the amendment at the special shareholders' meeting September 10.

The board also declared the regular quarterly cash dividend on the present common stock of 55 cents per share payable September 1, to shareholders of record August 13.

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: A great deal has been said about the art of giving but I've read very little about the art of receiving. Will you please say something on this subject?

My mother-in-law makes a big production out of receiving gifts. She glories in birthdays, anniversaries, Christmas, Mother's Day and so on. It's boring and embarrassing to hear her repeat the details of the gifts she receives. She generally appraises each item. For example: "That handbag must have cost at least $45.00!"

I'm shy about gifts and I'm sure I tend to go to the other extreme. There must be a happy medium. Will you please help me find it? —SAGINAW READER

DEAR SAGINAW READER: That "happy medium" is a great deal closer to your approach than to your mother-in-law's.

If the person who sent the gift is graciously thanked, this is adequate. Most people couldn't care less about someone else's gifts.

Even when questioned by an interested third party the details should be kept to a minimum and the comments should be conservative.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I know this is trivial but I believe there's an important principle involved so I'd like your opinion.

I'm a college girl who dates fellows both in and out of school. I'm no prude, but my standards are high. If a fellow doesn't behave himself I tell him off and he either straightens up and flies right or I dump him.

The other evening I was out with an interesting fellow. In a complaining tone he whined, "Do you know I've been dating you for almost three months and I haven't tried anything yet?"

I was annoyed and replied, "Well, what do you want — a medal?"

If looks could kill I'd have been a corpse that minute. He drove me straight home and I haven't heard from him since.

My mother liked this fellow a great deal and she feels that I was smart-alecky and out of line. I say I haven't lost a thing. What do you say? —DIANE

DEAR DIANE: I say congratulations and more power to you.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I have been saving our dimes for eight years. This summer we are actually going to take that trip to Europe. We've been looking forward to it for so long it seems like a dream.

I'm terribly dumb about certain things and I need advice. Do we tip people who serve us aboard ship? Is it in good taste to speak to people in the cocktail lounge or on deck? What type of clothes should we wear during the day? (We know we're supposed to dress for dinner.)

I'm afraid we look like hayseeds, fresh off the farm. Please give us some pointers so people won't know it's the first time we ever saw a ship. Thank you.

—BOUNDING MAIN

DEAR BOUNDING: Most of the people you'll be meeting have never seen a ship before either—so relax.

All the information you will need can be obtained from the travel agent or the person who sold you the tickets. The important thing is to be pleasant and conduct yourselves naturally—and remember wherever you go your country will be judged by your behavior. Don't let the strange and the unfamiliar turn you into Ugly Americans.

(P. S. Have a good time!)

DEAR ANN LANDERS: That letter from the girl who signed herself "Can't Get A Pulse" started me thinking.

I'm a young man, 20, and completely normal. I like girls and have been dating since I was 17. But, like the young man referred to in the column, I can't bring myself to kiss a girl either—and this is beginning to worry me.

The last girl I dated was intelligent and beautiful. After three months she said, "If you can't even give me a goodnight kiss after 16 dates I think maybe you need a psychiatrist more than you need a sweetheart. Goodbye."

I DO like girls, very much, Ann, but my mother always warned me against violating a girl in any way. She never failed to remind me before going out on a date that kissing is a sin because it may lead to other things. She always said, "It's best not to start anything."

I wanted desperately to kiss this last girl. At times being with her was torture, but I just couldn't bring myself to kiss her. Am I a nut?—MIXED EMOTION

Dear Mixed: It's admirable that your mother taught you to respect girls, but it's too bad she didn't teach you the difference between the beauty of an honest (and harmless) expression of affection and "violating" a girl.

If a young man of 20 is so inhibited that he can't kiss a girl goodnight after 16 dates, he should run, not walk, to a psychiatrist and get that geranium out of his cranium.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Last week I went to a luncheon at the home of a friend. She served a simply marvelous dessert — an angel food cake with layers of custard and a whipped cream frosting. Everyone raved and I asked for the recipe. She said she'd phone me the next day.

She didn't phone, so I called her. She read the recipe to me and I repeated everything.

Yesterday I was having company for dinner so I tried the dessert. It was a flop. Now I'm sure she gave me phony instructions or left something out just to be mean.

This morning I called to let her know what happened. She blamed my stove. What do you think? — MINUS ONE DOZEN EGGS

DEAR MINUS: I'm no pastry cook but it could well have been your stove. Next time get your recipes from the food section of this newspaper. It's your most reliable source.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Yesterday I was using my mother's new electric can opener. It slipped from the table and the handle broke off. I felt just terrible about it. I wanted to tell her right then and there but she has a hot temper and I was afraid to.

This morning she saw the broken can opener and of course I told her I did it. She yelled at me for 20 minutes about how clumsy I was, and how it didn't pay to buy anything nice for our house.

I have saved $79 from sitting money and I want to buy her a new can opener. She keeps saying "Forget it" but when I try to forget it she starts to yell all over again. She has brought up the subject six times in the last five hours.

I'm afraid I'll never hear the end of this. What shall I do? Maybe a word from you in the paper will help. — BUTTERFINGERS.

DEAR BUTTERFINGERS: You should have confessed the moment you broke the can opener.

Since you have $79 in your boodle, I suggest you buy a new one. It should put the silencer on Mom, but if it doesn't you can take satisfaction in knowing you've done your best to make amends.

Are your parents too strict? You can benefit from the experiences of thousands of teenagers if you write for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Live With Your Parents," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

CENTENNIAL SCRAPBOOK

The War for the Union 1861-65 in Pictures

No. 138 A century ago, in March 1862, President Lincoln sent a special message to Congress proposing compensated emancipation of slaves, with the government co-operating financially with any state which adopted gradual abolition. In other words, he recommended that the United States help states buy slaves from their owners to free them.

Horace Greeley

Among them was Horace Greeley, editor of the New York Tribune, one of the men responsible for effecting Lincoln's nomination in 1860. Lincoln, appreciative of that fact, wrote in November 1861 to a friend in New York, "Mr. Greeley . . . is a great power. Having him firmly behind me is as helpful to me as an army of one hundred thousand men. . . . Tell Gilmore to say to him that, if he ever objects to my policy, I shall be glad to have him state his views to me frankly and fully. I shall adopt his if I can. If I cannot, I will at least tell him why . . ."

Responding to Greeley admonitions in 1862, Lincoln said, ". . . My paramount object in this struggle is to save the Union, and not either to save or destroy slavery. If I could save the Union without freeing a slave, I would do it; and if I could save it by freeing all slaves, I would do it; and if I could free it by freeing some and leaving the others alone, I would also do that . . ."

Later that year, Lincoln was to be persuaded to issue an Emancipation Proclamation, which had the immediate effect of freeing some and leaving others alone, for it was applicable only in areas occupied by the Union troops.

Greeley's criticisms of the Lincoln administration continued. The president remarked wryly in 1863, "While Mr. Horace Greeley means all right, he causes me almost as much trouble as the whole Southern Confederacy."

Injuries Fatal To Tucker County Man

Injuries sustained in an automobile accident Sunday night proved fatal to a 23-year-old Parsons, W. Va., area man who died Monday at University Hospital, Morgantown.

George Keener, of Mackeyville, near Parsons, died of head injuries in the one-car mishap that took place near Newburg, in Preston County.

He was a passenger in an automobile driven by Ronald Hebb, 28, of Parsons. Also a passenger was Keener's sister, Mrs. Juanita Thomas, 20, of RD 1, Hamilton, W. Va.

Hebb and the young woman were admitted to Preston Memorial Hospital in Kingwood. Hebb was released Monday, but the woman was detained for surgery.

Kingwood detachment of the West Virginia State Police said Keener was the sixth highway fatality of the year on Preston County roads.

They said that after the driver lost control of the car, Keener was thrown from the vehicle and landed face down in the middle of a creek.

Born March 28, 1939, in Tucker County, he was a son of John R. and Minnie (Dawson) Keener.

He is survived by his parents; five brothers, Charles Keener, Baltimore, Carl Keener, at home, James Keener, of Hendricks, W. Va., John Keener, Moundsville, and Chester Keener, also at home; three sisters, Mrs. Thomas; Mrs. Mary Taylor, Canfield, Ohio, and Lucille Kenner, at home.

The body was taken to the Greenlief Funeral Home, Parsons.

Former Area Couple, Child Die In Wreck

A former Cresaptown couple and one of their five children were killed Tuesday night in a head-on automobile collision in a Detroit, Mich., suburb.

Dead are Gilbert William Phillips, 31; his wife, Carol Marie (Gerhart) Phillips, and their six-year-old daughter, Jana Marie Phillips.

Critically injured was their six-week-old son, Brian.

The family had been residing in Michigan for about 10 years, and were living at 39316 Superior Street, Romulus, Mich.

The accident occurred about 9 p. m. Tuesday as the family planned to go to Freedom Festival fireworks display. It happened about two miles east of Belleville, Mich., outside Detroit.

The other children in the car, Craig, nine, Bradley, seven, and Tammy, were treated for cuts and bruises at Wayne County (Mich.) General Hospital.

James Shepherd, 23, of Inkster, Mich., driver of the automobile which collided with the Phillips' vehicle, was hospitalized in fair condition.

It was reported that Shepherd, traveling in the opposite direction, had passed another vehicle prior to the collision.

Michael Pratt, Phillips' brother-in-law who lives next door to the family, said young Bradley, who had been sitting in the backseat near Jana when she and their parents were killed, described the accident, saying:

"Daddy hit the brakes and we were stopping. Then there was this crash. Why did that man hit us?"

Phillips had been working for the Minnesota Mining and Milling Company in Wayne.

Besides the four children, he is survived by his father, Aubrey Phillips, of Cresaptown, who has been vacationing in Michigan; three sisters, Mrs. Stewart Michael, city, Mrs. Michael Pratt, Romulus, and Mrs. James Peters, Cresaptown; and a brother, Gerald Phillips, Cresaptown.

A member of Cresaptown Assembly of God Church, Phillips was a native of Vale Summit, and formerly lived at Wrights Crossing, near Frostburg.

His wife, 26, born in Cresaptown in December, 1935, was a daughter of Homer L. and Opal Marie (Hivick) Gerhart.

She was a member of Cresaptown Methodist Church.

Besides her parents and children, she is survived by a sister, Mrs. Vernon Crable, Hyattsville, and a brother, Charles Gerhart, Cresaptown.

The bodies were taken to the Roberts Brothers Funeral Home in Belleville, where a service will be conducted Saturday.

They will be returned to the John J. Hafer Chapel of the Hills Mortuary, U. S. Route 40, where the family will receive friends Sunday from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p. m.

Services will be held Monday at 2 p. m. at the chapel, with Rev. Ruth Cowgill, of Cresaptown Assembly of God Church, and Rev. Albert Ark, of the Springfield, W. Va. Assembly of God Church, officiating.

Interment will be in Rest Lawn Memorial Park, Cash Valley Road.

Horace Greeley

Among them was Horace Greeley, editor of the New York Tribune, one of the men responsible for effecting Lincoln's nomination in 1860. Lincoln, appreciative of that fact, wrote in November 1861 to a friend in New York, "Mr. Greeley . . . is a great power. Having him firmly behind me is as helpful to me as an army of one hundred thousand men. . . . Tell Gilmore to say to him that, if he ever objects to my policy, I shall be glad to have him state his views to me frankly and fully. I shall adopt his if I can. If I cannot, I will at least tell him why . . ."

Responding to Greeley admonitions in 1862, Lincoln said, ". . . My paramount object in this struggle is to save the Union, and not either to save or destroy slavery. If I could save the Union without freeing a slave, I would do it; and if I could save it by freeing all slaves, I would do it; and if I could free it by freeing some and leaving the others alone, I would also do that . . ."

Later that year, Lincoln was to be persuaded to issue an Emancipation Proclamation, which had the immediate effect of freeing some and leaving others alone, for it was applicable only in areas occupied by the Union troops.

Greeley's criticisms of the Lincoln administration continued. The president remarked wryly in 1863, "While Mr. Horace Greeley means all right, he causes me almost as much trouble as the whole Southern Confederacy."

Injuries Fatal To Tucker County Man

Injuries sustained in an automobile accident Sunday night proved fatal to a 23-year-old Parsons, W. Va., area man who died Monday at University Hospital, Morgantown.

George Keener, of Mackeyville, near Parsons, died of head injuries in the one-car mishap that took place near Newburg, in Preston County.

He was a passenger in an automobile driven by Ronald Hebb, 28, of Parsons. Also a passenger was Keener's sister, Mrs. Juanita Thomas, 20, of RD 1, Hamilton, W. Va.

Hebb and the young woman were admitted to Preston Memorial Hospital in Kingwood. Hebb was released Monday, but the woman was detained for surgery.

Kingwood detachment of the West Virginia State Police said Keener was the sixth highway fatality of the year on Preston County roads.

They said that after the driver lost control of the car, Keener was thrown from the vehicle and landed face down in the middle of a creek.

Born March 28, 1939, in Tucker County, he was a son of John R. and Minnie (Dawson) Keener.

He is survived by his parents; five brothers, Charles Keener, Baltimore, Carl Keener, at home, James Keener, of Hendricks, W. Va., John Keener, Moundsville, and Chester Keener, also at home; three sisters, Mrs. Thomas; Mrs. Mary Taylor, Canfield, Ohio, and Lucille Kenner, at home.

The body was taken to the Greenlief Funeral Home, Parsons.

Former Area Couple, Child Die In Wreck

A former Cresaptown couple and one of their five children were killed Tuesday night in a head-on automobile collision in a Detroit, Mich., suburb.

Dead are Gilbert William Phillips, 31; his wife, Carol Marie (Gerhart) Phillips, and their six-year-old daughter, Jana Marie Phillips.

Critically injured was their six-week-old son, Brian.

The family had been residing in Michigan for about 10 years, and were living at 39316 Superior Street, Romulus, Mich.

The accident occurred about 9 p. m. Tuesday as the family planned to go to Freedom Festival fireworks display. It happened about two miles east of Belleville, Mich., outside Detroit.

The other children in the car, Craig, nine, Bradley, seven, and Tammy, were treated for cuts and bruises at Wayne County (Mich.) General Hospital.

James Shepherd, 23, of Inkster, Mich., driver of the automobile which collided with the Phillips' vehicle, was hospitalized in fair condition.

It was reported that Shepherd, traveling in the opposite direction, had passed another vehicle prior to the collision.

Michael Pratt, Phillips' brother-in-law who lives next door to the family, said young Bradley, who had been sitting in the backseat near Jana when she and their parents were killed, described the accident, saying:

"Daddy hit the brakes and we were stopping. Then there was this crash. Why did that man hit us?"

Phillips had been working for the Minnesota Mining and Milling Company in Wayne.

Besides the four children, he is survived by his father, Aubrey Phillips, of Cresaptown, who has been vacationing in Michigan; three sisters, Mrs. Stewart Michael, city, Mrs. Michael Pratt, Romulus, and Mrs. James Peters, Cresaptown; and a brother, Gerald Phillips, Cresaptown.

A member of Cresaptown Assembly of God Church, Phillips was a native of Vale Summit, and formerly lived at Wrights Crossing, near Frostburg.

His wife, 26, born in Cresaptown in December, 1935, was a daughter of Homer L. and Opal Marie (Hivick) Gerhart.

She was a member of Cresaptown Methodist Church.

Besides her parents and children, she is survived by a sister, Mrs. Vernon Crable, Hyattsville, and a brother, Charles Gerhart, Cresaptown.

The bodies were taken to the Roberts Brothers Funeral Home in Belleville, where a service will be conducted Saturday.

They will be returned to the John J. Hafer Chapel of the Hills Mortuary, U. S. Route 40, where the family will receive friends Sunday from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p. m.

Services will be held Monday at 2 p. m. at the chapel, with Rev. Ruth Cowgill, of Cresaptown Assembly of God Church, and Rev. Albert Ark, of the Springfield, W. Va. Assembly of God Church, officiating.

Interment will be in Rest Lawn Memorial Park, Cash Valley Road.

Capitol Comment

by Rep. Charles Mathias

At the end of the fiscal year the House of Representatives was called upon to act upon the Trade Expansion Program, the long hearlded and much discussed bill advocated by the President and the many segments of the economy to increase and encourage foreign trade. The bill has as its primary feature the delegation to the President of some additional authority to adjust tariffs. This provision, of course, would reduce the protection of certain American-made goods in return for access to foreign markets of other American goods.

On the positive side, this bill contains some new and important guidelines for the exercise of Executive Power in the trading field, and, I think, improves the manner in which the President can utilize his authority. New procedures, such as the pre-negotiation and the negotiation procedures in which we will now have a chief negotiator with the rank of ambassador and a permanent negotiating t eam, will compare favorably with those of other nations. We will continue, in essence, the old approach which goes back to the Smoot-Hawley Tariff Act, but we are moderninzing it and bringing it up to date.

This bill is, of course, not all good. There are some dangerous innovations in the bill, and actually, instead of freeing foreign trade, it could, if improperly administered, become a restrictive instrument. We can hope that neither the President nor his successors in office will allow it to be so administered as to be restrictive of foreign trade. Yet, here is that possibility of perversion.

This bill is also, I think, a danger to the Country in that it has been represented as the "be all and end all" of our foreign trade problems. Actually, we know that it is not. It is just one step which has been taken in the direction of a more vigorous and more rewarding foreign trade. As I commented during the debate, the trade agreements program has been both supported and opposed by many elements of the American business, industrial, and labor communities, but essentially this program is not going to answer all of our problems.

As we debated the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Program, I hoped that my colleagues were not blind to concomitant legislative programs which must accompany it if it is to achieve a fraction of its purpose. I believe very deeply that in addition to the Trade Expansion Program we must have some collection and what might be called "domestic ground rules" in order for American business to compete in world markets. Such changes should include first, a comprehensive reform of our tax structure, second, a realistic depreciation allowance, third, elimination of our inflationary trends and Federal deficits, and fourth, encouragement of private investment in expanding markets of the world.

The decision of the House on the Trade Bill now makes it manditory that we go forward and complete the job by solving these questions if we are going to place American business and industry and labor at an equal position in the market places of the world. The House of Representatives has assumed a very heavy responsibility. Although the Administration sought the enactment of the Trade Bill. I am not sure that it is equipped to go forward and give the other answers that I have just called for, and I believe the Congress must apply these answers in the coming months and years.

Court Probates Wills Of Five

The will of Mrs. Idaline Kline Kamens, who was a resident of the Washington-Lee Apartments at the time of her death June 24, was one of five which have been probated in Allegany County Orphans Court.

Her husband, Benjamin Maurice Kamens, qualified as executor under a $500 bond. Her estate was left equally to her two daughters, Mrs. Ruth Lee Kamens Weberman, Pittsburgh, and Mrs. Helen Sue Kamens Marks, this city. The will was dated April 23.

Mrs. Gwen Newcomer Melown, who was an 85-year-old resident of 731 Gephart Drive at the time of her death June 23, named her daughter, Mrs. Portia Melown Filbert, 3525 Newland Road, Baltimore, as sole beneficiary of her estate under a will dated July 30, 1953. Mrs. Filbert qualified as executrix under a $500 bond.

Another will probated in Orphans Court was the last testament of John R. Meagher, who was an 84-year-old resident of 354 Welsh Hill, Frostburg, at the time of his death June 4. A daughter, Mrs. Leona M. Layman, 207 Center Street, Frostburg, qualified as executrix under a $1,000 bond. The estate was divided into eight equal shares for his eight children under the will dated September 22, 1960.

The will of Charles P. Smith, who was a 67-year-old resident of 319 Beall Street when he died June 9, provided cash bequests for three children and left all the rest of his estate to his widow, Mrs. Iva L. Smith, who qualified as executrix under a $500 bond. This will was dated February 27.

Also probated was the will of Mrs. Emma M. McCoy, who was a 65-year-old resident of 117 Furnace Street when she died May 29. Her son, Andrew G. McCoy, 419 Columbia Street, was the sole beneficiary. He qualified as executor under a $500 bond. The will was dated April 21, 1961.

The average speed of the wind increases with height above ground. In general, the velocity at 33 feet is about twice that at 1½ feet; the speed at 100 feet is 1.2 times that at 33 feet. Friction at the earth's surface reduces wind speed near the ground.

Power Disrupted Following Accident

A truck struck a power pole on Bedford Street between Liberty and Mechanic streets about 10:15 a.m. yesterday and caused a slight disruption of electrical service in the area.

Edward L. Ewald, district manager of Potomac Edison Company, said the impact jarred open a cutout mechanism and service was disrupted until a PE crewman closed the cutoff. Only the immediate area, including City Hall, was affected by the power disruption, he added.

Hopper Derailed At Piedmont

Vehicular traffic at the B&O Railroad crossing in Piedmont was blocked for an hour Wednesday due to the derailment of a loaded coal hopper.

The train stood at the crossing after coming to a stop while B&O officials rerouted an engine from the 17-Mile Grade so that it could pull the back end away from the derailed car.

The cross ties were cut by the hopper's wheels from the crossing to the old B&O station.

George H. Bartik and Adam E. Sterne of the Celanese Fibers Company's Amcelle plant were recently promoted to foreman positions in the maintenance department, according to an announcement by J. D. Underwood, engineering manager.

Bartik is a graduate of Fort Hill High School and was a machinist - millwright chargehand prior to his recent advancement. He is a member of the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars. He is married to the former Othella Sybold of Cumberland, and they have two children.

Sterne is a graduate of Allegany High School, where he was a varsity member of the baseball, basketball and football teams. Former Keyser Man Killed By Lightning In Florida

Kenneth Andrew (Kid) Stanhagen, 52, former professional basketball player from Keyser, was killed Wednesday after being struck by lightning while on a fishing trip with his wife in Florida.

Stanhagen, who has been residing in Gulf Breeze, Fla. for some years was killed instantly when struck by the bolt. He was accompanied by his wife, Mrs. Betty (Bittner) Stanhagen, formerly of Cumberland.

He was a graduate of Keyser High School where he was selected to the All-State Basketball team, and then continued to Greenbrier Military Academy Prep and graduated from Emory and Henry College.

He left the Keyser area in 1932 and went to play professional basketball with a Martinsville, Va., team. After several years with the team he started to work for the DuPont Chemical Company. He was employed by the Chemstram Corporation, branch of DuPont Chemical Company, at the time of his death.

He is the son of the late Mary and Wesley Stanhagen, and besides his widow is survived by his son, John, at home, and a brother, John (Sleepy) Stanhagen, Keyser.

The body will be returned to the Markwood Funeral Home, Keyser, sometime this week, and services will be conducted by Rev. Donald D. Anderson of the Trinity Lutheran Church.

To Hold Event

The Tri-State Traffic Club will hold its annual shrimp feed and "Monte Carlo Night" Wednesday, July 11, at 6:30 p. m. in the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Power Disrupted Following Accident

A truck struck a power pole on Bedford Street between Liberty and Mechanic streets about 10:15 a.m. yesterday and caused a slight disruption of electrical service in the area.

Edward L. Ewald, district manager of Potomac Edison Company, said the impact jarred open a cutout mechanism and service was disrupted until a PE crewman closed the cutoff. Only the immediate area, including City Hall, was affected by the power disruption, he added.

Hopper Derailed At Piedmont

Vehicular traffic at the B&O Railroad crossing in Piedmont was blocked for an hour Wednesday due to the derailment of a loaded coal hopper.

The train stood at the crossing after coming to a stop while B&O officials rerouted an engine from the 17-Mile Grade so that it could pull the back end away from the derailed car.

The cross ties were cut by the hopper's wheels from the crossing to the old B&O station.

Senate Cloakroom

by Sen. J. Glenn Beall

"IN GOD WE TRUST" — This past week I introduced in the United States Senate an Amendment to the Constitution which would permit prayer in public schools. My action followed closely on the heels of the unpopular ruling of the U. S. Supreme Court holding that prayer in our puplic schools violated the Constitutional provision for freedom of religion. If it requires a Constitutional Amendment to make such prayer legally permissible, then I say let us have an amendment. The men who wrote our Constitution would doubteless be stunned at the Court's interpretation of their handiwork, for they were believers in a Supreme Being and in the Holy Bible and most of them were devoutly spiritual men. Our nation is historically and basically a religious nation. Public meetings are customarily opened with a solemn prayer to the Divine. Oaths of public office are taken in the name of God we worship.

Obnoxious as it is, the ruling may be technically correct. It would not be the first time the U. S. Supreme Court has closed its eyes to what is right and just in order to be Constitutionally correct. A few years ago, it ordered the U. S. Government to reinstate Mr. John Service who had been fired for taking sensitive documents from the State Department, photographing them at his home, and delivering the photographs to a Russian agent, solely on the grounds that the damning evidence against Mr. Service had been obtained by illegal wiretapping. Because of the Court's adherence to technicality, we saw Mr. Service continue to operate in various important positions in the State Department, including that of U. S. Consul General in Liverpool, England.

If the Court must adhere to technically — and it appears it must — then, in the case of prayer in public schools, my amendment, if passed by Congress and approved by three-fourths of the States, would relieve the Court of having to decide against a basic American concept of a devout people — a people who even print on their money the motto: "In God We Trust".

LAOS SETTLEMENT: "NEUTRALIST" GOVERNMENT INSTALLED — The U. S. State Department has professed "great satisfaction" over the installation last week of a new provisional government in Laos, a coalition of Communists, pro-Communists and "neutralists". Anti-Communists have no place in the new order. Communists hailed the new turn of events as "a blow to American imperialism".

It's a little difficult to understand why our State Department felt such "great satisfaction", particularly in view of the predominant Communist representation in the so-called coalition and the inevitability of the taking-over by the Communists.

According to the news dispatch, our State Department officials "expressed hope that they can soon begin talks with Prince Souvanna about future United States aid to Laos, which, they added, probably will be in larger amount than in the past." (Oh! Maybe that's why the State Department boys are so satisfied! They do like to give away American dollars.)

FARM BILL DEFEAT: A GOOD SIGN—When the House of Representatives voted down Secretary Freeman's farm bill, most of the nation took a sigh of relief, but Mr. Freeman and others in the Administration cried, "Disaster!" Had the Administration won, farmers would have had an excruciating decision to make in a referendum to follow—the loaded "choice" of accepting quota limits on their sales or else taking sharply reduced price supports with the Government dumping its surpluses on their markets.

Had Mr. Freeman and the Administration won, the Government would have faced very difficult problems of enforcement of the marketing quotas, resulting in bureaucratic expense and widespread opportunity for fraud. The case of Billie Sol Estes, the Texas operator, is but a sample of what can happen when we give a few people the power to decide who gets what. The Administration farm bill which was defeated would have extended this awesome power. As grain storage facilities have been greatly overbuilt, there isn't enough storage business to go around, and so, somebody in the Agriculture Department now decides who gets it—who will be allowed to make money and who goes broke. Secretary Freeman wanted to add dairymen to the system, — and doubtless he will try again. The Administration has patronage and punishment to dispense. I believe it would be dangerous to add one iota to such power to punish or dispense favors, such power to decide who doesn't make money and who does, and how much. When people have to seek favors in order to prosper or even survive, all manner of skulduggery is inevitable.

The price support program was started in the 1930s as a "farmer's tariff" to bolster rural incomes, but it got completely out of hand and tended to become habit-forming. Farmers are now victims, rather than beneficiaries, of the subsidy - and - control program.

Possibly, in the wake of the defeat in the House, Congress will become willing to consider some gradual working down of the price - support levels — gradual withdrawing or reducing subsidies and letting markets begin to find their own levels. The negative vote in the House may be the signal that the country is in a mood to consider lifting the foot off the accelerator pedal, a little at a time, and seeing if the nation's agriculture machine will not settle into a reasonable speed without stalling.

A "second-try" farm bill without the expansion features, merely extending for one year the present voluntary programs, would no doubt pass. Then, we could start making careful plans for a gradual withdrawing of the onerous program.

DEFENSE CONTRACTS: RE-DISTRIBUTION — A major shift in the geographical distribution of Defense contracts has been announced by the Pentagon. California and the Eastern seaboard States from Massachusetts to Maryland will gain by the shift. Mid-western States will be the losers. "Revolutionary changes in weaponry" are held partially responsible for the redistribution. Formerly, mass production of tanks, ammunition and other conventional weapons made up the bulk of war orders, while today there is great emphasis on research and development of more sophisticated arms and production of fewer, but more costly, units of missiles and electronics. It was pointed out that California and Maryland and the other Eastern seaboard States now hold 71% of all military research and development contracts, and thus are in an "exceptionally strong position" for new production orders.

DISARMAMENT: "WHY NOT TRY IT?" — I think my correspondent is pulling my leg, but what she writes is a pretty good analogy of the disarmament problem:

"Dear Senator Beall:—I suggest that before committing our nation to total disarmament, it be tried on a limited scale—perhaps in Washington, D. C. All law enforcement agencies could be disarmed, and the unlawful elements asked to abide by the rules and then trusted not to use their weapons. If this small scale operation proved successful over a period of months, it could then be tried on a national scale. If still successful in the experiment, we could logically proceed to a world-

THOMAS, W. Va.—Mrs. Bertha Nordeck, 67, wife of John W. Nordeck, died yesterday evening in Tucker County Hospital at Parsons after a long illness.

Born in Mineral County, she was a daughter of the late John W. and Alice P. (Mott) Duncan. Mrs. Nordeck was a member of Thomas Methodist Church and the WSCS of the church.

Also surviving are a brother, J. D. D. Duncan of Parsons, and a number of nieces and nephews.

The body is at the Duncan Funeral Home where services will be conducted Sunday at 2 p.m. Burial will be in Rose Hill Cemetery.

Youth Hurt In Accident

Peter Hungkerford, 17, of Dayton (Md.), was seriously injured Tuesday in an auto accident in Hampshire County, W. Va.

He was admitted to Hampshire Memorial Hospital, Romney, where attaches report his condition as "fair." The youth suffered head injuries, including a concussion, and he was reported unconscious for four hours after being admitted.

The accident occurred on U. S. Route 50, about four miles west of Romney near the entrance to Mechanicsburg Gap.

Hungkerford was a passenger in a car operated by Louis Randall Jones, 16, of Glen Elg, Md. He and another passenger, David Hunt, 20, of Philippi, W. Va., sustained only minor injuries in the mishap.

West Virginia State Trooper John Leeson, who investigated, said Jones apparently lost control of his vehicle while rounding a curve. The car ran into a ditch alongside the roadway and sideswiped a tree.

The top of the car was "peeled" back onto the trunk portion of the vehicle, Trooper Leeson said.

Four passengers in Brown's car were hurt. The truck overturned as driver Horace Burdette Jr., 50, Akron, Ohio, tried to avoid the collision, but he was not injured.

Police said Brown, who worked in Chicago, evidently fell asleep.

Mathias Welcomes JFK To Frederick County

Rep. Charles McC. Mathias Jr., Maryland's only Republican Congressman, formally welcomed President and Mrs. Kennedy to Camp David, the Presidential retreat in Mr. Mathias' home county, for the Independence Day holiday.

Mr. Mathias delivered this letter to Camp David on the Fourth of July:

Dear Mr. President,

On the 186th anniversary of the Independence of the United States of America it is a pleasure to welcome you to Frederick County and to the Sixth Congressional District of Maryland.

In coming, as you have today, from the State House in Philadelphia, to Western Maryland you have retraced the footsteps of many patriots who made liberty their creed, freedom their cause and independence their goal. Even today it would be difficult to find citizens of America more jealous of individualism and more conscious of personal responsibility for the preservation of freedom than the people of Western Maryland. To a remarkable degree, we have preserved the Revolutionary endowment.

To have conserved these principles is natural, since they are our common inheritance. Eleven years before the Declaration of Independence our court repudiated the Stamp Act. Our representatives in the Congress were the leaders who, like Governor Thomas Johnson, nominated George Washington for command of the Army and, like John Hanson, were chosen President. Our Revolutionary soldiers fought on every battlefield from Boston to Charleston, Catoctin Furnace, almost within sight of Camp David, forged tools for the fight for freedom.

It is, therefore, more than a happy chance that you and Mrs. Kennedy are here on Independence Day. Our District is singularly identified with the Revolutionary struggle for independence. Surely the mountain nymph, Sweet Liberty, has long been familiar in the hills and mountains of Western Maryland.

Mrs. Mathias and our sons Charlie and Rob join me and all the people of the Sixth Congressional District of Maryland in hoping that you and your family have a pleasant and relaxing stay at Camp David.

Sincerely yours,
Charles McC. Mathias, Jr.
Member of Congress

Taylor Co. Sheriff Becomes Marshal

GRAFTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Taylor County Sheriff John L. Linn has resigned his post to become new deputy U. S. marshal for the northern district of West Virginia.

Linn, elected sheriff in 1960, will be sworn in at Fairmont July 16.

The sheriff will fill a vacancy that has remained open since 1960 when deputy Fax Murphy of Philippi was killed in an automobile accident.

WVU Gets Grant

WASHINGTON (UPI) — West Virginia University has received a $9,717 grant from the National Science Foundation to help meet needs in science.

The grant, to be used at the discretion of the university, was among $3.73 million in awards by the Foundation to 302 colleges and universities to strengthen their ability to increase scientific knowledge and educate scientists and engineers.

Auxiliary To Meet

Wanted: Mayor For Morgantown

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI) — An attempt was made last Tuesday night by the Morgantown City Council to elect a new mayor but both nominees, G. Cliff Hough and Charles W. Blissitt, failed to receive the necessary majority vote after three ballots.

The failure to reach a majority decision marked the first time since 1958, when Hough was elected to his third term as mayor, that such a stalemate had occurred in the City Council. It took three weeks to reach a decision in that instance.

The Council will try again next week to come to a decision between the two candidates.

New Steel Mill Opens Next Week

PITTSBURGH (AP) — National Steel Corp. said Thursday it will open the industry's first facility built primarily for the production of lightweight tin plate next week at Weirton, W. Va.

The company's Weirton Steel division will operate the plant.

National said the facility will have a two-stand tandem cold reduction mill capable of rolling 60,000-pound coils 45 inches wide at a speed of 5,000 feet a minute.

Coils are cold rolled twice to reduce the strip steel to approximately one-half the original thickness and twice the original length, then tin-plated electrolytically, a spokesman said.

Sen. Randolph Asks Income Tax Hike

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Jennings Randolph, calling on Congress to face the issue of tax reduction now, spoke out Thursday for a temporary increase in income tax rates.

Randolph said that proposals to delay the issue until 1963 represent "the timid approach and it may be the too-late approach."

However, the West Virginia Democrat said that if tax rates are cut now or even Jan. 1, the reduction should be temporary "with an early fixed date for automatic restoration of higher rates."

Supper Is Planned

WESTERNPORT—Victory Unit 155, American Legion Auxiliary, will hold a covered dish supper at an outdoor meeting Tuesday, July 10, at the cabin of Mrs. Clarence Fazenbaker, Deep Creek Lake. Cars will leave at 5:30 p. m. from the Legion Home.

W. Va. Democrats Pick Court Nominee Today

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Democratic leaders are scheduled to meet Friday at each of the state's 353 magisterial districts to select delegates to the Aug. 18 convention here for the purpose of selecting a nominee for the State Supreme Court.

Republicans were scheduled to hold their magisterial district meetings any time before July 21, with one delegate to be named for every 173 votes cast for Harold E. Neely for governor two years ago. The Republican convention will be held here Aug. 11.

Arrangements for the conventions were made here last June 9 by the state executive committees of the two parties. Voters will select one of the two nominees to the Supreme Court at the November election.

Democrats will name one delegate for every 159 votes cast in the district for Gov. W. W. Barron in 1960.

Each district will be entitled to send at least one delegate, and if each fulfills its quota—which is not considered likely—the Republicans will have 2,200 and the Democrats 2,803 delegates.

Democrats are expected to select Fred H. Caplan, of Charleston and Clarksburg, who was given an interim appointment on the court following the death last May 11 of Judge Leslie E. Given.

Among those mentioned as possible Republican nominees were Chapman Revercomb and Elizabeth Hallanan, both of Charleston; James McClure, Wheeling, Rupert A. Sinsel, Clarksburg; Harry E. Moats, Harrisville, and jhale J. Posten, Morgantown.

Youth Hurt In Accident

Peter Hungkerford, 17, of Dayton (Md.), was seriously injured Tuesday in an auto accident in Hampshire County, W. Va.

He was admitted to Hampshire Memorial Hospital, Romney, where attaches report his condition as "fair." The youth suffered head injuries, including a concussion, and he was reported unconscious for four hours after being admitted.

The accident occurred on U. S. Route 50, about four miles west of Romney near the entrance to Mechanicsburg Gap.

Hungkerford was a passenger in a car operated by Louis Randall Jones, 16, of Glen Elg, Md. He and another passenger, David Hunt, 20, of Philippi, W. Va., sustained only minor injuries in the mishap.

West Virginia State Trooper John Leeson, who investigated, said Jones apparently lost control of his vehicle while rounding a curve. The car ran into a ditch alongside the roadway and sideswiped a tree.

The top of the car was "peeled" back onto the trunk portion of the vehicle, Trooper Leeson said.

Mathias Welcomes JFK To Frederick County

Rep. Charles McC. Mathias Jr., Maryland's only Republican Congressman, formally welcomed President and Mrs. Kennedy to Camp David, the Presidential retreat in Mr. Mathias' home county, for the Independence Day holiday.

Mr. Mathias delivered this letter to Camp David on the Fourth of July:

Dear Mr. President,

On the 186th anniversary of the Independence of the United States of America it is a pleasure to welcome you to Frederick County and to the Sixth Congressional District of Maryland.

In coming, as you have today, from the State House in Philadelphia, to Western Maryland you have retraced the footsteps of many patriots who made liberty their creed, freedom their cause and independence their goal. Even today it would be difficult to find citizens of America more jealous of individualism and more conscious of personal responsibility for the preservation of freedom than the people of Western Maryland. To a remarkable degree, we have preserved the Revolutionary endowment.

To have conserved these principles is natural, since they are our common inheritance. Eleven years before the Declaration of Independence our court repudiated the Stamp Act. Our representatives in the Congress were the leaders who, like Governor Thomas Johnson, nominated George Washington for command of the Army and, like John Hanson, were chosen President. Our Revolutionary soldiers fought on every battlefield from Boston to Charleston, Catoctin Furnace, almost within sight of Camp David, forged tools for the fight for freedom.

It is, therefore, more than a happy chance that you and Mrs. Kennedy are here on Independence Day. Our District is singularly identified with the Revolutionary struggle for independence. Surely the mountain nymph, Sweet Liberty, has long been familiar in the hills and mountains of Western Maryland.

Mrs. Mathias and our sons Charlie and Rob join me and all the people of the Sixth Congressional District of Maryland in hoping that you and your family have a pleasant and relaxing stay at Camp David.

Sincerely yours,
Charles McC. Mathias, Jr.
Member of Congress

Is Capitalism A Capital Crime?

Capital punishment, which is being less frequently resorted to in the free world than formerly, has become a major weapon of internal control in the Communist empire. The outrageous murders by the Castro regime set the stage for world awareness of the cheapness of human life under Communism, but even the Cuban executions are being surpassed by the Communist headquarters country.

Russian firing squads are busy again. The Kremlin is not having trouble with counter-revolutionaries. It is troubled by capitalist-minded venturesome citizens who have never lived under a free economic system, but who recognize the obvious inefficiencies of the Russian system.

Daily reports filter through to the West of death sentences and executions for "economic crimes" in the Soviet Union. These crimes consist of such errors as currency speculation and the selling of commodities on the open market.

Among the more recent death sentences were those neted out to a man operating a private cosmetics business and to several persons selling apples on the streets at whatever prices the consumers would pay.

At least 225 persons are known to have been sentenced to death for such crimes in the Soviet Union within the last year. Appeals have been made by several American organizations to UN Secretary General U Thant and Premier Khrushchev to stop such barbarous actions, but to no avail.

For a country which once boasted of leaving capitalist societies behind by abolishing the death penalty, the Soviet Union has attached a strange importance to the crimes for which it now executes its citizens.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Political Months

Unfortunately, time, tides and politics wait for no man. The entire House of Representatives, a third of the Senate or more, and a number of Governors will be elected in 1962. The political campaign has already started and bothers aspirants more than great affairs. The Kennedy Administration must concern itself with this political situation, for should the next Congress be Republican, it might be very embarrassing.

When a President is popular, it is generally assumed that he is brilliant, little short of a genius. When his popularity begins to wane, he is regarded as a fine person surrounded by crooks, nincompoops, if not idiots. When his popularity is gone, he is presumed to be a fool. But he is the same man whose IQ was indicative of genius. The answer to this paradox really is that the President is what he always was; two years in the White House does not change fundamental character.

Even his best friends must admit that President Kennedy's popularity has suffered severely since May 28. The President did manage to overcome the worst effects of the Cuban fiasco. In spite of all the indignation aroused over the Battle of the Bay of Pigs, President Kennedy was not blamed as much as the CIA and Allen Dulles was permitted to resign.

The steel imbroglio and the stock market debacle did hurt the President. These events gave the impression that the President did not understand the economy of the country, that he was badly advised and that the businessmen whom he consulted were not representative. This criticism could be made of any President who must depend upon experts and advisors of his own choice.

I never measure a man's abilities by his advisors because, first of all, each man is responsible for his own actions, and secondly, one never really knows whose advice is taken. The simple fact is that whoever loses his own money is sore, particularly when he believes that the President could have taken some actions to save him. About 17,000,000 Americans have lost considerable money since May 28 and all of them are annoyed that the President did not intervene to rescue them.

The impression among working businessmen is that this Administration is tougher on business than the Roosevelt, Truman or Eisenhower Administrations were. Certainly, the last years of the Eisenhower Administration were years of numerous anti-trust suits.

However, the business community believes that the Kennedy Administration is anti-business; that the Attorney General's office is particularly unfriendly; and that local prosecuting attorneys engage in entrapments and offers of immunity to improper persons with a view to catching bigger fish.

I do not hold to the view that Robert Kennedy is that sort of person, but as long as businessmen feel that local prosecuting attorneys commit injustices in order to entrap businessmen, they grow antagonistic to the one person in the Administration who can help them.

The Republicans suffer from having no platform and few personalities. Since the Eisenhower Administration, only Senator Barry Goldwater has emerged as a new Presidential possibility. The old names, Nixon and Rockefeller, are not especially inspiring. But much depends upon the 1962 Congressional elections. If the people vote in a Republican Congress, many candidates will appear for the 1964 Presidential election. That is the way of men.

In this country, most of the people are neither Liberal nor Conservative. They are just people and they vote by their likes and dislikes about men. Often history has shown they vote badly, but they always vote according to their own private interests. It is not to be expected that men and women will vote against what they believe to be their private interests. Americans do not live by theories; they are not ideologically bound. Their interests are basically their family and its welfare. Local politicians know this well. They keep their ears close to the ground and when they hear rumblings, they do something about it.

In our country, government cannot separate itself from the people. No matter what the experts say about a situation, it must be translated into votes every second year. And the President must realize that the rumbling now is about the men who surround him. We are coming too close to the 1962 Congressional elections for ambiguities to stand in the way of hard action.

Marine Corps General Sends Plane On Special Flight For Three Dogs

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—A Marine Corps general recently ordered a special airplane to fly three dogs, in style, from Hawaii to the California coast at the taxpayers' expense.

"The Canine Carpet," as the plane has been renamed by grounded enlisted personnel, was arranged by Lt. Gen. Alan Shapely, the Marine Corps commander in the Pacific, who expects to retire soon and wanted to transport his two pet sheltie dogs back to the mainland.

For this purpose he commandeered an R5D Skymaster transport plane, which is de luxe transportation indeed for dogs.

The third canine passenger, a pet belonging to Maj. E. A. Pollack, happened to be going in the same direction. Since there was plenty of room aboard, General Shapely decided his two dogs could share the plane, which flew from the Kaneohe Marine Air Station to San Francisco.

A Marine Corps spokesman claimed the big plane had to fly to the coast anyway on a routine training mission. He also pointed out that the plane had carried "general cargo" in addition to the dogs.

But other Marines, with less interest in protecting the reputation of a three-star general, reported to the contrary. They had facts to prove that the flight was ordered for the specific purpose of hauling the general's pet pooches.

Junkets To Sugarland

If you want to see why the new Dominican Republic has threatened to pull out of the Alliance for Progress, take a look at the list of Congressmen who went to the Dominican Republic when Dictator Trujillo was in power and what Trujillo got following the junkets. Then compare what some of these same Congressmen voted to give the new Democratic Dominican Republic after Trujillo was killed.

When you add up the score you can understand why the pro-Democratic Dominicans are sore. Their conclusion is that it pays for a dictator to invite Congressmen on free junkets.

Here is why they think so:

After Dictator Trujillo was assassinated following 30 years of bloody rule, President Kennedy increased the Dominican sugar quota, giving it part of the quota which he took away from Fidel Castro. Wanting to encourage democracy in the Dominican Republic, he gave it 476,000 tons for the first half of 1962.

Kennedy at that time had the power to do this. But with the current writing of a new sugar act, the House Agriculture Committee took over the power of allocation to the Dominican Republic and reduced the additional quota to zero. The Dominican Republic still gets its former basic quota of 96,000 tons which it received before the days of Fidel Castro and before the death of Trujillo. But the extra quota given it by Kennedy was wiped out.

Rollcall Of Trujillo's Guests

And what interests Latin Americans is the make-up of the House Agriculture Committee which leaned against helping democracy in the Dominican Republic. Chairman of that committee is Harold Cooley, Dem., N.C., whose sister, Mrs. Mabel Downey, with his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Cooley, were once guests of Dictator Trujillo on a ritzy free junket.

The ranking Democrat on that committee is W. R. Poage of Texas, who, with his wife, also went on the same junket; together with high-ranking Tom Abernathy of Mississippi, plus his wife and two children; also Pat Jennings, Dem., Va., with his wife.

They flew in a chartered Pan American clipper to Trujillo City—now renamed Santa Domingo—were entertained at the Hotel Jaragua, toured the island in style, stopped at such places as Boca Chica, a fancy seaside resort, Hotel Hamaca, an exclusive beachclub hotel located on a natural lagoon three miles long. They were wined and dined by everyone from Trujillo down, and whisked around the island in an 18-car caravan with police escort.

Later, after Trujillo was adjudged guilty of trying to assassinate President Betancourt of Venezuela, the Organization of American States passed a resolution asking all American nations to break relations with Trujillo. The State Department did so. It also asked congress to reduce Trujillo's sugar quota. But, believe it or not, the House Agriculture Committee, some of whose members had junketed at Trujillo's expense, voted to increase Trujillo's sugar quota instead.

And now that he is dead, the same committee voted not to follow Kennedy's lead in helping his democratic successors.

Western Notebook

It was exactly 100 years ago this month that Abraham Lincoln signed the original Land-Grant College Act, establishing the so-called "cow colleges." Lincoln overcame the same opposition that is still raised against federal aid to education—namely, that it would infringe upon states' rights, invite federal control of education, and boost the federal budget. . . . Thanks largely to Lincoln's foresight, the cost of a college education was put within reach of the average family without any of the predicted evils. . . . Only one youth in hundreds could afford to attend college in Lincoln's day. Now almost one-third of the college-age youth are enrolled. . . . But by 1970, educators warn, college enrollment must double if today's youngsters are to get the same chance at college as their parents had. This means that college financing must also double. Yet the House killed President Kennedy's proposal for federally finance college scholarships. . . . Utah Sen. Wallace Bennett is a master of political double-talk. He has convinced the home folks that he is a champion both of federal water projects and fiscal economy. He voted for the Colorado River storage projects to demonstrate his loyalty to Western reclamation. Then he voted against the appropriations to pay for these projects to demonstrate his concern for economy.

Moss Gardening Way Out Of Easy-Going Leisure

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

Leisure, one is told, is the big new thing in American life. A professor has written a book rather strongly approving leisure. Magazines are devoting sections to leisure and its uses, some of which seem to be very odd indeed.

But if you are an old-fashioned American, dedicated to productive toil and suspicious of easy going leisure, a way out can still be recommended to you. Start a moss garden.

As far as can be discovered, the experiment is a novel one in this country. A learned Japanese, writing on moss gardening for a recent Journal of Economic Botany, was unable to find a record of more than one American moss garden. It flourished on one of the great Long Island estates of the 1920's, and it probably dried up pretty rapidly, which is fatal for moss gardens, after the stock market crash of 1929.

Yet ignorance and necessity, in combination, are great promoters of experimentation. In this case, moreover, the spur of necessity and the boldness of ignorance were reinforced by the prod of memory. The most memorably beautiful garden in the world, and one of the oldest, beyond doubt, belongs to the Moss Temple outside Kyoto. Surely art and nature together have never contrived anything to surpass that carpet of a hundred different mosses, glowing in the green shade of the great trees, masking the water-lapped rocks, even creeping up the sun-flecked hillside.

Between the Moss Temple's immemorial glades, and a sunless, airless pit about 10 by 18 feet, there was only one connection, but that a strong one. On the architect's blueprints, the pit had been optimistically described as a "planting area"; but if planted, very little seemed likely to grow there except moss. The questions remained, how to get moss, and, once gotten how to plant it.

These questions were briskly answered by Mrs. Donald, the single-handed creator of the fern valley at the National Arboretum. You get moss, it turns out, by going into the countryside and digging it up. And you plant it, with widely varying results, by preparing the kind of soil that is hostile to most other kinds of growth; by muddying the soil's surface to an almost soupy consistency; and by patting the moss-clumps into this semi-soup. After that, you hope for the best.

In a moss garden, to be sure, you need something more than moss; but where moss is comfortable, the plants of the American woodlands are pretty comfortable too. The wild azalea for high growth; blood-root and trout-lily, oconee bells, solomon's seal, and hepatica for the mid-level; and partridge berry and wintergreen to interpenetrate the moss-carpet—all these are at home with mosses. So are the ferns, in all their wonderful variety, from the lordly royal fern to the infinitely delicate maidenhair spleenwort.

For a moss-garden, finally, you need a place like that pit of a "planting area," which will never become a passageway for large, carelessly trampling feet. And you need a sprinkler system, to give your mosses 10 or 15 minutes of misty spray on every second day, except in wet weather. These practical requirements were easy to meet; and the rest was done with the help of Mrs. Donald.

The result, it must be added, is remarkably unlike the marvel of the Moss Temple. It lacks majesty and mystery. It is neither splendid nor romantic. It is a garden to be looked at inch by inch, like those dish gardens nature-minded children used to make, in the old days when children did other things besides look at television.

In fact, the first thing a beginning moss gardener discovers is that his experiment positively demands to be looked at inch by inch, and almost every day. The point is that weeds are just as eager to flourish among mosses as anywhere else. Furthermore, if a weed seedling attains more than the most microscopic size, it cannot be extracted without bringing with it a large chunk of the moss carpet. Hence a serious moss gardener's almost permanent posture is a deep crouch. And this is why moss gardening is an easy way out, if you are threatened with an excess of easy-going leisure.

All the same, the rewards can be considerable. After a shriveled-looking start, that moss which grew in emerald green-velvet clumps along a shady streamside regains its true emerald velvetyness. That other moss, which resembles a heavy blue-green plush, begins to be at home beneath the maidenhair spleenwort's fragile fronds.

The moss carpet, in sum, begins to form. And so you begin to feel you have accomplished something not often accomplished, except in Japan, where moss gardeners are numerous enough to gather in clubs, to share their hobby with many a gentle, enthusiastic hiss, Good Luck to them!

FAVORITE BILLS — The Kennedy vs. Business argument is having repercussions on Kennedy's legislative program on Capitol Hill. As the economic crisis deepens, some of his most dearly espoused proposals fall further into jeopardy.

Medical aid, already in serious trouble in Congress, is being hurt further by arguments that there shouldn't be another social security tax drain on the nation at this time. Opponents also contend that it is no time to embark on new social welfare programs — but so far they say this privately for fear of antagonizing the sizable voting bloc of the elderly.

The Kennedy tax reform measure is in serious trouble in the Senate where there's formidable opposition to the proposed withholding tax on bank interest and dividends. The argument's the same — don't take more money out of the spending stream at a time when consumer purchasing power should be enhanced rather than constricted.

The Foreign Trade liberalization measure, apparently still has smooth sailing, although it would drastically reduce tariff barriers and increase foreign imports. The administration has done a good job in convincing a large segment of business that it has more to gain than to lose through the opening of new foreign markets for American products.

But if the economy should slip appreciably opposition to the new trade bill will get bolder. They'll pick up support from many industries that would prefer to protect their domestic markets rather than gamble on the opening of new foreign ones.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

The Boss lounged deep in his chair. The bottle green suit and the long crossed legs made him look like a sporty grasshopper. He was 80. No one cared. Forty years ago, thousands of voters would have stood in line to congratulate him on his birthday. Now, only old Charlie McDermott made the pilgrimage.

The Boss was at his summer palace. Normally, the place was full of butlers and maids. In honor of his 80th anniversary, the Boss had given all hands the day off. He could afford to be generous. He had outlived all his enemies and all his friends. He had even outlived his conscience although, like a good gambler, he donated money to all churches in case one of them should turn out to be right.

Old Charlie sat straight in his white wrought iron chair. He had always been at attention in the presence of the Boss and he would not relax now. In the old days, Charlie had been the boss's bag man; all payoffs went through his hands. McDermott had, in fact, become wealthy on the three percent he was permitted to keep.

He studied the old man surreptitiously, as they talked about the good old days. Charlie had to admit that the Boss looked good. Two years ago, he had retired from politics — ex-alderman, ex-mayor, ex-state leader. When he quit, his eyes looked like a pair of poached blueberries. Today he looked like a lord of the manor.

"The best move we ever made," the boss said in his whiskey rasp, "was to hit all the public employees with a two percent campaign contribution. You know what that did, Charlie? It took us out of county politics and put us in the state house."

"We're out of it," Charlie said, "and good riddance. I must have lied to a dozen grand juries in my time, God forgive me." The Boss laughed and his Adam's apple bobbed in rhythm. "They're all gone now," Charlie McDermott said. "Greer and Rubin and Paccoli and all the rest. All in the grave."

The Boss used a bad word. "That's what I think of them," he said. "They were out to get me every inch of the way. From 1920 until 1960 they did nothing but ask questions and make statements to the press. I was a menace to decent society; a crook; they even called me names I had to look up in the dictionary."

McDermott chuckled. "Well, Boss," he said, "it's all over now and we're entitled to a few years of relaxation." The Boss studied the round tomato face of his old friend. "You still play the ponies, Charlie? I always thought they were worse than booze and women."

"A little," Charlie said sheepishly. "I go to the track now and then." The Boss lifted a glass of iced tea from the table. "What the hell," he said. "You're betting undeclared income anyway. You never paid any income tax, did you, Charlie?"

"I paid on my salary as alderman," McDermott said righteously.

"Oh sure," the Boss said. "And I paid on my public income too. But that's peanuts. I don't think I ever earned more than 20 thousand a year." Charlie shrugged. "For a kid from the tenements, even that isn't bad."

"I pay my help more than that," the Boss said. He stood, and this was a signal for Charlie to stand too. The Boss walked around the enclosed, air-conditioned porch. He called it stretching his legs. After a few moments, he said: "Come on inside, Charlie, and we'll play a little pinochle. I haven't had a good time in 10 years."

They went inside, two old men trying to work up a little interest in life, and the Boss got the cards, filled out some more iced tea, set the glasses on coaster doilies, and began to deal. "Yes sir," he said, more to himself than to McDermott, "we licked them all and we licked them good. I always got a kick out of thrashing a wise guy and when I had him down, I kicked his brains out."

The front door bell rang. The Boss said he'd answer it. He walked through the plush game room and into the ornate living room with its oil paintings and out into the circular foyer to the front door. He was gone a few minutes, and Charlie McDermott used the time to study the game board, roulette wheel and an assortment of deep leather chairs.

The Boss had indeed come a long way. Charlie stopped looking when he heard the footsteps and began to study his cards. "What do you think?" the Boss said. "It was a kid. A little girl. Couldn't be more than nine." Charlie pushed the tea to one side. "What did she want?" he said. The Boss snorted. "She was selling chances on a car for a buck."

McDermott framed his question with his eyes. "Oh no," the Boss said. "I told the kid nothing doing. It's against the law." . . .

Hair Styles Add Another Irritant To Air

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Modern man is exposed to many chemicals, dusts, pollens, molds, and other pollutants. The fancy—if not weird—hard styles of today have added another agent to the growing list of irritants — the hair spray. The particles are small enough to be inhaled and, at present, are viewed with suspicion as the cause of a 4-year-old malady, thesaurosis (storage disease).

In all fairness to the hair spray, we must say there is no chemical proof that the contents are responsible for this lung condition. The spray has been used by millions yet only a dozen cases have been reported. Many of these women used the product as often as 15 times daily. Thus they inhaled significant amounts of the chemical.

The lungs are able to cope with most of the noxious agents we inhale. But various disorders are traced to specific offenders, especially among workers in certain industries. Most dust particles are engulfed by scavenger cells in the lining of the bronchi and air sacs. Coal particles, for example, are picked up in this way and are deposited in the lymph glands of the chest. The lungs are stained and look dirty but, despite appearances, function well.

The real disease producers are the noxious substances that continue to irritate lung tissues after being picked up by the scavenger cells. They include quartz, asbestos, beryllium, molds, spores, sugar cane, dust, and fumes. The individual is crippled by a reduction in the air capacity and flexibility of the lungs.

But this does not happen in thesaurosis. According to Dr. Martin Bergmann and his colleagues, writing in the New England Journal of Medicine, the victims had no chest symptoms except a slight cough. The typical finds were noted in the chest X-ray and in the glands removed from the upper chest. Most of these women improved rapidly after they stopped the hair spray.

If the preparation is used frequently, it may be a good idea to wear a mask and turn on the exhaust fan to remove the particles from the air.

FINGER SENSES

J. W. writes: I've heard from a supposedly reliable source that our fingers and toes have nerve endings that represent the five senses: The index finger for sight, the second for hearing, etc. My son says this is impossible because a person who loses fingers or toes would not lose his five senses. Please settle this dispute.

REPLY

You have a smart son. Many people point with the index finger but I've never known one to see. While the fingers have nothing to do with taste, hearing, or smelling, they are good feelers and can tell hot from cold, a pin from a match, and cacti from cotton.

POLIO SHOTS

M. R. writes: I have received one shot of polio vaccine and wonder if I should take the others.

REPLY

Yes. The Salk polio vaccine is recommended for those who have had these injections until the oral vaccine becomes so plentiful it will be available to all.

SLOW HEALING WOUNDS

D. E. L. writes: Why does it take weeks for bruises and scratches, particularly on the legs, to heal? I'm 29. Could this mean a vitamin shortage?

REPLY

No. Some persons heal faster than others, depending upon the circulation and over-all nutrition of the tissues.

STOOP SHOULDERED

J. R. writes: I am 25 but feel 70 because of stooped shoulders. How can this disorder be corrected?

REPLY

Concentrate on keeping the head high and the shoulders back when walking, sitting, and standing. It is worth trying but you may need a planned muscle building program.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

A TV tour of New York City was scheduled for shooting early one morning, with the first scene to be taken from the center of the George Washington Bridge. The cameraman picked that morning to oversleep. When he awakened, he took one look at the clock, threw a coat over his pajamas and dashed out of the house. "The George Washington Bridge, and hurry," he implored a taxi driver. "New York end or Jersey end?" asked the driver. "Neither," said the cameraman. "I've got to get to the center of the bridge." The driver took a quick look at his fare's anguished face and peculiar attire, and shoved him out of the cab. "You don't need a driver, Buddy," he announced. "You need a psychiatrist!"

In Kentucky, a harassed motorist kept looking in his rearview mirror, wondering why a light truck was tailing him so persistently. He finally alighted to discoverd that the truck had no driver, and had been hooked to his rear bumper since he had backed into a parking space 100 miles away in Cincinnati.

Six-year-old Jeremy got one thing out of his first history lesson. "It's lucky for us somebody discovered America," he told his mother, "otherwise we'd still be Indians."

Is Capitalism A Capital Crime?

Capital punishment, which is being less frequently resorted to in the free world than formerly, has become a major weapon of internal control in the Communist empire. The outrageous murders by the Castro regime set the stage for world awareness of the cheapness of human life under Communism, but even the Cuban executions are being surpassed by the Communist headquarters country.

Russian firing squads are busy again. The Kremlin is not having trouble with counter-revolutionaries. It is troubled by capitalist-minded venturesome citizens who have never lived under a free economic system, but who recognize the obvious inefficiencies of the Russian system.

Daily reports filter through to the West of death sentences and executions for "economic crimes" in the Soviet Union. These crimes consist of such errors as currency speculation and the selling of commodities on the open market.

Among the more recent death sentences were those neted out to a man operating a private cosmetics business and to several persons selling apples on the streets at whatever prices the consumers would pay.

At least 225 persons are known to have been sentenced to death for such crimes in the Soviet Union within the last year. Appeals have been made by several American organizations to UN Secretary General U Thant and Premier Khrushchev to stop such barbarous actions, but to no avail.

For a country which once boasted of leaving capitalist societies behind by abolishing the death penalty, the Soviet Union has attached a strange importance to the crimes for which it now executes its citizens.

These Days

The Political Months

Unfortunately, time, tides and politics wait for no man. The entire House of Representatives, a third of the Senate or more, and a number of Governors will be elected in 1962. The political campaign has already started and bothers aspirants more than great affairs. The Kennedy Administration must concern itself with this political situation, for should the next Congress be Republican, it might be very embarrassing.

When a President is popular, it is generally assumed that he is brilliant, little short of a genius. When his popularity begins to wane, he is regarded as a fine person surrounded by crooks, nincompoops, if not idiots. When his popularity is gone, he is presumed to be a fool. But he is the same man whose IQ was indicative of genius. The answer to this paradox really is that the President is what he always was; two years in the White House does not change fundamental character.

Even his best friends must admit that President Kennedy's popularity has suffered severely since May 28. The President did manage to overcome the worst effects of the Cuban fiasco. In spite of all the indignation aroused over the Battle of the Bay of Pigs, President Kennedy was not blamed as much as the CIA and Allen Dulles was permitted to resign.

The steel imbroglio and the stock market debacle did hurt the President. These events gave the impression that the President did not understand the economy of the country, that he was badly advised and that the businessmen whom he consulted were not representative. This criticism could be made of any President who must depend upon experts and advisors of his own choice.

I never measure a man's abilities by his advisors because, first of all, each man is responsible for his own actions, and secondly, one never really knows whose advice is taken. The simple fact is that whoever loses his own money is sore, particularly when he believes that the President could have taken some actions to save him. About 17,000,000 Americans have lost considerable money since May 28 and all of them are annoyed that the President did not intervene to rescue them.

The impression among working businessmen is that this Administration is tougher on business than the Roosevelt, Truman or Eisenhower Administrations were. Certainly, the last years of the Eisenhower Administration were years of numerous anti-trust suits.

However, the business community believes that the Kennedy Administration is anti-business; that the Attorney General's office is particularly unfriendly; and that local prosecuting attorneys engage in entrapments and offers of immunity to improper persons with a view to catching bigger fish.

I do not hold to the view that Robert Kennedy is that sort of person, but as long as businessmen feel that local prosecuting attorneys commit injustices in order to entrap businessmen, they grow antagonistic to the one person in the Administration who can help them.

The Republicans suffer from having no platform and few personalities. Since the Eisenhower Administration, only Senator Barry Goldwater has emerged as a new Presidential possibility. The old names, Nixon and Rockefeller, are not especially inspiring. But much depends upon the 1962 Congressional elections. If the people vote in a Republican Congress, many candidates will appear for the 1964 Presidential election. That is the way of men.

In this country, most of the people are neither Liberal nor Conservative. They are just people and they vote by their likes and dislikes about men. Often history has shown they vote badly, but they always vote according to their own private interests. It is not to be expected that men and women will vote against what they believe to be their private interests. Americans do not live by theories; they are not ideologically bound. Their interests are basically their family and its welfare. Local politicians know this well. They keep their ears close to the ground and when they hear rumblings, they do something about it.

In our country, government cannot separate itself from the people. No matter what the experts say about a situation, it must be translated into votes every second year. And the President must realize that the rumbling now is about the men who surround him. We are coming too close to the 1962 Congressional elections for ambiguities to stand in the way of hard action.

Marine Corps General Sends Plane On Special Flight For Three Dogs

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—A Marine Corps general recently ordered a special airplane to fly three dogs, in style, from Hawaii to the California coast at the taxpayers' expense.

"The Canine Carpet," as the plane has been renamed by grounded enlisted personnel, was arranged by Lt. Gen. Alan Shapely, the Marine Corps commander in the Pacific, who expects to retire soon and wanted to transport his two pet sheltie dogs back to the mainland.

For this purpose he commandeered an R5D Skymaster transport plane, which is de luxe transportation indeed for dogs.

The third canine passenger, a pet belonging to Maj. E. A. Pollack, happened to be going in the same direction. Since there was plenty of room aboard, General Shapely decided his two dogs could share the plane, which flew from the Kaneohe Marine Air Station to San Francisco.

A Marine Corps spokesman claimed the big plane had to fly to the coast anyway on a routine training mission. He also pointed out that the plane had carried "general cargo" in addition to the dogs.

But other Marines, with less interest in protecting the reputation of a three-star general, reported to the contrary. They had facts to prove that the flight was ordered for the specific purpose of hauling the general's pet pooches.

Junkets To Sugarland

If you want to see why the new Dominican Republic has threatened to pull out of the Alliance for Progress, take a look at the list of Congressmen who went to the Dominican Republic when Dictator Trujillo was in power and what Trujillo got following the junkets. Then compare what some of these same Congressmen voted to give the new Democratic Dominican Republic after Trujillo was killed.

When you add up the score you can understand why the pro-Democratic Dominicans are sore. Their conclusion is that it pays for a dictator to invite Congressmen on free junkets.

Here is why they think so:

After Dictator Trujillo was assassinated following 30 years of bloody rule, President Kennedy increased the Dominican sugar quota, giving it part of the quota which he took away from Fidel Castro. Wanting to encourage democracy in the Dominican Republic, he gave it 476,000 tons for the first half of 1962.

Kennedy at that time had the power to do this. But with the current writing of a new sugar act, the House Agriculture Committee took over the power of allocation to the Dominican Republic and reduced the additional quota to zero. The Dominican Republic still gets its former basic quota of 96,000 tons which it received before the days of Fidel Castro and before the death of Trujillo. But the extra quota given it by Kennedy was wiped out.

Rollcall Of Trujillo's Guests

And what interests Latin Americans is the make-up of the House Agriculture Committee which leaned against helping democracy in the Dominican Republic. Chairman of that committee is Harold Cooley, Dem., N.C., whose sister, Mrs. Mabel Downey, with his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Cooley, were once guests of Dictator Trujillo on a ritzy free junket.

The ranking Democrat on that committee is W. R. Poage of Texas, who, with his wife, also went on the same junket; together with high-ranking Tom Abernathy of Mississippi, plus his wife and two children; also Pat Jennings, Dem., Va., with his wife.

They flew in a chartered Pan American clipper to Trujillo City—now renamed Santa Domingo—were entertained at the Hotel Jaragua, toured the island in style, stopped at such places as Boca Chica, a fancy seaside resort, Hotel Hamaca, an exclusive beachclub hotel located on a natural lagoon three miles long. They were wined and dined by everyone from Trujillo down, and whisked around the island in an 18-car caravan with police escort.

Later, after Trujillo was adjudged guilty of trying to assassinate President Betancourt of Venezuela, the Organization of American States passed a resolution asking all American nations to break relations with Trujillo. The State Department did so. It also asked congress to reduce Trujillo's sugar quota. But, believe it or not, the House Agriculture Committee, some of whose members had junketed at Trujillo's expense, voted to increase Trujillo's sugar quota instead.

And now that he is dead, the same committee voted not to follow Kennedy's lead in helping his democratic successors.

Western Notebook

It was exactly 100 years ago this month that Abraham Lincoln signed the original Land-Grant College Act, establishing the so-called "cow colleges." Lincoln overcame the same opposition that is still raised against federal aid to education—namely, that it would infringe upon states' rights, invite federal control of education, and boost the federal budget. . . . Thanks largely to Lincoln's foresight, the cost of a college education was put within reach of the average family without any of the predicted evils. . . . Only one youth in hundreds could afford to attend college in Lincoln's day. Now almost one-third of the college-age youth are enrolled. . . . But by 1970, educators warn, college enrollment must double if today's youngsters are to get the same chance at college as their parents had. This means that college financing must also double. Yet the House killed President Kennedy's proposal for federally finance college scholarships. . . . Utah Sen. Wallace Bennett is a master of political double-talk. He has convinced the home folks that he is a champion both of federal water projects and fiscal economy. He voted for the Colorado River storage projects to demonstrate his loyalty to Western reclamation. Then he voted against the appropriations to pay for these projects to demonstrate his concern for economy.

Moss Gardening Way Out Of Easy-Going Leisure

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

Leisure, one is told, is the big new thing in American life. A professor has written a book rather strongly approving leisure. Magazines are devoting sections to leisure and its uses, some of which seem to be very odd indeed.

But if you are an old-fashioned American, dedicated to productive toil and suspicious of easy going leisure, a way out can still be recommended to you. Start a moss garden.

As far as can be discovered, the experiment is a novel one in this country. A learned Japanese, writing on moss gardening for a recent Journal of Economic Botany, was unable to find a record of more than one American moss garden. It flourished on one of the great Long Island estates of the 1920's, and it probably dried up pretty rapidly, which is fatal for moss gardens, after the stock market crash of 1929.

Yet ignorance and necessity, in combination, are great promoters of experimentation. In this case, moreover, the spur of necessity and the boldness of ignorance were reinforced by the prod of memory. The most memorably beautiful garden in the world, and one of the oldest, beyond doubt, belongs to the Moss Temple outside Kyoto. Surely art and nature together have never contrived anything to surpass that carpet of a hundred different mosses, glowing in the green shade of the great trees, masking the water-lapped rocks, even creeping up the sun-flecked hillside.

Between the Moss Temple's immemorial glades, and a sunless, airless pit about 10 by 18 feet, there was only one connection, but that a strong one. On the architect's blueprints, the pit had been optimistically described as a "planting area"; but if planted, very little seemed likely to grow there except moss. The questions remained, how to get moss, and, once gotten how to plant it.

These questions were briskly answered by Mrs. Donald, the single-handed creator of the fern valley at the National Arboretum. You get moss, it turns out, by going into the countryside and digging it up. And you plant it, with widely varying results, by preparing the kind of soil that is hostile to most other kinds of growth; by muddying the soil's surface to an almost soupy consistency; and by patting the moss-clumps into this semi-soup. After that, you hope for the best.

In a moss garden, to be sure, you need something more than moss; but where moss is comfortable, the plants of the American woodlands are pretty comfortable too. The wild azalea for high growth; blood-root and trout-lily, oconee bells, solomon's seal, and hepatica for the mid-level; and partridge berry and wintergreen to interpenetrate the moss-carpet—all these are at home with mosses. So are the ferns, in all their wonderful variety, from the lordly royal fern to the infinitely delicate maidenhair spleenwort.

For a moss-garden, finally, you need a place like that pit of a "planting area," which will never become a passageway for large, carelessly trampling feet. And you need a sprinkler system, to give your mosses 10 or 15 minutes of misty spray on every second day, except in wet weather. These practical requirements were easy to meet; and the rest was done with the help of Mrs. Donald.

The result, it must be added, is remarkably unlike the marvel of the Moss Temple. It lacks majesty and mystery. It is neither splendid nor romantic. It is a garden to be looked at inch by inch, like those dish gardens nature-minded children used to make, in the old days when children did other things besides look at television.

In fact, the first thing a beginning moss gardener discovers is that his experiment positively demands to be looked at inch by inch, and almost every day. The point is that weeds are just as eager to flourish among mosses as anywhere else. Furthermore, if a weed seedling attains more than the most microscopic size, it cannot be extracted without bringing with it a large chunk of the moss carpet. Hence a serious moss gardener's almost permanent posture is a deep crouch. And this is why moss gardening is an easy way out, if you are threatened with an excess of easy-going leisure.

All the same, the rewards can be considerable. After a shriveled-looking start, that moss which grew in emerald green-velvet clumps along a shady streamside regains its true emerald velvetyness. That other moss, which resembles a heavy blue-green plush, begins to be at home beneath the maidenhair spleenwort's fragile fronds.

The moss carpet, in sum, begins to form. And so you begin to feel you have accomplished something not often accomplished, except in Japan, where moss gardeners are numerous enough to gather in clubs, to share their hobby with many a gentle, enthusiastic hiss, Good Luck to them!

The front door bell rang. The Boss said he'd answer it. He walked through the plush game room and into the ornate living room with its oil paintings and out into the circular foyer to the front door. He was gone a few minutes, and Charlie McDermott used the time to study the game board, roulette wheel and an assortment of deep leather chairs.

The Boss had indeed come a long way. Charlie stopped looking when he heard the footsteps and began to study his cards. "What do you think?" the Boss said. "It was a kid. A little girl. Couldn't be more than nine." Charlie pushed the tea to one side. "What did she want?" he said. The Boss snorted. "She was selling chances on a car for a buck."

McDermott framed his question with his eyes. "Oh no," the Boss said. "I told the kid nothing doing. It's against the law.". . .

Hair Styles Add Another Irritant To Air

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Modern man is exposed to many chemicals, dusts, pollens, molds, and other pollutants. The fancy —if not weird—hard styles of today have added another agent to the growing list of irritants — the hair spray. The particles are small enough to be inhaled and, at present, are viewed with suspicion as the cause of a 4-year-old malady, thesaurosis (storage disease).

In all fairness to the hair spray, we must say there is no chemical proof that the contents are responsible for this lung condition. The spray has been used by millions yet only a dozen cases have been reported. Many of these women used the product as often as 15 times daily. Thus they inhaled significant amounts of the chemical.

The lungs are able to cope with most of the noxious agents we inhale. But various disorders are traced to specific offenders, especially among workers in certain industries. Most dust particles are engulfed by scavenger cells in the lining of the bronchi and air sacs. Coal particles, for example, are picked up in this way and are deposited in the lymph glands of the chest. The lungs are stained and look dirty but, despite appearances, function well.

The real disease producers are the noxious substances that continue to irritate lung tissues after being picked up by the scavenger cells. They include quartz, asbestos, beryllium, molds, spores, sugar cane, dust, and fumes. The individual is crippled by a reduction in the air capacity and flexibility of the lungs.

But this does not happen in thesaurosis. According to Dr. Martin Bergmann and his colleagues, writing in the New England Journal of Medicine, the victims had no chest symptoms except a slight cough. The typical finds were noted in the chest X-ray and in the glands removed from the upper chest. Most of these women improved rapidly after they stopped the hair spray.

If the preparation is used frequently, it may be a good idea to wear a mask and turn on the exhaust fan to remove the particles from the air.

FINGER SENSES

J. W. writes: I've heard from a supposedly reliable source that our fingers and toes have nerve endings that represent the five senses: The index finger for sight, the second for hearing, etc. My son says this is impossible because a person who loses fingers or toes would not lose his five senses. Please settle this dispute.

REPLY

You have a smart son. Many people point with the index finger but I've never known one to see. While the fingers have nothing to do with taste, hearing, or smelling, they are good feelers and can tell hot from cold, a pin from a match, and cacti from cotton.

POLIO SHOTS

M. R. writes: I have received one shot of polio vaccine and wonder if I should take the others.

REPLY

Yes. The Salk polio vaccine is recommended for those who have had these injections until the oral vaccine becomes so plentiful it will be available to all.

SLOW HEALING WOUNDS

D. E. L. writes: Why does it take weeks for bruises and scratches, particularly on the legs, to heal? I'm 29. Could this mean a vitamin shortage?

REPLY

No. Some persons heal faster than others, depending upon the circulation and over-all nutrition of the tissues.

STOOP SHOULDERED

J. R. writes: I am 25 but feel 70 because of stooped shoulders. How can this disorder be corrected?

REPLY

Concentrate on keeping the head high and the shoulders back when walking, sitting, and standing. It is worth trying but you may need a planned muscle building program.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

A TV tour of New York City was scheduled for shooting early one morning, with the first scene to be taken from the center of the George Washington Bridge. The cameraman picked that morning to oversleep. When he awakened, he took one look at the clock, threw a coat over his pajamas and dashed out of the house. "The George Washington Bridge, and hurry," he implored a taxi driver. "New York end or Jersey end?" asked the driver. "Neither," said the cameraman. "I've got to get to the center of the bridge." The driver took a quick look at his fare's anguished face and peculiar attire, and shoved him out of the cab. "You don't need a driver, Buddy," he announced. "You need a psychiatrist!"

In Kentucky, a harassed motorist kept looking in his rearview mirror, wondering why a light truck was tailing him so persistently. He finally alighted to discoverd that the truck had no driver, and had been hooked to his rear bumper since he had backed into a parking space 100 miles away in Cincinnati.

Six-year-old Jeremy got one thing out of his first history lesson. "It's lucky for us somebody discovered America," he told his mother, "otherwise we'd still be Indians."

You're Telling Me

By William Ritt

"For ten dollars," proposed Papa Giogrido to his son, "I'll teach you to talk like an Indian." The skeptical son asked, "How?" "See," beamed Papa, "you're learning already!"

Wife Preservers

One authority estimates that the life of a pair of shoes is more than doubled by giving them a day of rest between each wearing. The airing dispels accumulated perspiration, which tends to rot the leathers and linings.

Salt is used for freezing and melting.

Loafing

Make macaroni loaf the center of a meatless meal. Cook 1 cup of shell or elbow macaroni as label directs. Drain. Add 2 teaspoons each of parsley flakes, onion flakes and pepper flakes to 1 cup of hot milk. Let stand 5 minutes. Add 3 beaten eggs, 1 cup each of grated cheese and soft bread crumbs, ¼ cup of butter or margarine and 1 teaspoon of salt to seasoned milk, along with macaroni. Pour into well-greased 9 by 5 by 3-inch pan. Set in pan of hot water. Bake in preheated 375-degree oven 45 minutes, or until set and lightly browned. Serve with tomato or cream sauce. Serves 6.

Savory Ham-Veal Ring

Flavor it up and dress it up . . . meat loaf, that is . . . and you'll have a sure winner for your next summertime supper party. In fact, you'll probably have this Savory Ham-Veal Ring.

For the "flavor up," add canned apple sauce to the meat mixture. That joins the zesty tang of apple to the sturdy, robust taste of ham and the bland flavor of veal. The applesauce also helps give a rich and savory juciness.

For the "dress up," bake the loaf in a big ring. In the last minutes of baking, crown it dramatically with more of the apple sauce. Then, after the ring is on the platter, you might place a buttered whole cauliflower in the center. To serve, cut in husky wedges right through the meat to the center of the vegetable. Or, another time, fill the center with green beans and corn and slivers of red pimientos. That, too, looks handsome and tastes good.

All in all, this ham-veal loaf is a happy choice for any springtime or summer guest or family supper. Or cold, sliced down and accompanied by salad. And it's easy to put together:

SAVORY HAM-VEAL RING

- 3 eggs
- 2 cups canned apple sauce
- 3 cups soft bread crumbs
- ¾ cup ketchup
- 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
- ½ cup minced onion
- Dash pepper
- 1½ pounds ground ham shoulder
- 1½ pounds ground veal shoulder
- Cooked cauliflower
- ¼ cup melted butter
- Salt
- Paprika
- Parsley sprigs.

Beat eggs; add ¾ cup apple sauce and bread crumbs; let stand 10 minutes. Add ketchup, Worcestershire sauce, onion and pepper. Add ham and veal; mix well. Pack into 10 inch greased ring mold. Bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees, 1½ hours. Unmold on baking pan. Spread with remaining apple sauce. Bake 30 minutes longer. Place on platter. Arrange cauliflower in center of ring; pour over melted butter and sprinkle with salt and paprika. Garnish with parsley. Makes 8-10 servings.

Academic

NEW YORK (UPI) — A 10-year study conducted among students at the University of Wisconsin shows emotional problems the third most common academic ailment. The most common: respiratory infections; next, skin diseases.

Dr. Alfred S. Evans and associates, reporting in "The Archives of Environmental Health," a journal for doctors, said the high incidence of emotional problems may be traceable to the greater likelihood of such problems occurring among university students.

Week's Food Economies

Shoppers generally seek foods that make quick cooking, easy-to-prepare meals for summer tablefare. Make your selections from the liberal supply of seasonal offerings, says Virginia McLuckie, food economist in the Baltimore office, University of Maryland Department of Markets.

Southern peaches, Western cantaloupes, and bananas from Central America are the leading fruit choices and the best buys. The California melons and those from Georgia and other southern states plus Arizona melons mean generous supplies are available. Look for a slightly sunken smooth scar at the stem end. The grey netting should be well raised and coarse and the background color light to pale orange-yellow with no green color. Aroma is also a good test of a ripe melon.

In the past few years since hydrocooling, defuzzing, refrigeration and fast transportation methods have been employed the fresh peach season starts in May and goes until the end of September. Prices on peaches are attractive, quality generally good.

A few early apples are now available. The produce counter offerings include locally grown vegetables. The best buys are Maryland grown green beans, cabbage, cucumbers and summer squash. Now is the time to enjoy green beans while they are garden fresh, full of flavor and low in cost. Now is the time to freeze or can beans for later use. Summer squash includes the tender rind varieites, white scalloped, and yellow straight neck.

Eggs rank high on the list of best buys. The supply is liberal and price tags very attractive. Make your selection of Grade A quality.

Turkeys and broilers are good choices for summer meals, particularly if you seek economy. Turkeys are abundant and continue to retail at low prices.

Chuck roast, with or without bone, is a good buy. Less demanded cuts such as chuck offer a price advantage for economical meat servings.

July is the time for crabs, both hard and soft shelled, and for fresh crabmeat.

Revival

NEW YORK (UPI) — Before radio and television, a songfest around the piano was the favorite family pastime. The youngsters harmonized, dad played his mandolin or uke and mom usually accompanied them all on the piano.

The American Music Conference reports the grand old custom is being revived. In many cases the new twist is that the whole family plays musical instruments along with mom and dad.

Alcoholism Control

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI) — One out of every 15 teen-agers may easily become an alcoholic under prevailing conditions of the average home, cautions Dr. Marvin A. Block.

Control of alcoholism begins in the home, Block reported in the Journal of the American Medical Association. He said education of children should be supported by good example. "Kiddy cocktails" — soft drinks served to children in cocktail glasses — were cited as a potential source of trouble.

Eyes Rest

NEW YORK (UPI) — When sewing or doing other close work, rest your eyes by looking up from time to time.

For most people, the distance at which the eyes are most relaxed is about 20 feet, eye researchers report.

Stow-A-Way

Stowaway sauce is a multi-purpose sauce easy to make and easy to keep on hand for last minute meals. In a saucepan, combine 1 (8 ounce) can of tomato sauce with 1 teaspoon of instant minced onion. Heat slowly to boiling point. Stir in 1 cup of grated cheddar cheese and 1 (4½ ounce) can of deviled ham. Heat slowly, stirring, until well-blended.

Add 1 beaten egg and cook slowly 5 minutes more, stirring often. Do not allow to boil. Cover and store in refrigerator. Reheat to serve on English muffins, baked potatoes or spaghetti or mix with macaroni in a casserole. This sauce will keep 10 days in the refrigerator without loss of flavor.

The blue whale is the largest animal that ever existed on the earth.

Kabobs For Cook-Outs Gain Flavor

Outdoor eating, with all the fun of learning to prepare praise-winning menu items, is rapidly becoming a part of routine living.

One form of outdoor cooking which is growing in popularity is that of broiling "kabobs," bite-size pieces of meat and vegetables or fruits threaded on skewers.

One reason for their popularity is the infinite variety which can be obtained. Any meat, already cooked or tender enough to be broiled, can be used. Vegetables and fruits should also be the kind which will be done in the same time the meat is cooking, or which have already been cooked, as with potatoes or cnions.

Placing the meat cubes in a spicy marinade before they are cooked and brushing this marinade over the meat and other foods while cooking is another way of enhancing the flavor of kabobs.

Lamb Orange Kabobs

- 1½ to 2 pounds of boneless lamb cubes cut in 1½-inch pieces, about 20 pieces
- ⅓ cup salad oil
- ⅓ cup soy sauce
- ¼ cup lemon juice
- 1 large orange, cut in 8 wedges
- 8 small cooked onions

Blend salad oil, soy sauce and lemon juice. Add lamb cubes and marinate 2 hours in the refrigerator. Thread meat, orange wedges and onions on four 12-inch skewers, using 5 pieces of meat, 2 orange wedges and 2 onions on each skewer. Brush with marinade and broil 3 inches from heat for 10 minutes or until lightly browned. Turn, brush with marinade and broil 3 minutes longer, or until browned. Yield 4 to 6 servings.

Musical Family

VINTON, La. (UPI) — When the John Burnham family here tunes up, neighbors say it sounds like a symphony.

Dad plays the violin and viola; Edward, 15, and Thomas, 10, toot French horns; Bill, 13, Jamie, 9, and Betty, 6, are clarinetists; Helen, 5, tootles a flute.

A Favorite From Freezer

Most quick breads are best served as soon as they are baked, but breads that are made in loaf pans usually contain cereal flakes, chopped nuts or fruits, and are apt to crumble if sliced hot. So the "loaf" is the one big exception to the "bake and serve hot" rule that is part of the tradition surrounding quick breads. After baking, cool the loaf about 10 minutes in the pan, then turn it out onto a rack and cool completely. Wrap in foil or saran and let stand overnight. Wrapped with extra care, patting out all air, this bread can be frozen, and will keep very well for two or three weeks. And a comforting item it is to have on hand for that quick snack needed before or after a tennis game. In addition to adding color and texture to the bread, corn flakes add to the vitamin B content by providing additional thiamine, niacin and riboflavin.

Orange Cereal Flake Loaf

- 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
- 3 teaspoons baking powder
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ½ cup sugar
- 1½ tablespoons grated orange rind
- ½ cup chopped nuts
- 1 egg, beaten
- 1 cup orange juice
- 3 tablespoons melted fat or cooking oil
- 1 cup corn flakes

Sift together flour, baking powder, salt, and sugar; stir in orange rind and nuts. Combine egg, orange juice, and fat; add to flour mixture and stir just until well mixed. Blend in cereal flakes. Turn into greased loaf pan, 9 x 5 x 3 inches. Bake in moderate over (350°F) until done, about 1 hour. Cool on rack 10 minutes, then remove from pan. Yield: 1 loaf 9 x 5 x 2¼ inches.

Frozen Orange Juice Egg Nog

- 2 (6-oz.) cans frozen concentrated orange juice
- 6 eggs, chilled
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 1 cup sugar
- 2 teaspoons frozen
- ¼ lemon juice
- 1 quart milk

Place containers of frozen concentrated orange juice under running water for approximately 10 minutes to help it soften slightly while you are preparing other ingredients. Be sure eggs are chilled. Separate eggs. Add salt to the whites and beat them until fluffy. Add ½ cup sugar and beat until stiff. Beat yolks until light colored and fluffy and beat them also with a second ½ cup of sugar. Add to yolks the 2 containers frozen concentrated orange juice and the 2 teaspoons frozen lemon juice. Add 1 quart milk and blend thoroughly, then fold in beaten egg whites. Pour into punch bowl if desired, or serve in large mugs. Serve immediately after mixing. Makes 2½ quarts.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Learn To Write Good, Lively Business Letters

Let's talk about business letters today. They may be for the purpose of transacting big business or transmitting a mail order or raising a question concerning a bill or asking for some special information. In any case business letters conjure us some concept of the writer in the mind of the recipient — or they have about as much personality as an old-fashioned fruit jar without a label and are likely to be treated accordingly.

If you want to make sure that your letters get prompt, thoughtful attention, there are five ingredients they must contain:

1. Freshness. Originality of wording and phrasing is as attractive in a business letter as it is in a social letter. Even the bogged-down clerk of a mail-order house will give such a letter a double-take and take double trouble over it.

2. Exactness. Be sure that your letters are crisp and explicit. Avoid snarled, long, involved sentences. Unless you have considerable word power, your meaning is likely to be ambiguous or obscure when your sentences are long winded.

3. Brevity. Edit your sentences and cut out all unncessary words. It's one of the surest means of making your letters more potent.

4. Correctness of form. A book on business English or etiquette will show you how to write the proper address, salutation, closing and signature. Unless you are sure of the form, make sure by checking good references.

5. Courtesy. Never confuse firmness with discourtesy. No matter how righteous your complaint, rudeness on paper will get you no further than it does in person.

The ability to write a good business letter is one of the rungs on the ladder of success in the business and social world. For further help on this vital topic, send for my booklet "Your Steps to a Successful Career," available from me, John Robert Powers at this newspaper. Please be sure to enclose 10c and a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Easy Figure Slimming At Home

Without a single huff or puff, and with only a few feet of wall space, you can run through a complete torso reducing exercise without even getting down on the floor!

The first phase of the routine is for streamlining the waist and hips. Stand with your back against a wall and raise your arms out to the sides at shoulder level. Bend your right knee up as close to your abdomen as possible. Twisting from the waist, swing your leg across your body and try to touch your knee to the wall at your left side. Reverse the leg swing to touch the knee to the wall at your right side and return to starting position. Try throughout to keep your shoulders flat against the wall and to work leisurely and rhythmically.

Repeat with your left leg. Alternating legs, perform the exercise 10 times and increase at your own speed until you can do it 30 times daily without feeling strain.

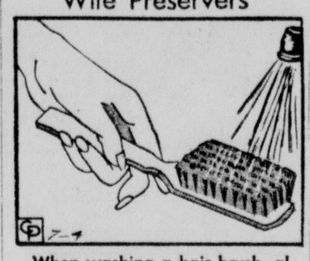
To smooth and tone the muscles of your abdomen and back and to improve your posture, start this second phase by standing with your back two inches away from the wall. Place your fingertips on your shoulders and tuck your elbows into your waistline. Flex your knees slightly and press the small of your back against the wall. Keeping your back flat, continue very slowly to bend your knees so that your body sinks toward the floor. At the same time, slowly slide your arms up the wall until they are straight overhead. Then, gradually reverse the action until you are in starting position. Repeat five times. Increase to 20 times daily.

The third phase is designed to slim the upper arms. Standing in your best posture with the small of your back, shoulders and head pressed to the wall, raise your arms to shoulder level in front of you. Briskly crisscross them, under, over, and back and forth 15 times, never letting either arm travel further than the width of your shoulders.

For a different and equally pleasant routine for attaining figure beauty, send for a copy of "Dance Through a Week to Beauty." Write to me, John Robert Powers, c/o this paper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope and 10c in coin to cover cost.

You'll never know how easy it is to possess and maintain a lovely figure until you try these routines!

Wife Preservers



When washing a hair brush, always finish with a hot and then a cold rinse, to re-stiffen bristles.

Builds Warehouse

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Anaconda Wire & Cable Co. said Thursday it will build a large new warehouse at San Leandro in the San Francisco-Oakland area and will concentrate its west coast manufacturing at its Orange, Calif., plant. The Redwood City, Calif., plant has been sold to Sequoia Wire Co.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Learn To Write Good, Lively Business Letters

Let's talk about business letters today. They may be for the purpose of transacting big business or transmitting a mail order or raising a question concerning a bill or asking for some special information. In any case business letters conjure us some concept of the writer in the mind of the recipient — or they have about as much personality as an old-fashioned fruit jar without a label and are likely to be treated accordingly.

If you want to make sure that your letters get prompt, thoughtful attention, there are five ingredients they must contain:

1. Freshness. Originality of wording and phrasing is as attractive in a business letter as it is in a social letter. Even the bogged-down clerk of a mail-order house will give such a letter a double-take and take double trouble over it.

2. Exactness. Be sure that your letters are crisp and explicit. Avoid snarled, long, involved sentences. Unless you have considerable word power, your meaning is likely to be ambiguous or obscure when your sentences are long winded.

3. Brevity. Edit your sentences and cut out all unncessary words. It's one of the surest means of making your letters more potent.

4. Correctness of form. A book on business English or etiquette will show you how to write the proper address, salutation, closing and signature. Unless you are sure of the form, make sure by checking good references.

5. Courtesy. Never confuse firmness with discourtesy. No matter how righteous your complaint, rudeness on paper will get you no further than it does in person.

The ability to write a good business letter is one of the rungs on the ladder of success in the business and social world. For further help on this vital topic, send for my booklet "Your Steps to a Successful Career," available from me, John Robert Powers at this newspaper. Please be sure to enclose 10c and a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Easy Figure Slimming At Home

Without a single huff or puff, and with only a few feet of wall space, you can run through a complete torso reducing exercise without even getting down on the floor!

The first phase of the routine is for streamlining the waist and hips. Stand with your back against a wall and raise your arms out to the sides at shoulder level. Bend your right knee up as close to your abdomen as possible. Twisting from the waist, swing your leg across your body and try to touch your knee to the wall at your left side. Reverse the leg swing to touch the knee to the wall at your right side and return to starting position. Try throughout to keep your shoulders flat against the wall and to work leisurely and rhythmically.

Repeat with your left leg. Alternating legs, perform the exercise 10 times and increase at your own speed until you can do it 30 times daily without feeling strain.

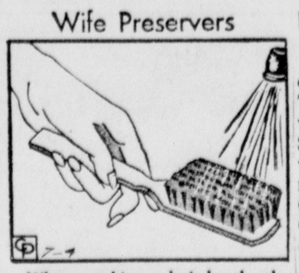
To smooth and tone the muscles of your abdomen and back and to improve your posture, start this second phase by standing with your back two inches away from the wall. Place your fingertips on your shoulders and tuck your elbows into your waistline. Flex your knees slightly and press the small of your back against the wall. Keeping your back flat, continue very slowly to bend your knees so that your body sinks toward the floor. At the same time, slowly slide your arms up the wall until they are straight overhead. Then, gradually reverse the action until you are in starting position. Repeat five times. Increase to 20 times daily.

The third phase is designed to slim the upper arms. Standing in your best posture with the small of your back, shoulders and head pressed to the wall, raise your arms to shoulder level in front of you. Briskly crisscross them, under, over, and back and forth 15 times, never letting either arm travel further than the width of your shoulders.

For a different and equally pleasant routine for attaining figure beauty, send for a copy of "Dance Through a Week to Beauty." Write to me, John Robert Powers, c/o this paper, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope and 10c in coin to cover cost.

You'll never know how easy it is to possess and maintain a lovely figure until you try these routines!

Wife Preservers



When washing a hair brush, always finish with a hot and then a cold rinse, to re-stiffen bristles.

Phone Firms May Offer Toll-Free Area Service

MOOREFIELD — Representatives of the General Telephone Company and the Hardy Telephone Company met with the Moorefield Lions Club this week to discuss the possibilities of combining facilities to provide a county wide telephone service without toll.

This is the first time two telephone companies have voluntarily proposed to subscribers that facilities be combined to provide additional service without toll.

Speaking were W. G. Shepherd, division traffic manager, General Telephone Company from Mercer County, and Jim Spangler, division manager, from Romney; the Hardy Telephone Compnay was represented by Wayne Strawderman, manager, and Ervin E. Souder, president of the cooperative.

Mr. Spangler said the proposed extended area service would enable residents in Moorefield to dial direct without toll subscribers in the Rig-Kessel areas, the South Fork area and up into Pendleton County, the Bean Settlement area and the entire Lost River-Mathias area now served by the Hardy Telephone Company. It was pointed out that the subscribers in the county could also dial Moorefield without toll.

Spangler said that combining the two exchanges for mutual service would entail considerable cost for both telephone companies and that an engineering estimate would have to be made first.

The proposed direct inter-company service would serve approximately 600 subscribers in the Hardy Telephone system of 220 miles and the 975 subscribers for General Telephone Company from the Moorefield exchange.

Senator Ralph J. Bean was moderator in the discussion period. He said the proposed county wide service would mean a slight increase in rates for Moorefield subscribers but that there would be no change in rates for the subscribers on the Hardy Telephone Company system.

He also said public sentiment would have to be in favor of the proposal and asked subscribers to express an opinion.

Phone Firms May Offer Toll-Free Area Service

MOOREFIELD — Representatives of the General Telephone Company and the Hardy Telephone Company met with the Moorefield Lions Club this week to discuss the possibilities of combining facilities to provide a county wide telephone service without toll.

This is the first time two telephone companies have voluntarily proposed to subscribers that facilities be combined to provide additional service without toll.

Speaking were W. G. Shepherd, division traffic manager, General Telephone Company from Mercer County, and Jim Spangler, division manager, from Romney; the Hardy Telephone Compnay was represented by Wayne Strawderman, manager, and Ervin E. Souder, president of the cooperative.

Mr. Spangler said the proposed extended area service would enable residents in Moorefield to dial direct without toll subscribers in the Rig-Kessel areas, the South Fork area and up into Pendleton County, the Bean Settlement area and the entire Lost River-Mathias area now served by the Hardy Telephone Company. It was pointed out that the subscribers in the county could also dial Moorefield without toll.

Spangler said that combining the two exchanges for mutual service would entail considerable cost for both telephone companies and that an engineering estimate would have to be made first.

The proposed direct inter-company service would serve approximately 600 subscribers in the Hardy Telephone system of 220 miles and the 975 subscribers for General Telephone Company from the Moorefield exchange.

Senator Ralph J. Bean was moderator in the discussion period. He said the proposed county wide service would mean a slight increase in rates for Moorefield subscribers but that there would be no change in rates for the subscribers on the Hardy Telephone Company system.

He also said public sentiment would have to be in favor of the proposal and asked subscribers to express an opinion.

Berkeley Springs Weather Observers Work As Team

BERKELEY SPRINGS — Virgil H. Ruppenthal and Henry M. Ruppenthal, III have manned the Berkeley Springs, W. Va., United States Weather Station for the past 14 years.

Henry took over the station when it was moved to his fathers farm just south of town on US 522 in 1948, when he was only 11 years old, receiving national publicity as the youngest appointed weatherman in the nation, a feat which cannot be duplicated as a minimum age of 21 is now required by the weather bureau for appointment as weather observer.

One of the boys have always been on hand to take daily readings and do the broadcast throughout the years.

They will receive their 15-year Weather Bureau pen next year for their 15 years of service to the Weather Bureau.

They work under the Parkersburg, W. Va. weather bureau office, sending their reports to the central processing station for the Eastern United States. They are often called upon by individuals, government, and business interest to supply weather data.

Twice daily broadcasts are given over the local radio station, giving the recorded weather for the past 12 hours and comparing the period with the station's 14 years high and lows for that date.

Henry is a senior at Shepherd College, Virgil is teaching in Morgan County schools, and is attending summer school at the same college this term. Weather data for Berkeley Springs can be secured by calling Berkeley Springs, Phone 5.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West

2 ♥	Pass	4 ♥	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Three of ♠

Declarer postponed making a play in the trump suit today until he had taken a complete inventory of the adverse distribution. By the time he was ready to attack the heart suit at trick 10, he knew exactly what was required to bring home his contract.

The bidding was quite routine and West opened his fourth best spade against the heart game. East cashed the ace and king of spades, and then shifted to the deuce of clubs, which was taken by declarer's jack. Since he was off a diamond trick in addition to the two spades already lost, South could see that everything hinged on the trump suit. While the normal procedure with nine cards is to play the ace and king in the hope of dropping the queen, declarer was unwilling to place all his eggs in one basket. He decided to see what information could be obtained first.

At trick four a diamond was led to the ace in dummy. The king of clubs was returned and overtaken in the closed hand. The queen of clubs was cashed and another diamond was led to the king. A third round of diamonds was conceded to East's jack, and the latter elected to exit with a spade which was ruffed in the closed hand.

South now paused to appraise the evidence. From West's opening lead of the three of spades, East was marked with five cards in that suit. East's shift to the deuce of clubs indicated that he had four clubs. Since he had actually shown up with three diamonds, it appeared that he had at most one heart. If a finesse were to prove practical, it would have to be taken thru West.

Declarer therefore cashed the ace of hearts at trick 10 and was pleased to see the ten drop from the East hand. South continued with the jack of hearts and when West followed with the eight, the jack was permitted to ride. When it held the trick, the opponents quickly conceded.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 NT	Pass	2 ♣	Pass
2 ♠	Pass	3 NT	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Six of ♥

A well calculated bit of deception on the part of East earned him a top score on a hand taken from a recent tournament. His shrewd maneuver succeeded in holding South to exactly nine tricks and his contract, whereas most other declarers were making four no trump.

The bidding was pretty much the same at every table. South has a standard one no trump opening, and North's two club call is a conventional query to probe for a major suit first. If the no trumper has four hearts, which he is expected to show on his rebid, the suit contract should prove superior to no trump. When South bids two spades, North abandons the investigation and proceeds directly to three no trump.

The opening lead was invariably the six of hearts which declarer permitted to ride around to the queen in his hand. Development of the diamonds was started at once by leading the jack and permitting it to ride. East won the trick with the queen of diamonds and shifted to a spade. Declarer took a single finesse, and, when the queen of spades lost to West's king, South merely conceded the ace of diamonds to the opposition and claimed 10 tricks.

When this deal reached the table where our story takes place, everything proceeded in the same manner until South led and passed the jack of diamonds. East chose to win the trick with the ace, not the queen. He reasoned that his queen was safe in any event, since declarer would assign that card to West on the basis of what happened on the first lead of that suit, and was sure to finesse dummy's ten of diamonds later on. East's purpose in making the false card was to develop spade tricks for his side in the event that West held something in that suit behind the declarer. East felt sure South might proceed with less caution if he thought the diamond suit was fully established.

When the five of spades came back, declarer went right up with the ace for, with the diamonds apparently ready to run, he hoped to take the balance of the tricks. When he led another diamond and put in the ten from dummy, East produced the queen, and another spade thru declarer permitted the defenders to cash two tricks in the suit and hold South to his contract. Making only three no trump proved to be the poorest North-South result on the deal.

"NEITHER SNOW NOR RAIN NOR— "——U. S. Postal officials have reprimanded a Rockville, Maryland, postman for wearing swimming trunks on his mail round. The postman had started his day in full uniform. The rains came, and he was soaked. He went home and donned his only spare uniform. The rains continued, and he was soaked again. Again he went home and this time chose the trunks. He explained that the trunks matched his postal hat "pretty close." Some of his customers liked his third ensemble. Some didn't, and called his boss to report that he was not only out of uniform but practically out of everything.

Women's Tennis Tourney At Wimbledon Becomes Darkhorse Final

Vera Sukova, Czech, Beats Marie Bueno

Mrs. Karen Susman, 19-Year-Old Texan, Whips Ann Haydon

By ROBERT JONES
Associated Press Sports Writer

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—Mrs. Karen Hantze Susman, an American teen-age bride, and Mrs. Vera Sukova, a stock accounts clerk from Prague, smashed their way to a darkhorse women's singles final Thursday in the All-England Tennis Championships.

Following the trend of the upset-studded tournament, Mrs. Susman, a 19-year-old college coed from Trinity University in San Antonio, Tex., trounced Ann Haydon of Britain 8-6, 6-1 and the amazing Mrs. Sukova, 30 years old, eliminated former champion Marie Bueno of Brazil 6-4, 6-3.

Neither of these finalists, who clash for the title Saturday, was given much chance for the championship when play started 11 days ago. Mrs. Susman, and in-and-out player who never has won a major crown, was seeded eighth. Mrs. Sukova was unseeded and unnoticed.

Mulligan vs. Laver

The men's competition also had its surprises as 21-year-old Martin Mulligan, an unseeded and unranked Australian, went into the final round against defending champion Rod Laver, star of the Aussie Davis Cup team.

They play in the best-of-five-set finals Friday with Laver, gunning for a tennis grand slam (French, Australian, Wimbledon and U.S. championships) the overwhelming favorite.

Mrs. Susman, who as teen-ager Karen Hantze of Chula Vista, Calif., was called the "new Maureen Connolly" a few years ago, finally reached tennis maturity with the most brilliant tennis exhibition of her career.

Miss Gibson Won In 1958

The United States hasn't had a women's champion at Wimbledon since Althea Gibson put titles back-to-back in 1957-1958. Miss Bueno won in 1959 and 1960 before being sidelined last year with an illness.

Mrs. Sukova, better known under her unmarried name of Vera Puzejova, eliminated America's champion, Darlene Hard, in an earlier round.

THEY'LL MEET IN WIMBLEDON FINALS — Mrs. Vera Sukova, left, an accounts clerk from Prague, Czechoslovakia, gestures as she talks with Mrs. Karen Hantze Susman, 19-year-old bride from Trinity University, San Antonio, Texas, at Wimbledon, England, yesterday. They will meet in the finals of the women's singles of the All-England Championships after their upset victories Thursday. Mrs. Susman beat Britain's Ann Haydon, 8-6, 6-1, and Mrs. Sukova, who is 30 years old, beat former champion Maria Bueno, of Brazil, 6-4, 6-3. (AP Photofax via cable from London)

Virginia High School Crew Scores In Henley Regatta

Wash-Lee, Detroit And Penn Victors; Yale Is Defeated

By MIKE HUGHES
United Press International

HENLEY, England (UIP)—The University of Pennsylvania, the Detroit Boat Club, and Washington-Lee High School of Arlington, Va., scored eight-oared victories in the second round of the Henley Royal Regatta Thursday but three other U.S. crews were eliminated.

Penn, appearing well within its power, scored a 2½-length victory over the Thames Rowing Club with a clocking of 6 minutes, 44 seconds for the one mile, 570-yard Thames River course in the Grand Challenge Cup competition, top eight-oared event of the regatta.

Italians Beat Yale

But Yale University, the other U.S. entry in the grand challenge, found the Moto-Guzzi crew of Italy, the European champions who are favorites to win here, too much to handle and went down to a two-length defeat as the Italians were clocked in 6:35.0.

In the Thames Cup competition, the Detroit Boat Club scored an impressive one-length victory over the Lady Margaret Boat Club of Cambridge University, and Washington-Lee, the youngest crew in the event, battled gamely to a three-quarter length triumph over the Tideway Scullers of England, also in 6:52.0.

But two New England entries, Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Phillips Academy of Andover, Mass., were beaten in the Thames Cup. MIT trailed the heavily-favored National Provincial Bank crew by 1¾ lengths in 6:37.0; Phillips lost by 1¼ lengths to the Argosies Rowing Club in 6:54.0.

Penn To Face Soviets

By winning, Pennsylvania qualified to meet the defending champion Soviet navy crew in one semifinal Friday. The Soviets, who have only one change from the lineup that captured the Grand Challenge Cup last year, equalled Moto Guzzi's time of 6:35.0 in winning their heat Thursday.

In the quarter-finals of the Thames Cup Friday, the Detroit Boat Club will tackle the National Provincial Bankers, who have been setting some of the fastest times in workouts and heats and will rate as heavy favorites over the Americans. Washington - Lee also faces a tough assignment in the Argosies crew that Thursday ousted Phillips Academy.

Bill Campbell Beats Randolph For Golf Crown

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (UPI) — Billy Campbell defeated Jay Randolph Thursday for his seventh West Virginia Amateur Golf title in a match that Campbell said "added up all right" although he made some mistakes.

Campbell said he was satisfied with his overall game in defeating the popular Clarksburg sports announcer 8 and 7 in the two-round title match.

The power-hitting former Walker Cup captain was an even - par 70 in the morning round and two-over for the 11 holes in the afternoon.

Randolph, who managed to win only one hole, was having trouble in his putting, especially on the second round, or it might have been closer.

Campbell, who has been a finalist 13 of the past 14 years, will enter the national amateur championsihp in September.

Beats Berri Long In Golf Final, 2 Up

Mrs. Nancy Stumpp, of Wheeling, who won the West Virginia golf championship yesterday by defeating Berri Long, was the winner of the second annual invitation tournament at the Cumberland Country Club in 1952 as Mrs. Nancy Bycott. Ten years ago Mrs. Bycott won the 18-hole tournament here and gained a leg on the Old Export Bowl with a score of 80.

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (UPI) — Mrs. Nancy Stumpp put some punch into her drives and made the long putts when she needed them to defeat defending champion Berri Long 2-up Thursday for the West Virginia Women's Amateur Golf championship.

Mrs. Stumpp won her third title as she sank a pressure-packed putt on the 16th hole and played it safe the rest of the way. Miss Long, of Huntington, had won the title seven times and had been favored to notch her eighth championship.

For Mrs. Stumpp, it was a day of the long putts dropping and the short ones drifting by the hole.

Berri, in winning her way to the finals, easily out-drove all her opponents, which gave her a major advantage on the second shot. However, in the final match Mrs. Stumpp was right with her on every hole and Berri couldn't afford to make any mistakes.

"My woods were a lot better than I ever thought they would be," Mrs. Stumpp said. "When they cam around, it certainly relieved me."

Women's Tennis Tourney At Wimbledon Becomes Darkhorse Final

Vera Sukova, Czech, Beats Marie Bueno

Mrs. Karen Susman, 19-Year-Old Texan, Whips Ann Haydon

By ROBERT JONES
Associated Press Sports Writer

WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—Mrs. Karen Hantze Susman, an American teen-age bride, and Mrs. Vera Sukova, a stock accounts clerk from Prague, smashed their way to a darkhorse women's singles final Thursday in the All-England Tennis Championships.

Following the trend of the upset-studded tournament, Mrs. Susman, a 19-year-old college coed from Trinity University in San Antonio, Tex., trounced Ann Haydon of Britain 8-6, 6-1 and the amazing Mrs. Sukova, 30 years old, eliminated former champion Marie Bueno of Brazil 6-4, 6-3.

Neither of these finalists, who clash for the title Saturday, was given much chance for the championship when play started 11 days ago. Mrs. Susman, and in-and-out player who never has won a major crown, was seeded eighth. Mrs. Sukova was unseeded and unnoticed.

Mulligan vs. Laver

The men's competition also had its surprises as 21-year-old Martin Mulligan, an unseeded and unranked Australian, went into the final round against defending champion Rod Laver, star of the Aussie Davis Cup team.

They play in the best-of-five-set finals Friday with Laver, gunning for a tennis grand slam (French, Australian, Wimbledon and U.S. championships) the overwhelming favorite.

Mrs. Susman, who as teen-ager Karen Hantze of Chula Vista, Calif., was called the "new Maureen Connolly" a few years ago, finally reached tennis maturity with the most brilliant tennis exhibition of her career.

Miss Gibson Won In 1958

The United States hasn't had a women's champion at Wimbledon since Althea Gibson put titles back-to-back in 1957-1958. Miss Bueno won in 1959 and 1960 before being sidelined last year with an illness.

Mrs. Sukova, better known under her unmarried name of Vera Puzejova, eliminated America's champion, Darlene Hard, in an earlier round.

THEY'LL MEET IN WIMBLEDON FINALS — Mrs. Vera Sukova, left, an accounts clerk from Prague, Czechoslovakia, gestures as she talks with Mrs. Karen Hantze Susman, 19-year-old bride from Trinity University, San Antonio, Texas, at Wimbledon, England, yesterday. They will meet in the finals of the women's singles of the All-England Championships after their upset victories Thursday. Mrs. Susman beat Britain's Ann Haydon, 8-6, 6-1, and Mrs. Sukova, who is 30 years old, beat former champion Maria Bueno, of Brazil, 6-4, 6-3. (AP Photofax via cable from London)

Virginia High School Crew Scores In Henley Regatta

By MIKE HUGHES
United Press International

HENLEY, England (UIP)—The University of Pennsylvania, the Detroit Boat Club, and Washington-Lee High School of Arlington, Va., scored eight-oared victories in the second round of the Henley Royal Regatta Thursday but three other U.S. crews were eliminated.

Penn, appearing well within its power, scored a 2½-length victory over the Thames Rowing Club with a clocking of 6 minutes, 44 seconds for the one mile, 570-yard Thames River course in the Grand Challenge Cup competition, top eight-oared event of the regatta.

Italians Beat Yale

But Yale University, the other U.S. entry in the grand challenge, found the Moto-Guzzi crew of Italy, the European champions who are favorites to win here, too much to handle and went down to a two-length defeat as the Italians were clocked in 6:35.0.

In the Thames Cup competition, the Detroit Boat Club scored an impressive one-length victory over the Lady Margaret Boat Club of Cambridge University, and Washington-Lee, the youngest crew in the event, battled gamely to a three-quarter length triumph over the Tideway Scullers of England, also in 6:52.0.

But two New England entries, Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Phillips Academy of Andover, Mass., were beaten in the Thames Cup. MIT trailed the heavily-favored National Provincial Bank crew by 1¾ lengths in 6:37.0; Phillips lost by 1¼ lengths to the Argosies Rowing Club in 6:54.0.

Penn To Face Soviets

By winning, Pennsylvania qualified to meet the defending champion Soviet navy crew in one semifinal Friday. The Soviets, who have only one change from the lineup that captured the Grand Challenge Cup last year, equalled Moto Guzzi's time of 6:35.0 in winning their heat Thursday.

In the quarter-finals of the Thames Cup Friday, the Detroit Boat Club will tackle the National Provincial Bankers, who have been setting some of the fastest times in workouts and heats and will rate as heavy favorites over the Americans. Washington - Lee also faces a tough assignment in the Argosies crew that Thursday ousted Phillips Academy.

Colavito Hits Three Homers, But Tigers Bow 7-6

Dillard's Belt In Ninth Wins Tilt For Tribe

Kline Is Loser; Cleveland Knots Angels For First

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Don Dillard's ninth inning home run gave the Cleveland Indians a 7-6 victory over the Detroit Tigers Thursday night despite three consecutive home runs by Rocky Colavito.

Dillard, who entered the game in the fifth after Al Luplow was injured, connected with two out against Ron Kline, the third Detroit pitcher. The victory moved the Indians into a first place tie with Los Angeles.

The Tigers, who trailed 6-1 at one point, pulled into a 6-6 tie on Colavito's homers. He led off the fourth with a round tripper, then slammed a three-run homer in the fifth to cut the Tribe's lead to one run. Both blows were against Cleveland starter Pedro Ramos.

Colavito tied the score with a drive over the left field fence in the seventh against Frank Funk for his 20th homer of the season.

The Indians gained a five-run lead in the first three innings against Frank Lary. Luplow, who suffered a pulled thigh muscle, hit a two-run homer in the first and John Romano slammed a three-run blast in the third.

Gentile And Brandt Deliver Timely Hits

CHICAGO (UPI) — The Baltimore Orioles rallied for three runs in the eighth inning Thursday night to ruin Frank Baumann's second starting assignment of the season and defeat the Chicago White Sox 5-4.

The Orioles, held to two runs on seven scattered hits in seven innings, started the winning spurt with Marv Breeding's lead off pinch single. A throwing error by third baseman Charlie Smith on Johnny Temple's bunt attempt and Dick Williams' bunt single filled the bases.

Baumann, the White Sox "forgotten man" who recently was promoted from bullpen duty, got a two-run cushion from his teammates in the first inning. He singled home one Chicago run in the second. A walk and two singles produced another run in the fourth and chased Baltimore starter Jack Fisher from the mound.

Dan Dodgers Hand Athletics Initial Loss In 7th, 18-13

The Dodgers, down 9-3 at one point in the game, came up with a pair of six-run innings to hand the Athletics their initial loss of the season yesterday in a Dan Division contest in the Dapper Dan Little League at Penn Avenue field. The score was 18-13 in seven innings.

The winning six-run outburst in the top of the seventh came at the expense of losing pitcher Terry Ashby who had entered the game when the Dodgers scored six times in the sixth to take a temporary 12-10 lead. The Athletics tied the score with two runs in the bottom of the sixth to send the game into overtime.

The game saw seven home runs hit with Fields, Mark Nies, George Geatz and Poncho Klosterman belting circuit clouts for the Dodgers and Terry Ashby, Gary Long and George Burnett hitting four-baggers for the Athletics.

In addition to his homer, Fields had two singles and six runs batted in while George Geatz cracked a triple and John Aldridge hit three singles for the winners.

The Braves notched their second win of the year with a 10-3 triumph over the Twins in another Dan Division tilt at Constitution Park. A seven-run spurt by the Braves in the fifth inning broke a 3-3 deadlock.

Kevin Mattingly and George Franklin each collected two hits for the Braves while Eddie Golden hit a lead-off triple in the first for the Twins who lost their fifth decision in six games. The results:

Gentile And Brandt Deliver Timely Hits

CHICAGO (UPI) — The Baltimore Orioles rallied for three runs in the eighth inning Thursday night to ruin Frank Baumann's second starting assignment of the season and defeat the Chicago White Sox 5-4.

The Orioles, held to two runs on seven scattered hits in seven innings, started the winning spurt with Marv Breeding's lead off pinch single. A throwing error by third baseman Charlie Smith on Johnny Temple's bunt attempt and Dick Williams' bunt single filled the bases.

Jim Gentile singled home two runs to tie the score and brought on Ed Fisher who was nicked for Jackie Brandt's run-scoring single before retiring the side.

Baumann, the White Sox "forgotten man" who recently was promoted from bullpen duty, got a two-run cushion from his teammates in the first inning. He singled home one Chicago run in the second. A walk and two singles produced another run in the fourth and chased Baltimore starter Jack Fisher from the mound.

Frick Rules Bonus Hurler Can't Work Out Until July 15

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco Giants learned Thursday that $150,000 bonus pitcher Bob Garibaldi will not be allowed to work out with the team before he officially goes on the roster July 15.

Ford Frick, major league baseball commissioner, ruled negatively on a request by the Giants to allow Manager Alvin Dark and his coaching staff to observe the 20-year-old right-hander.

Follows Player Poll In Naming Rest Of Team

By BOB HOOBING

BOSTON (AP) — Manager Ralph Houk completed selection of the American League All-Star squad Thursday amid speculation Detroit's Jim Bunning will be his starting pitcher.

Announcement of the full squad to face the National League stars in Washington Tuesday was made by AL President Joe Cronin and included a special concession to play New York slugger Mickey Mantle in right field.

Followed Player Poll

Bunning (8-4); Dick Donovan, Cleveland (12-3); Camilo Pascual, Minnesota (12-4); Ralph Terry, New York (10-7); Dave Stenhouse, Washington (6-3); Bill Monbouquette, Boston (7-8) and Hoyt Wilhelm, Baltimore (3-5).

Houk picked the pitchers himself but followed the player poll for the rest of the 25-man squad, naming the second choices at each position and adding his own catcher, Elston Howard, who finished third in the balloting at that spot.

Although Houk will not announce his starting pitcher and batting order until Monday, an American League official said Houk leans toward Bunning, who is unbeaten in All-Star competition.

The second choices are outfielders Rocky Colavito of Detroit, Lee Thomas of the Angels and Chicago's Jim Landis; infielders Norm Siebern of Kansas City, Bobby Richardson and Tom Tresh of the Yankees and Baltimore's Brooks Robinson plus catched John Romano of Cleveland and Howard.

To Start In Right

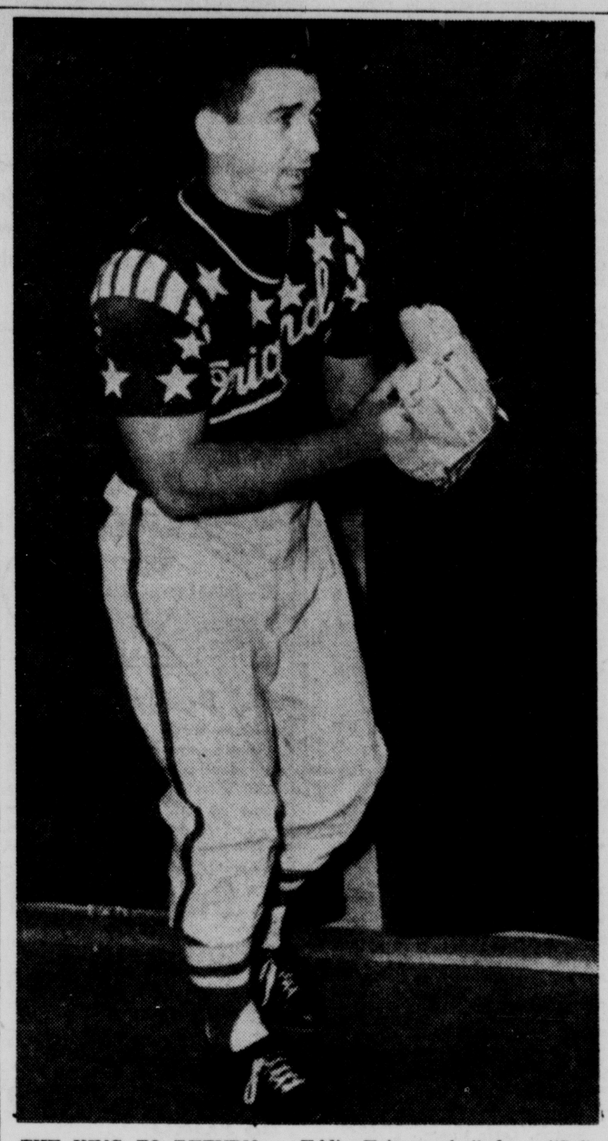
Mantle was picked as a center fielder but he'll likely start in right field with home run King Maris moving to center as has been the case on the Yankees since Mantle returned to the lineup after an early-season injury.

Cronin said National League President Warren Giles has agreed to the change despite the All-Star game rule which requires that starting players perform at the positions for which they are selected in the player poll.

Houk picked two managers, Baltimore's Billy Hitchcock and Washington's Mickey Vernon, as his coaches.

MARVELOUS MICKEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — Mickey Wright is the only golfer ever to win both the women's U.S. Open and Ladies PGA titles the same year. She has done it twice.



THE KING TO RETURN — Eddie Feigner, hailed as "Softball's Greatest Pitcher," returns to Cumberland Sunday, July 22, with his four-man softball team to play a team of area softball stars at Penn Avenue Field at 7:45 p.m. for the benefit of the Dapper Dan Little League. The road team is known as the King and His Court and made a big hit in its initial appearance here last summer. The four-man team takes on 9-man teams as a matter of routine. Feigner's "fast" ball has been clocked at 104 MPH. Eddie is a real sensation to watch and he can pitch with or without a blindfold. This is the 16th consecutive year of play for this fabulous foursome. The pitching sensation's name is pronounced Fay-ner.

Bucs Score 7th In Row Over Phils

McBean Blanks Losers, 5 To 0

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Right-hander Al McBean threw a six-hit, 5-0, shutout Thursday night to extend the winning streak of the Pittsburgh Pirates to seven games and send the Philadelphia Phillies down to their eighth consecutive defeat.

The lanky McBean, pitching his second shutout and going the route for the third time this season, picked up his eighth victory against five defeats. Three double plays helped preserve his whitewash effort.

The Pirates scored all their runs off loser Jim Owens, who lasted only two innings. The first three Pirate batters walked and Dick Stuart hit into a double play, Bill Virdon scoring. Then Roberto Clemente singled home Dick Groat.

Chicago Packers Become Zephyrs

CHICAGO (UPI) —The Chicago Packers of the National Basketball Association Thursday became the Chicago Zephyrs.

A selection committee composed of sport writers, broadcasters, and Chicago NBA club officials Thursday announced the selection of the new name from a list of 236, ranging from the "Aces" to the "Zephyrs," which were sent in by more than 2,000 cage fans.

Arnold Palmer 2-1 Choice In British Open

Odds On Nicklaus And Player 11-2

TROON, Scotand (AP) — Arnold Palmer completed a practice round for the British Open Golf Championship Thursday and then warned that "something must be done quickly about the gallery or somebody is going to get killed."

Palmer, 2-1 favorite to win his second straight British crown in the championships starting Monday, attracted a crowd of nearly 1,000 spectators.

"There were no stewards to keep the crowd under control," Palmer said. "The fans pushed in from all over the place."

Palmer and Phil Rodgers teamed up against Gary Player and Bruce Devlin in a best ball match play affair. Devlin shot the best golf with 70. The others had 74s.

Jack Nicklaus, the U.S. Open champion from Columbus, Ohio, went to the pro shop and had his clubs doctored to suit the conditions of the Troon layout.

British bookmakers sent their spies to watch the practice and then made Palmer the 2-1 favorite. The odds on Nicklaus and Player were set at 11-2 and on Rodgers at 12-1.

The U.S. delegation was cut to 23 by the scratchings of Gene Sarazen, winner of the title in 1932; Bob Sweeny of Palm Beach, Fla., British Amateur champion in 1937; Alex Burke of Boca Raton Fla., and Harley F. Long, a U.S. serviceman stationed at Rhienblick, Germany.

Wall And Still Lead In Buick Open With 69s

Baird Scores Ace, Wins $5,200 Car

By OSCAR FRALEY
UPI Sports Writer

GRAND BLANC, Mich. (UPI) — Former champion Art Wall and Texan Ken Still grabbed the first round lead in the Buick Open golf championship Thursday with 3-under-par 69's, but the happiest competitor was 26-year-old Butch Baird who knocked in a hole in one to win a $5,200 car.

Baird, of Galveston, Tex., who has earned more than $8,000 on the tour this year, needed his ace — scored with a two iron on the 203-yard 3rd hole — to shoot at 37-39 — 76 at the par-72 Warwick Hills Golf Club. That left Baird, who almost did not tee off Thursday because of a slight case of flu, seven shots off the pace but already a "sure winner."

Wall, who won the Buick Open in 1959, had three birdies and 15 pars as he fired a 34-35 —69 while Still, who also comes from Galveston, shot a 36-33 — 69 with four birdies against one bogey to tie for the top spot.

But they were only one stroke in front of six others who fired 70's. This group included Bill Collins, who almost aced the 222-yard 17th where his ball rimmed the cup to cost him a car, too. Collins was out in 32 but ballooned to a 38 back for the 70 which tied him with Canada's Stan Leonard, Johnny Potts, Paul Harney, Dave Hill, and Bob Goetz.

And there were another 11 under par at 71 — two shots behind the co-leaders. These were Dave Ragan, Jerry Barber, Bob Goalby, Pete Cooper, Ken Venturi, Jack McGowan, Charlie Sifford, Larry Mowry, Paul Bondeson, Bob McCallister and Tony Lema.

Pinto Captures First Half Title In Church Loop With 7-2 Victory

Pinto Mennonite captured the first half title in the Inter-Church Softball League yesterday, by turning back First Baptist, 7-2, at Pinto for its ninth straight victory.

The triumph enabled Pinto to close the first half with a 9-1 record as Old Furnace and Potomac Park finished in a second-place tie with 8-2 marks.

Abe Helmick notched the win with a five-hitter as Pinto took advantage of five First Baptist errors and put the game away with a four-run outburst in the third inning.

Weatherly Cops 4th Yacht Race

NEWPORT, R.I. (UPI) —The yacht Weatherly, with veteran skipper Emil (Bus) Mosbacher at the helm, stretched her winning streak to four in a row Thursday by handing Easterner a 10-minute, 30-second drubbing in the America's Cup observation trials off Newport.

Follows Player Poll In Naming Rest Of Team

By BOB HOOBING

BOSTON (AP) — Manager Ralph Houk completed selection of the American League All-Star squad Thursday amid speculation Detroit's Jim Bunning will be his starting pitcher.

Announcement of the full squad to face the National League stars in Washington Tuesday was made by AL President Joe Cronin and included a special concession to play New York slugger Mickey Mantle in right field.

Followed Player Poll

Bunning (8-4); Dick Donovan, Cleveland (12-3); Camilo Pascual, Minnesota (12-4); Ralph Terry, New York (10-7); Dave Stenhouse, Washington (6-3); Bill Monbouquette, Boston (7-8) and Hoyt Wilhelm, Baltimore (3-5).

Houk picked the pitchers himself but followed the player poll for the rest of the 25-man squad, naming the second choices at each position and adding his own catcher, Elston Howard, who finished third in the balloting at that spot.

Although Houk will not announce his starting pitcher and batting order until Monday, an American League official said Houk leans toward Bunning, who is unbeaten in All-Star competition.

The second choices are outfielders Rocky Colavito of Detroit, Lee Thomas of the Angels and Chicago's Jim Landis; infielders Norm Siebern of Kansas City, Bobby Richardson and Tom Tresh of the Yankees and Baltimore's Brooks Robinson plus catched John Romano of Cleveland and Howard.

To Start In Right

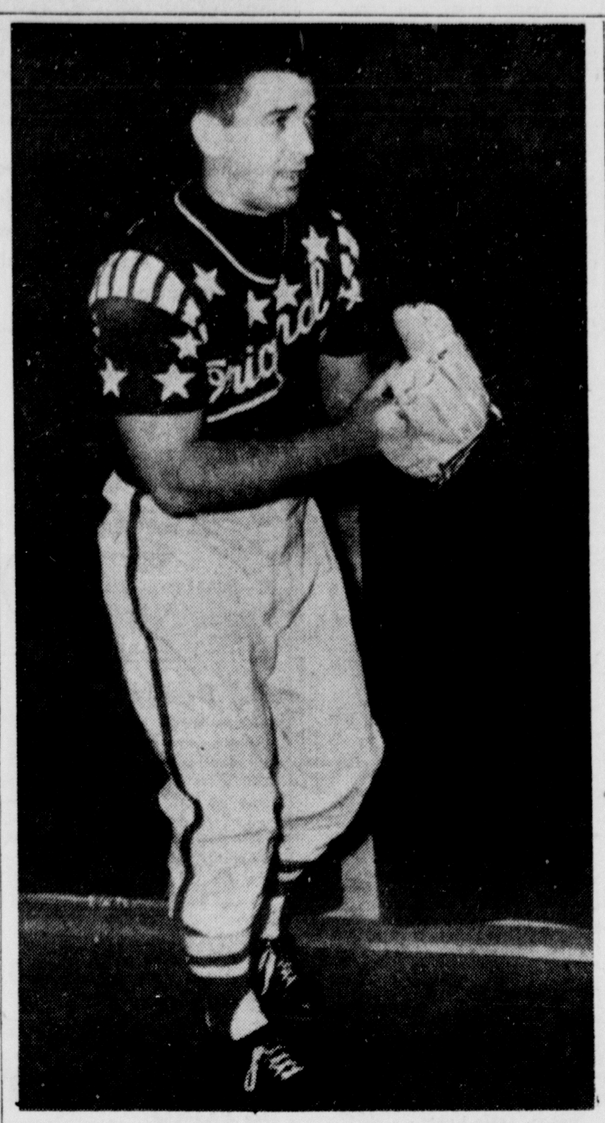
Mantle was picked as a center fielder but he'll likely start in right field with home run King Maris moving to center as has been the case on the Yankees since Mantle returned to the lineup after an early-season injury.

Cronin said National League President Warren Giles has agreed to the change despite the All-Star game rule which requires that starting players perform at the positions for which they are selected in the player poll.

Houk picked two managers, Baltimore's Billy Hitchcock and Washington's Mickey Vernon, as his coaches.

MARVELOUS MICKEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — Mickey Wright is the only golfer ever to win both the women's U.S. Open and Ladies PGA titles the same year. She has done it twice.



THE KING TO RETURN — Eddie Feigner, hailed as "Softball's Greatest Pitcher," returns to Cumberland Sunday, July 22, with his four-man softball team to play a team of area softball stars at Penn Avenue Field at 7:45 p.m. for the benefit of the Dapper Dan Little League. The road team is known as the King and His Court and made a big hit in its initial appearance here last summer. The four-man team takes on 9-man teams as a matter of routine. Feigner's "fast" ball has been clocked at 104 MPH. Eddie is a real sensation to watch and he can pitch with or without a blindfold. This is the 16th consecutive year of play for this fabulous foursome. The pitching sensation's name is pronounced Fay-ner.

McBean Blanks Losers, 5 To 0

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Right-hander Al McBean threw a six-hit, 5-0, shutout Thursday night to extend the winning streak of the Pittsburgh Pirates to seven games and send the Philadelphia Phillies down to their eighth consecutive defeat.

The lanky McBean, pitching his second shutout and going the route for the third time this season, picked up his eighth victory against five defeats. Three double plays helped preserve his whitewash effort.

The Pirates scored all their runs off loser Jim Owens, who lasted only two innings. The first three Pirate batters walked and Dick Stuart hit into a double play, Bill Virdon scoring. Then Roberto Clemente singled home Dick Groat.

The Pirates scored three runs in the second inning on Don Hoak's walk, Bill Mazeroski's triple and Groat's first homer of the season —a shot into the right field stands.

Chicago Packers Become Zephyrs

CHICAGO (UPI) —The Chicago Packers of the National Basketball Association Thursday became the Chicago Zephyrs.

A selection committee composed of sport writers, broadcasters, and Chicago NBA club officials Thursday announced the selection of the new name from a list of 236, ranging from the "Aces" to the "Zephyrs," which were sent in by more than 2,000 cage fans.

Odds On Nicklaus And Player 11-2

TROON, Scotand (AP) — Arnold Palmer completed a practice round for the British Open Golf Championship Thursday and then warned that "something must be done quickly about the gallery or somebody is going to get killed."

Palmer, 2-1 favorite to win his second straight British crown in the championships starting Monday, attracted a crowd of nearly 1,000 spectators.

"There were no stewards to keep the crowd under control," Palmer said. "The fans pushed in from all over the place."

Palmer and Phil Rodgers teamed up against Gary Player and Bruce Devlin in a best ball match play affair. Devlin shot the best golf with 70. The others had 74s.

Jack Nicklaus, the U.S. Open champion from Columbus, Ohio, went to the pro shop and had his clubs doctored to suit the conditions of the Troon layout.

British bookmakers sent their spies to watch the practice and then made Palmer the 2-1 favorite. The odds on Nicklaus and Player were set at 11-2 and on Rodgers at 12-1.

The U.S. delegation was cut to 23 by the scratchings of Gene Sarazen, winner of the title in 1932; Bob Sweeny of Palm Beach, Fla., British Amateur champion in 1937; Alex Burke of Boca Raton Fla., and Harley F. Long, a U.S. serviceman stationed at Rhienblick, Germany.

Wall And Still Lead In Buick Open With 69s

Baird Scores Ace, Wins $5,200 Car

By OSCAR FRALEY
UPI Sports Writer

GRAND BLANC, Mich. (UPI) — Former champion Art Wall and Texan Ken Still grabbed the first round lead in the Buick Open golf championship Thursday with 3-under-par 69's, but the happiest competitor was 26-year-old Butch Baird who knocked in a hole in one to win a $5.200 car.

Baird, of Galveston, Tex., who has earned more than $8,000 on the tour this year, needed his ace — scored with a two iron on the 203-yard 3rd hole — to shoot at 37-39 — 76 at the par-72 Warwick Hills Golf Club. That left Baird, who almost did not tee off Thursday because of a slight case of flu, seven shots off the pace but already a "sure winner."

Wall, who won the Buick Open in 1959, had three birdies and 15 pars as he fired a 34-35 —69 while Still, who also comes from Galveston, shot a 36-33 — 69 with four birdies against one bogey to tie for the top spot.

But they were only one stroke in front of six others who fired 70's. This group included Bill Collins, who almost aced the 222-yard 17th where his ball rimmed the cup to cost him a car, too. Collins was out in 32 but ballooned to a 38 back for the 70 which tied him with Canada's Stan Leonard, Johnny Potts, Paul Harney, Dave Hill, and Bob Goetz.

And there were another 11 under par at 71 — two shots behind the co-leaders. These were Dave Ragan, Jerry Barber, Bob Goalby, Pete Cooper, Ken Venturi, Jack McGowan, Charlie Sifford, Larry Mowry, Paul Bondeson, Bob McCallister and Tony Lema.

Pinto Captures First Half Title In Church Loop With 7-2 Victory

Pinto Mennonite captured the first half title in the Inter-Church Softball League yesterday, by turning back First Baptist, 7-2, at Pinto for its ninth straight victory.

The triumph enabled Pinto to close the first half with a 9-1 record as Old Furnace and Potomac Park finished in a second-place tie with 8-2 marks.

Abe Helmick notched the win with a five-hitter as Pinto took advantage of five First Baptist errors and put the game away with a four-run outburst in the third inning.

Weatherly Cops 4th Yacht Race

NEWPORT, R.I. (UPI) —The yacht Weatherly, with veteran skipper Emil (Bus) Mosbacher at the helm, stretched her winning streak to four in a row Thursday by handing Easterner a 10-minute, 30-second drubbing in the America's Cup observation trials off Newport.

In the other contest Thursday, Nefertiti, the sleek newcomer to international yacht racing, eased across the finish line 3 minutes, 47 seconds ahead of Columbia, the 1958 cup defender.

Bird Farmhands Celebrate 4th, Wind Up In Jail

Trio Charged With Malicious Mischief

YORK, Pa. (AP) — Three Baltimore Oriole farmhands from Elmira, N.Y., accused of celebrating the Fourth of July with destructive exuberance, wound up in the York jail Thursday.

Baseball experts said the trio constituted the backbone of the pioneers, Elmira's entry in the Eastern League. The team split a holiday doubleheader Wednesday with York, losing the first game in 11 innings 2-1, and shutting out York 2-0 in the nightcap.

The players were identified by York police as Andrew A. Etchebarren, 19, of LaPuento, Calif., an $85,000 bonus baby catcher; Ray L. Youngdahl, 23, of Chicago, and Lloyd J. Fourroux Jr., 21, Elmira, both outfielders.

Police said the ball players were taken into custody at 3:45 a.m. while engaged in damaging street signs and overturning trash cans into the street.

The three athletes were charged with malicious mischief at arraignment before Alderman William M. Nickey. In lieu of bail of $500 each, they were committed to jail.

Nickey set a hearing for the week of July 23, when Elmira returns to York for another series.

Earl Weaver, manager of Elmira, said the case appeared to call for some disciplinary action, "probably in the form of severe monetary penalties."

Police said three patrolmen responded to a call reporting a disturbance near the heart of the city. The ball players were taken into custody at the scene and carted off to jail.

Drysdale Cops 15th; Dodgers Defeat Giants

Los Angeles Homers Pace 11-3 Victory

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —Don Drysdale, who leads the majors in wins, cruised to his 15th victory Thursday while the Los Angeles Dodgers blasted the San Francisco Giants 11-3 and moved a game and a half ahead of them in the National League race.

While the righthanded flamethrower was striking out eight in going the distance for the 12th time, the Dodgers collected four home runs and seven hits off loser Mike McCormick before he was taken out for a pinch hitter after five innings. It was the seventh straight Los Angeles win.

Drysdale struck out Orlando Cepeda three times and Willie Mays twice as he ran his lifetime record against the Giants to 19-13.

Willie Davis hit a two-run homer, his 13th, off McCormick while Ron Fairly, Tommy Davis and Frank Howard delivered other home runs with the bases empty.

Jessen Withdraws From Kelly Golf, Wright Favorite

ELLICOTT CITY, Md. (UPI)—The withdrawal of Ruth Jessen made Mickey Wright a heavy favorite Thursday to win the National Kelly Girl Invitational Ladies PGA golf tournament which starts Friday at the Turf Valley Country Club.

Some 30 professional women's golfers were entered in the three-day, 54-hole event.

That made Miss Wright, the LPGA's leading money - winner, the top choice to win the $1,200 first prize.

Bird Farmhands Celebrate 4th, Wind Up In Jail

Trio Charged With Malicious Mischief

YORK, Pa. (AP) — Three Baltimore Oriole farmhands from Elmira, N.Y., accused of celebrating the Fourth of July with destructive exuberance, wound up in the York jail Thursday.

Baseball experts said the trio constituted the backbone of the pioneers, Elmira's entry in the Eastern League. The team split a holiday doubleheader Wednesday with York, losing the first game in 11 innings 2-1, and shutting out York 2-0 in the nightcap.

The players were identified by York police as Andrew A. Etchebarren, 19, of LaPuento, Calif., an $85,000 bonus baby catcher; Ray L. Youngdahl, 23, of Chicago, and Lloyd J. Fourroux Jr., 21, Elmira, both outfielders.

Police said the ball players were taken into custody at 3:45 a.m. while engaged in damaging street signs and overturning trash cans into the street.

The three athletes were charged with malicious mischief at arraignment before Alderman William M. Nickey. In lieu of bail of $500 each, they were committed to jail.

Nickey set a hearing for the week of July 23, when Elmira returns to York for another series.

Earl Weaver, manager of Elmira, said the case appeared to call for some disciplinary action, "probably in the form of severe monetary penalties."

Police said three patrolmen responded to a call reporting a disturbance near the heart of the city. The ball players were taken into custody at the scene and carted off to jail.

Officers estimated the damage to signs and other city property at about $300.

Drysdale Cops 15th; Dodgers Defeat Giants

Los Angeles Homers Pace 11-3 Victory

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —Don Drysdale, who leads the majors in wins, cruised to his 15th victory Thursday while the Los Angeles Dodgers blasted the San Francisco Giants 11-3 and moved a game and a half ahead of them in the National League race.

While the righthanded flamethrower was striking out eight in going the distance for the 12th time, the Dodgers collected four home runs and seven hits off loser Mike McCormick before he was taken out for a pinch hitter after five innings. It was the seventh straight Los Angeles win.

Drysdale struck out Orlando Cepeda three times and Willie Mays twice as he ran his lifetime record against the Giants to 19-13.

Jessen Withdraws From Kelly Golf, Wright Favorite

ELLICOTT CITY, Md. (UPI)—The withdrawal of Ruth Jessen made Mickey Wright a heavy favorite Thursday to win the National Kelly Girl Invitational Ladies PGA golf tournament which starts Friday at the Turf Valley Country Club.

Some 30 professional women's golfers were entered in the three-day, 54-hole event.

S&L Stocks Pace Market To 6th Straight Advance

NEW YORK (UPI) — A late rally, paced by savings & loan holding company shares, handed the stock market its sixth consecutive gain on moderate turnover Thursday.

After managing only modest gains in the first four hours the list suddenly came to life in the final hour as the trading tempo increased. However volume for the day slipped to 3,350,000 shares from 3,920,000 in the prior session.

The market as a whole showed a gain of 0.32 in Standard & Poor's 500 stock index. Dow-Jones industrials were up 4.39, rails off 0.07 and utilities up 1.13.

The relative weakness in the rails was thought to reflect the gloomy outlook for the industry painted by the chairman of the Pennsylvania road before a congressional committee. The fact that the chairman of the ICC came out against the proposed 18-month moratorium on rail mergers seemed to offer little solace.

During the session, a narrow total of 1,240 issues were traded. Advances outnumbered declines by 638 to 370, and four issues reached 1962 highs while 11 touched new lows.

S&L Stocks Pace Market To 6th Straight Advance

NEW YORK (UPI) — A late rally, paced by savings & loan holding company shares, handed the stock market its sixth consecutive gain on moderate turnover Thursday.

After managing only modest gains in the first four hours the list suddenly came to life in the final hour as the trading tempo increased. However volume for the day slipped to 3,350,000 shares from 3,920,000 in the prior session.

Brokers had little in the way of a concrete explanation for the sudden spurt in the S&L section where gains ranged from 1⅜ points in San Diego Imperial to 5 points in Financial Federation.

The market as a whole showed a gain of 0.32 in Standard & Poor's 500 stock index. Dow-Jones industrials were up 4.39, rails off 0.07 and utilities up 1.13.

The relative weakness in the rails was thought to reflect the gloomy outlook for the industry painted by the chairman of the Pennsylvania road before a congressional committee. The fact that the chairman of the ICC came out against the proposed 18-month moratorium on rail mergers seemed to offer little solace.

During the session, a narrow total of 1,240 issues were traded. Advances outnumbered declines by 638 to 370, and four issues reached 1962 highs while 11 touched new lows.

Keeping Up With Hollywood
by Dorothy Manners

(Substituting for Louella Parsons)

HOLLYWOOD — If any producer in Hollywood is sincerely doing more to develop new stars (not just talking about it) than Joe Pasternak—name him. What's more, Joe puts his money where his convictions are by casting unknowns in his MGM musicals and ringing up big money at the boxoffice. His "Where the Boys Are" was a smash.

Now comes "Where the Girls Are" which will feature Joe's new find, Anna Ragusa (sister of Paula Prentiss) along with Paula. One change Pasternak is making is changing Ann's name from Ragusa to Ann Gardner. Any resemblance to another Gardner, Ava, is strictly in the chassis.

Brigitte Bardot's chief competition as sexpot queen of France is Jeanne Moreau. The reason we have Jeanne under discussion today is that she's just picked off two prizes. One, she is expected to marry Paris couturier Pierre Cardin and is so solid he's permitting her to redecorate his palatial Versailles home from antiques to the kitchen sink.

Secondly, Jeanne is set for Carl Foreman's "The Victors" taking over the part originally announced for Simone Signoret.

If I were a teenager (ha!) and bought a ticket to "The Interns," I'd come out with a crush on James MacArthur. The son of Helen Hayes and the late Charles MacArthur has an appeal I haven't seen in a young actor since Richard Barthelmess and more recently James Dean. The same sensitive youthfulness..

Young MacArthur is definitely a fixture of the future in Hollywood pictures. His next coming up is "Spencer's Mountain" with Henry Fonda and Maureen O'Hara at Warners. And he has one ready for release, in addition to "Interns," the movie shot in Manila with Van Heflin and Rita Moreno "To Be A Man."

Some years ago one of the most popular programs out of Hollywood was "Hollywood Hotel" which starred our Miss Louella Parsons, Dick Powell and Frances Langford on radio. Now comes a TV idea to glorify the Beverly Hills Hotel on a TV series titled after it's famed cocktail room, "The Polo Lounge." The series would involve interviews with celebrities and socialites who frequent the Polo Lounge with the possibility that Ben Silberstein and his bride, Bonnie, would do the interviewing.

Robert Rosson directed "The Hustler," the pool room saga, with such success it rated nine Academy Award nominations. But he'll need more than finesse when he journeys to London to meet with Irish playwright Brendan Behan about bringing Behan's stage hit, "The Hostage" to the screen. The wild Mr. Behan's initials are B.B. and are used interchangazly with "Bottled in Bond" and "Browsing in Bourbon." But that's neither here nor there with the fact that he has written a fine play.

Roach, Jr., the son of film pioneer and comedy king Hal Roach, is writing on a new slate as executive producer of Allied Producers of America in a deal set with Sanford Specht and Carrol Case.

"Hal Roach, Jr., makes consistent money-earning films and is an experienced showman. We're delighted to have him aboard and plan to have him underway by September," says Specht.

Laurence Harvey has been voted one of England's best dressed men by stylist Lymey. Well, blimey! Others on the list are the Duke of Windsor and Antony Armstrong-Jones, but Prince Philip didn't make it.

Anna Maria Alberghetti has been covering up a badly infected hand during her performances in "Carnival." Got it from a splinter in a ladder she climbs on stage during the first act.

You can rightly say that Joan Crawford and Bette Davis have Hollywood's biggest leading man opposite them in "Whatever Happened To Baby Jane?" He's 6-foot-3-inch Victor Buono, who tips the scales at 300 pounds, now just let those belles start throwing their weight around.

(Substituting for Louella Parsons)

HOLLYWOOD — If any producer in Hollywood is sincerely doing more to develop new stars (not just talking about it) than Joe Pasternak—name him. What's more, Joe puts his money where his convictions are by casting unknowns in his MGM musicals and ringing up big money at the boxoffice. His "Where the Boys Are" was a smash.

Now comes "Where the Girls Are" which will feature Joe's new find, Anna Ragusa (sister of Paula Prentiss) along with Paula. One change Pasternak is making is changing Ann's name from Ragusa to Ann Gardner. Any resemblance to another Gardner, Ava, is strictly in the chassis.

Brigitte Bardot's chief competition as sexpot queen of France is Jeanne Moreau. The reason we have Jeanne under discussion today is that she's just picked off two prizes. One, she is expected to marry Paris couturier Pierre Cardin and is so solid he's permitting her to redecorate his palatial Versailles home from antiques to the kitchen sink.

Secondly, Jeanne is set for Carl Foreman's "The Victors" taking over the part originally announced for Simone Signoret.

If I were a teenager (ha!) and bought a ticket to "The Interns," I'd come out with a crush on James MacArthur. The son of Helen Hayes and the late Charles MacArthur has an appeal I haven't seen in a young actor since Richard Barthelmess and more recently James Dean. The same sensitive youthfulness.

Young MacArthur is definitely a fixture of the future in Hollywood pictures. His next coming up is "Spencer's Mountain" with Henry Fonda and Maureen O'Hara at Warners. And he has one ready for release, in addition to "Interns," the movie shot in Manila with Van Heflin and Rita Moreno "To Be A Man."

Some years ago one of the most popular programs out of Hollywood was "Hollywood Hotel" which starred our Miss Louella Parsons, Dick Powell and Frances Langford on radio. Now comes a TV idea to glorify the Beverly Hills Hotel on a TV series titled after it's famed cocktail room, "The Polo Lounge." The series would involve interviews with celebrities and socialites who frequent the Polo Lounge with the possibility that Ben Silberstein and his bride, Bonnie, would do the interviewing.

Robert Rosson directed "The Hustler," the pool room saga, with such success it rated nine Academy Award nominations. But he'll need more than finesse when he journeys to London to meet with Irish playwright Brendan Behan about bringing Behan's stage hit, "The Hostage" to the screen. The wild Mr. Behan's initials are B.B. and are used interchangazly with "Bottled in Bond" and "Browsing in Bourbon." But that's neither here nor there with the fact that he has written a fine play.

Many old friends are delighted that Hal Roach, Jr., is returning to picture making after three dreary years of nothing but trouble with litigations and untangling snarls from his involvement with Alexander Guterma.

Roach, Jr., the son of film pioneer and comedy king Hal Roach, is writing on a new slate as executive producer of Allied Producers of America in a deal set with Sanford Specht and Carrol Case.

"Hal Roach, Jr., makes consistent money-earning films and is an experienced showman. We're delighted to have him aboard and plan to have him underway by September," says Specht.

Laurence Harvey has been voted one of England's best dressed men by stylist Lymey. Well, blimey! Others on the list are the Duke of Windsor and Antony Armstrong-Jones, but Prince Philip didn't make it.

Anna Maria Alberghetti has been covering up a badly infected hand during her performances in "Carnival." Got it from a splinter in a ladder she climbs on stage during the first act.

You can rightly say that Joan Crawford and Bette Davis have Hollywood's biggest leading man opposite them in "Whatever Happened To Baby Jane?" He's 6-foot-3-inch Victor Buono, who tips the scales at 300 pounds, now just let those belles start throwing their weight around.

H. F. Frederick High Bidder For Cadillac

Appeal Of Resale Order Is Filed

Henry F. Frederick, city, submitted an offer of $10,500 for the purchase of The Cadillac Lounge, 25 North Mechanic Street, the higher of two offers opened yesterday by Associate Judge W. Earle Cobey, who earlier this week ordered the business establishment put up for resale after a public sale had been held June 23.

The only other offered received was from Raymond Parker Sr., city, who submitted an offer of $10,000. Both offers were accompanied by a check for one-third down payment.

Yesterday morning Mark Lazarus Sr., through Clarence Lippel, his attorney, filed an appeal to the Maryland Court of Appeals on the decision Judge Cobey handed down Tuesday in connection with the purchase of the business by Lazarus.

Mr. Lazarus, who had purchased the lounge for $7,000 at the public sale, did not submit another offer prior to the 4 p. m. deadline yesterday when the judge opened the sealed envelopes in his chambers.

In his opinion handed down Tuesday Judge Cobey set aside the June 23 sale and put the business up for resale because he felt the price paid by Mr. Lazarus was inadequate.

Yesterday afternoon when Mr. Frederick learned he had the higher of the two offers, he inquired as to the next step he should take.

He was told to contact as soon as possible the Allegany County Board of Alcoholic Beverage Licenses Commissioners in regard to the transfer of the Class D beer, wine and liquor license now held by the Cadillac Lounge Inc.

Hugh A. McMullen, representing Mrs. Jane Molinari, 135 Hanover Street, who was named receiver when an equity suit was filed in May, told Mr. Frederick he has 10 days from Monday July 2, when the lounge was closed by court order, to contact the liquor board to apply for transfer of the license.

The Newspaper Club named Carol Berkenbaugh as editor. Louis Easton was named assistant editor and Freddy Mahaney was added to the staff of reporters.

Injured Boy Is 'Critical'

Terrence Lee Broadwater, 15, of 80 Douglas Avenue, Lonaconing, was reported still in "critical" condition late last night at Miners Hospital, Frostburg, where he was admitted Wednesday night following a one-car accident on Route 36.

Hospital authorities said Broadwater received head injuries and a laceration of the tongue, and was still unconscious last night.

Tfc. Robert C. Dishong of the State Police said Broadwater was a passenger in a car operated by Richard Lee Cutter, 32, of Midland.

The trooper said Cutter was traveling north on Route 36 just south of Gilmore at an apparent high rate of speed. The car failed to negotiate a turn, ran off the highway, struck a utility pole and continued 180 feet on the west side of the road.

James Harry McKenzie, 16, Lonaconing, another passenger in the car, was admitted to Sacred Heart Hospital with lacerations of the hands and forehead. Cutter was treated and released at Miners Hospital in Frostburg.

One Killed, Two Injured In Pa. Crash

Ronald E. Leonard, 23, Dies Instantly

A young carnival worker was killed instantly early yesterday and his two companions were injured when their automobile crashed into a "dead-end" concrete curbing at the intersection of Routes 26 and 914 about 15 miles north of Everett, Pa.

Killed was Ronald Edward Leonard, 23, of Dunbar, Pa., who was pronounced dead of a fractured skull by an Everett physician who went to the scene of the accident which accurred about 4:15 a.m.

Injured were Robert Barber who was admitted to the J. C. Blair Memorial Hospital, Huntingdon, Pa. and Richard Davies, 27, of Louisville, Ky., who was treated at the hospital for facial lacerations and was released.

The three men, according to State Police at Bedford, had been working at a carnival at Six-Mile Run, Pa.

They said Leonard was operating his car at an excessive rate of speed along Route 26. When he realized the road ended in a dead end at the intersection with Route 914, he applied the brakes and the vehicle skidded sideways into the concrete curbing.

The car glanced off the curbing into an embankment and bounced back to the highway. All three occupants were thrown clear of the wreckage, police added.

Mayor, Council Briefed On Planning Study

Work On Schedule, Marcou Reports

The Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission last night briefed the new Mayor and Council on its activities.

The briefing was held by George O. Hollar, chairman of the commission, and by George Marcou, of Blair and Stein Associates, who is supervising the preparation of a comprehensive plan for the City of Cumberland, and by John R. Joyner, resident planner and a member of the Washington planning firm.

Representing the City of Cumberland were Mayor Earl D. Chaney, Street Commissioner Lucile Roeder, Finance Commissioner Frederick J. Hill; Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan and City Engineer C. R. Nuzum.

Robert C. Petersen, manager of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce, and Harry Kauffman, of the Chamber's Taxpayers and Property Owners League, sat in on the meeting.

Mr. Hollar brought the new city officials up to date on the history of the commission, along with an outline of the series of meetings which resulted in the choice of Blair and Stein Associates as the city's planning consultant.

The present study, he reported, began January 22 and will be completed in 22 months. The City of Cumberland is contributing $8,350 toward the cost of the $41,300 planning study.

The study is in its sixth month and "on schedule," Mr. Marcou reported.

City officials were presented with copies of the first progress report, which consists of a rough draft of the economic base and population analysis of the City of Cumberland.

The Mayor and Council was asked to review the information and conclusions in the report so it can be prepared for release in its final form.

Woman Hurt By Automobile

A local woman was hospitalized last night after she apparently walked against the side of a car which was traveling south on Baltimore Street between George and Centre street.

Mrs. Dorothy Stevenson, 2 Maple Street, was admitted to Memorial Hospital with abrasions of her right arm. Her condition was "satisfactory."

City Police Officer Clarence Valentine said Orville Keller of 413 Race Street was driving south near 121 Baltimore Street when the woman, who he said, was "jay-walking," possibly fell against the side of the car.

Officer Valentine was unable to question the woman last night. The accident occurred at 8:59 p.m.

Big Copperhead Causes 'Cold Chills'

Dalton Leese, employe of the A&P food store here, says he got "cold chills" when he spotted a large copperhead snake while he was mowing hay on his father-in-law's farm near Ellerslie yesterday evening.

The father-in-law, Elmer Mallow, shot the snake with a .22 rifle. The two men measured the copperhead and learned it was 37 inches long and measured five inches in girth.

Mr. Mallow said it was the largest copperhead he had ever seen. Lease said it was the first he had even seen.

H. F. Frederick High Bidder For Cadillac

Appeal Of Resale Order Is Filed

Henry F. Frederick, city, submitted an offer of $10,500 for the purchase of The Cadillac Lounge, 25 North Mechanic Street, the higher of two offers opened yesterday by Associate Judge W. Earle Cobey, who earlier this week ordered the business establishment put up for resale after a public sale had been held June 23.

The only other offered received was from Raymond Parker Sr., city, who submitted an offer of $10,000. Both offers were accompanied by a check for one-third down payment.

Yesterday morning Mark Lazarus Sr., through Clarence Lippel, his attorney, filed an appeal to the Maryland Court of Appeals on the decision Judge Cobey handed down Tuesday in connection with the purchase of the business by Lazarus.

Mr. Lazarus, who had purchased the lounge for $7,000 at the public sale, did not submit another offer prior to the 4 p. m. deadline yesterday when the judge opened the sealed envelopes in his chambers.

In his opinion handed down Tuesday Judge Cobey set aside the June 23 sale and put the business up for resale because he felt the price paid by Mr. Lazarus was inadequate.

Yesterday afternoon when Mr. Frederick learned he had the higher of the two offers, he inquired as to the next step he should take.

He was told to contact as soon as possible the Allegany County Board of Alcoholic Beverage Licenses Commissioners in regard to the transfer of the Class D beer, wine and liquor license now held by the Cadillac Lounge Inc.

Hugh A. McMullen, representing Mrs. Jane Molinari, 135 Hanover Street, who was named receiver when an equity suit was filed in May, told Mr. Frederick he has 10 days from Monday July 2, when the lounge was closed by court order, to contact the liquor board to apply for transfer of the license.
